Asian Rains Are Blessing And Menace

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The rains have come again to Southeast Asia, great sweeping sheets of water which give life and take it away.

From the tiny, green kingdom of Laos, across the rich rice lands of Thailand and Cambodia to the scarred fields of Viet Nam, the annual monsoon rains soak man, animal, city and jungle.

The great, meandering Mekong River — a month ago a placid, muddy stream — will swell several times its size to become a menace to villages on its banks.

Life changes when the rains begin. In the countryside of Thailand, farmers spend more time at home.

In Laos, Communist Pathet Lao and neutralist forces bring their warfare to a near standstill.

But in war-weary South Viet Nam, there is no peace, no stopping. On the contrary, the Viet Cong steps up its hit-and-run warfare. The rains give the Viet Cong a protective cover and blot out visibility of government planes.

As the rains advance across fields and cities, the scene can be impressive: black clouds rolling over green jungle still glinting in the sunlight, the white glare of lightning, the sudden rush of wind, then the thunderous, drowning roar of the rain.

Deep in the jungle, a night-like gloom settles. The birds and animals are suddenly silent. The wind gives a final sigh and stops.

White Sees Spacewalk Film

Astronauts Prepare For Land Welcome

ABOARD THE WASP (AP) — James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, now close enough to home to see their own historic space walk film on shipboard television, began their final festive day at sea today and got set for a round of welcomes awaiting them ashore.

Almost all of the intensive medical testing behind them, the astronauts' schedule today called for "technical debriefing" — talking into tape recorders at length about their four-day mission and being questioned in detail by space experts.

Memorable Moments

The Gemini 4 twins said their most memorable moments of the flight were, for White, his 20-minute stroll in space, and, for McDivitt, the capsule's reentry through the earth's atmosphere.

They were among the millions who thrilled at the sight of vivid movies of the space stroll. The films were released Tuesday in Houston, Tex., and the astro-

Advisory Role Abandoned

Another Retreat From Viet Nam Policy Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military officials said today a decision to commit U.S. Marine and Army troops to fight in support of South Vietnamese units, when requested, is a "logical extension of what we've been doing out there."

Over the past three months, operations of U.S. ground units have progressed gradually from a relatively static perimeter defense of the key base at Da Nang to aggressive patrolling variously called "combat kill" and "search and destroy" missions.

Good Defense

"In any good defense, you've got to move out and find the enemy — and that's what we're doing in Viet Nam," one veteran officer said.

Patrols of Marines and Army paratroopers have ranged farther afield in seeking contact with the Communists. So far the action has been on a relatively small scale.

The decision to commit U.S. fighting units as "fire brigades" to help the South Vietnamese raises the possibility that Marines and paratroopers may become involved in major action in battalion strength and perhaps larger.

Acknowledgement by the State Department Tuesday that American fighting units are available for what is called "combat support" is a further retreat from the original U.S. position that American troops are in South Viet Nam not to wage war but to advise the South Vietnamese on how to win their own fight for security.

Unwillingness to Buy Is Keynote

Stock Market in Steady Slide for 4 Weeks

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market has taken a severe beating in the past four weeks.

Its slide has been almost steady with only a few interruptions.

Tuesday the market, as measured by the popular averages, suffered its worst loss since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 13.10 points to 869.05. Since May 14, when it reached an all-time peak, this average has tumbled 50.57 points.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped 4.4 to 323.7.

Brokers said one favorable factor was that the slump came on moderate trading. Volume Tuesday was 4.67 million shares. The daily average for the year to date has been about 5.6 million shares.

In view of the sluggish trading, brokers said the situation appeared to be more of a case of unwillingness to buy than eagerness to sell.

Some said the slide had been accelerated by the statement last week by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who said he saw "disquieting similarities" between present business conditions and the boom that preceded the 1929 crash.

Brokers say disturbing factors include talk about tight money, a lot of secondary issues coming on the market and permission for U.S. troops to engage in combat in South Viet Nam.

"It seems as though buyers have become very wary and sellers are not offering any avalanche of stock," a market analyst commented.

Steep as was Tuesday's decline, it did not compare with that on the day of the assassination, when the Dow Jones average fell 21.16.

And it was minor in comparison with "Black Monday" — May 28, 1962 — when the average dived 34.95.

Airport and Key Bridge To be Built

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — About 2,500 U.S. Army combat engineers landed today at Cam Ranh Bay, 190 miles northeast of Saigon, to build an airfield, port and supply center there, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The spokesman hinted that more engineers were on the way. "Don't hold me to the 2,500 figure," he said.

The spokesman said the project, being undertaken jointly by the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments, would include a bridge to link the harbor area to a highway and railroad.

Key Role

The new base is expected to play a key role in the U.S.-Vietnamese war effort in the central and northern parts of South Viet Nam, the spokesman said.

The engineers bring the U.S. military force in South Viet Nam to nearly 54,000 men.

In the air war against North Viet Nam, U.S. planes attacked the big port of Vinh for the fifth straight day and the pilots claimed light to moderate damage to an army barracks area.

A U.S. military spokesman announced that government forces suffered their heaviest casualties of the war — 1,875 South Vietnamese and 51 Americans in the week that ended last Saturday. Viet Cong losses for the week were 1,305, the spokesman said, but these included no wounded.

530 Killed

The spokesman said 530 South Vietnamese troops were killed, 710 wounded and 635 either missing or captured. Ten Americans were killed, 6 were missing and 35 wounded for the same period.

The Viet Cong had 1,221 killed and 84 captured, the spokesman said.

Two more American advisers were killed today and 158 South Vietnamese troops were killed or missing in bloody actions north and south of Saigon.

Viet Nam Political Crisis

Quat Admits Defeat

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Phan Huy Quat declared today that his government could not solve the current political crisis and that his generals had agreed to mediate.

He said he had asked the army to step in as mediators between the government and opposition groups, including Roman Catholics, now threatening to throw the nation into chaos.

Quat

Quat said he did not know whether the generals would organize a new armed forces council like the one dissolved last month.

He said in any case he was assured the generals all supported a strong civilian government, and that this would not mean a return to military control of the government.

Nevertheless it was clear the Vietnamese military establishment was moving back into the political arena.

Quat said he had asked all the general officers in the country to serve on the new mediation board, and the form of organization the body takes will be up to the officers.

Quat and the chief of state, Phan Khac Suu have been feuding for three weeks over two cabinet changes Quat wants to make. Suu has refused to approve them. The dispute has emboldened Roman Catholic agitators who are staging daily anti-Quat demonstrations, charging the premier is discriminating against the Catholics.

Efforts Obstructed

Quat at a news conference today charged that Suu was obstructing efforts for a political conciliation.

"Up to this point," Quat said, "the good will of the government has been unable to keep the problem from degenerating into a critical situation. This situation has harmed the war against the Communists, which should have top priority.

"The political crisis, which originally was superficial, has harmed the war effort, slowed down the government and harmed the life of the people.

"Even if the national charter is revised, in the existing political climate, the government finds it impossible to carry out its programs or implement plans."

Critical Phase

The situation appeared to be moving toward a critical phase that could result in the collapse soon of the Quat government as well as an end to all chances of forming a coalition. Most observers feel if this happens a military coup will take place and a junta will be installed as the government.

Police Chief Pham Van Lieu said "friendly security agencies" — presumably meaning American intelligence — had indicated large numbers of Viet Cong troops were grouping around the capital and Communist agents were rapidly infiltrating the city.

The Viet Cong itself has no interest as to whether a coup succeeds or fails, he said, but stands to gain no matter what happens, consolidating its power in the confusion and strife.

He said that in the government's raid May 20 on alleged coup plotters, 41 persons were arrested, including 17 military men, but the top plotters still were at large.

Catholics have charged that most of those arrested were Catholic, and that the government is discriminating against Catholics.

Yugoslav Consul Shot at Munich

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — The Yugoslav consul at Munich was shot by two gunmen while sitting in his car Tuesday night at Meersburg on Lake Constance, police reported today.

The consul, Andrija Klaric, 35, was reported in critical condition.

Dara Rogic, 38, a Yugoslav woman who was in the car with Klaric was uninjured.

Police said Klaric went to Meersburg to meet the Yugoslav woman. The consul had parked his car and was talking to her when two men ran up and began shooting.

Klaric collapsed over the wheel, shot through the lung and grazed on the hip.

Surgery was performed at a hospital.

Havana Running Short Of Havana Cigars

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana cigars, no longer within ready reach of Americans, are reported getting scarcer in Havana, too.

A Cuban radio broadcast monitored in Miami set a production goal of 40,241,500 cigars for domestic consumption and 17,575,500 for export by July 26, 1965, anniversary of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's revolution.

A new Cuban economic research report said 548 million cigars were smoked in Cuba in all of 1958, the year before Castro's takeover. Cigars exported in 1958 totaled 79,878,449.

24,000 Rally Against U. S. Asia Policy

TOKYO, (AP) — An estimated 24,000 demonstrators, dominated by Communists and Socialists, held a massive rally today protesting what they claim is U.S. aggression in Viet Nam.

There were some minor scuffles between police and students, resulting in six students being detained by police.

The scuffles broke out when police tried to control Zengakuren students who were bringing up the rear of an orderly march. The students cut loose with an occasional snake dance. Police immediately ordered the students to obey traffic regulations. Those who refused were detained. Some students had bloody noses.

The demonstrators were flying party and union flags and carrying streamers and placards bearing such slogans as "U. S. get out of Viet Nam. Get out of Asia." "Yankee Marines go home to your wives."

The leftwingers tried to march from the park up to the U.S. embassy which was blocked off by police armored cars and several squads of police on foot.

Military Domination of Space a Probability

Great Rewards Await First Nation Reaching Moon

BY HOWARD BENEDICT

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are locked in a tight race to reach the moon first. The winner's rewards will be great national prestige, scientific knowledge, perhaps military domination of space.

The flights this week of Gemini 4 and the Soviet Luna 6 are dramatic evidence that both nations are very much in the race.

Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II advanced the United States a long way on the lunar highway with their four-day flight during which White took a 20-minute walk in space. Manned flights in the Gemini and Apollo programs now are scheduled at two-month intervals in a drive toward a manned lunar landing, which could come as early as 1968.

It is suspected that Luna 6 will attempt the first soft-landing of an instrumented capsule on the moon if it reaches there as scheduled Friday. Success of such a maneuver would provide vital data on the strength of the moon's surface — information needed before men set foot there.

The United States plans to attempt a soft-landing with an unmanned Surveyor craft in October.

Why go to the moon?

This question has been debated in scientific and government circles since President John F. Kennedy committed the United States to the race in 1961.

Most scientists favor sending men to the moon. But from the start the Apollo lunar landing project has had its critics. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called it a "stunt race." Several respected scientists believe the money and brainpower could be better spent to improve the lot of man through medical research, antipoverty programs and the like. Some contend automatic spacecraft could do the job better than man.

The one aspect that seems to bother the American public is the estimated $20 billion pricetag.

"That's a lot of money," says James Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. "But as big as that $20 billion looks, we are spending only one per cent of our gross national product on space — so we can afford it.

"It is not being spent on the moon as some people like to infer. It is being spent right here in the United States. In fact, 90 per cent of it goes directly to private, free-enterprise companies, many of them small local businesses.

"And I cannot for the life of me think of any other kind of endeavor that could benefit our nation in so many ways at once," Webb said. "It advances knowledge and stimulates our education. It creates new jobs and skills. It perfects our technology. It strengthens our national security and it adds to our total national wealth in many ways."

Concerning the prestige factor, President Johnson has said:

"Surely the country which combines the ability, the resources and the courage to go to the moon will sit high at international negotiating tables. If such a country is one which protects freedom, a strong blow is made for a world of peace instead of a world of subjugation."

Dr. Homer Newell, NASA associate administrator for space science and applications, is one of many scientists who believe the moon may hold the key to the origin of our solar system, generally believed to have been created about 4.5 billion years ago.

Says Newell: "On the earth, the atmosphere and the oceans wear away surface features in 10 to 50 million years. Mountain building activity turns over large areas of the surface in about the same time.

"But on the moon there are no oceans and atmosphere to destroy the surface, and there is little if any mountain building.

"For these reasons the moon has retained a record which probably goes back billions of years to the infancy of the solar system. The moon is the Rosetta Stone of the solar system, and to the student of the origin of the earth and planets, this lifeless body is even more important than Mars or Venus, whose properties resemble earth."

Newell and others believe men can conduct lunar exploration much more efficiently than machines. A trained geologist, they say, could obtain more information in a few hours than a series of unmanned probes could over several years.

The moon, with its lack of obscuring atmosphere, also would be an ideal base for a manned observatory to study the stars and planets. Because it has no atmosphere, the moon also could serve as a launching base for planetary journeys.

The moon program also will contribute to the defense and security of the country. The powerful rockets, control and guidance systems, rendezvous techniques, life protective measures and manned flight experience all are applicable to a military man-in-space capability. The result could be a series of orbiting police patrols to maintain the peace.

The anti-moon argument has its precedents in history.

The first time Christopher Columbus sought support for his voyage he was turned down by the King and Queen of Spain. Other Spanish projects at home needed more attention than a questionable trip to the unknown.

But Queen Isabella changed her mind and Columbus set sail with his three tiny ships. While the wisdom of the voyage was still being debated, Columbus was back and Spain entered her greatest period of wealth and prestige.

Some historians said Isabella changed her mind because she heard that Spain's chief rival, Portugal, was about to undertake such a voyage and she couldn't bear the thought of losing such a race.

So it is with the United States and the Soviet Union today.

Effort to Buy Land From Indians Fails

Knowles Discouraged With Menominee Forest Problem

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The chance for state action to acquire the forest lands of the Menominee Indians in Menominee County for public use or for other legislation to relieve the financial problems of the new county virtually disappeared Monday when Gov. Warren P. Knowles said he has been discouraged by the irreconcilable position of the parties.

Knowles said he has decided against making a recommendation to the Legislature and will ask instead that the Menominee Indian Study Commission, a statutory organization, summon a public conference for a determined effort to work out an assistance program that will be acceptable to the various Indian factions, the Menominee Enterprises, Inc., which holds their lands and forests in common, and the public agencies involved in the Indian problem.

A proposal widely discussed for the last six months, and favored by the Wisconsin Conservation Commission, would have the state buy the principal forest lands of the former Menominee reservation outright.

But Knowles said at a news conference that he sees very little chance, in the present mood of the Legislature and its worry about other financing problems, for the enactment of legislation that would authorize state bonding of up to $30,000,000 or more for such a project.

He noted also that the conservation department and the department of resource development are at odds on the best method to help the Indians and to protect their forest for posterity. The resource department favors a state "easement", which would have the effect of paying the Indians for the public right to scenic enjoyment in the former reservation, but would keep title with the corporation. The corporation evidently favors such action and Knowles said he has received formal notice to that effect.

Price Not Specified

The corporation did not specify an easement price, but indicated that would be subject to negotiations, he told reporters.

The Menominee Indian Study Commission, consisting of county officials, state department representatives, members of the legislature, and spokesmen for the Indian community, is headed by Sen. Reuben LaFave of Oconto. It has shown little more agreement on a suitable action for the state in assisting the new county than have its several agency representatives.

But Knowles said he is convinced that the only practicable course now is for that agency to call for a final conference, in a last ditch effort to arrive at a consensus.

Then that commission should make a "firm recommendation", and he will probably support it, the governor said.

Differences of Opinion

"I can't make the policy judgment because all I have thus far is proof of the numerous differences of opinion," he added.

The governor gave reporters a little lecture on the complexities of politics in the Menominee community as he related that there are at least three factions among the rank and file Menominees, those who want to retain their corporate status, those who want to sell their shares to the state for a fair price, and those who continue to protest the termination of U.S. reservation status for the Menominees and insist that the congressional termination act six years ago was illegal and invalid.

Complex Economic Problem

The economic problems of the community are at least three-pronged—including distress among individuals and Indian families, doubtful financial security of the new Indian county as measured by its expenditure requirements and restricted local tax base, and the operation of the Menominee Enterprises lumber business in a competitive market and with a comparatively high local tax liability and restricted cutting rights.

Knowles said he has the impression that the corporation management is more interested in the outlook for federal financial assistance than in state legislation for the benefit of the community. But Knowles said he has learned from Wisconsin congressional representatives that a pending $5,000,000 federal emergency relief measure for the Menominees is not assured of enactment.

Badger Boys State

More Than 970 Youths To Attend Ripon Meet

More than 970 junior boys from Wisconsin high schools will attend Badger Boys State at Ripon College, Saturday through June 19, it was announced by Val W. Ove, director of Badger Boys State. This, the 24th Badger Boys State, will be the largest one in history. It is sponsored by the Wisconsin American Legion assisted by various civic, fraternal and patriotic organizations throughout the State.

Badger Boys State is an effort on the part of The American Legion to bring to the boys of Wisconsin a knowledge of the fundamental principles of our American government through actual practice in the duties of the city, county and state offices for the period of the Boys State. The program is entirely non-political.

Upon arrival at the Ripon College campus, the boys are grouped into cities and counties which form a mythical state. The boys are separated into two mythical parties—"Nationalist" and "Federalist" and commence to form city, county and state governments. No principles advanced by an existing political party will be referred to or adopted by parties in Badger Boys State.

Many well known people of the State of Wisconsin will participate in this years program. Governor Warren P. Knowles heads a list of guest speakers. Others include Bronson C La Follette, state attorney general; Gordon W. Roseleip, state senator; John L Doyne, Milwaukee County Executive; William A Steiger, state assemblyman; Angus B. Rothwell, state superintendent of public instruction; Carl Wettengel, director of the State Bureau of Personnel; Douglas F. Haist, representing the State Highway Commission; Cadet Phillip A. Dibb, representing the U.S. Air Force Academy; Dr. R. R. Spitzer, president of Murphy Products Co. Inc. of Burlington; Gerald Thompson, chaplain of Ripon College; S. N. Pickard, president of the National Manufacturers Bank, Neenah.

Climax of the eight-day event will be held June 17, when the newly elected governor is inaugurated. The oath of office will be administered by Justice Thomas Fairchild of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, who will formally install other state officers, as well as the members of the Boys State Supreme Court.

Governor Warren P. Knowles will give the main address of the inaugural ceremony. Major General Ralph J. Olson, adjutant general of Wisconsin, will act as marshal. Other dignitaries in attendance include the State Commander of The American Legion, Robert T. Leklem of Wausau.

Dollar's Buying Power To Continue Decline

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Your cost of living will continue to climb to an all-time peak this year and the buying power of the dollar you are earning and saving will continue to shrink to the lowest mark ever.

The excise tax reductions slated for this summer will cut the prices of many goods and services you buy—but other increases in prices of most services and many goods will more than wipe out this windfall.

By year end, your cost of living—as measured by the government's Consumer Price Index—is likely to be at least 1½ per cent above the level when 1965 began. If the price hikes now being posted on basic materials and commodities accelerate, the living cost increase could be larger, and this, I repeat, would be in the face of the price reductions we are sure to get when the excise tax bill becomes effective soon.

By year end, it will cost you more than $11 to by the marketbasket of goods and services that $10 would have bought back in 1957-59.

These are safe guesses, for what is to happen in this sphere already is happening and I need claim no extraordinary powers to make these predictions. How, then whould you view them?

First, let's admit openly that living costs in the post-World War II period have been rising persistently through bad times as well as good—and we certainly have had good times during the past several years. This trend has occurred despite fierce competition among both U. S. and foreign businessmen for our spending dollars, pockets of unemployment, the vast expansion of our industry's productive capacity, the major improvement in worker efficiency, the fact that there are few scarcities pressing on prices.

While an annual rise of under 2 per cent is mild, it still dramatizes the upward tilt in our living costs. It does unquestionably erode the buying power of the dollar over a period of time.

Second, let's admit openly that there are "disturbing" signs that price increases are spreading. This is at the heart of the warnings being flashed now by the President's chief economic adviser, Gardner Ackley, and the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, William McChesney Martin Jr.

Economic Boom

Behind each warning is the unmistakable message that if signs of overheating multiply, the Central Bank will put heavier pressure on the credit brakes—make loans harder and more expensive to get—in order to force some heat out of the economic upturn.

Having admitted these two points, let's also emphasize that in a society as dynamic as ours a rise of only 1 ½ per cent in living costs over a full year is modest. It is a record spectacularly superior to that of any other industrialist nation in recent years. It is an astounding feat considering the fact that business has been in a strong rise for four and one-half years. It means that the overwhelming majority of Americans are coming out way ahead—for the rate of rise in paychecks since the 1950s has been far larger than the rate of rise in living costs.

Directors Elected For Black Creek Cemetery Group

BLACK CREEK — Directors were elected at the annual meeting of the Black Creek Evangelical Cemetery Association at the Community Hall Monday.

Edward Kluge was re-elected to serve a three-year term and Reinhard Wolff was elected for the same term. Kluge later was appointed secretary-treasurer.

It was voted to add one row of eight lots at the south end of the cemetery. The board will consider putting up a cemetery sign. Perpetual care lots are provided by the association for a $100 fee payable by all lot owners. An endowment fund is invested in U.S. government bonds to provide income for maintenance expenses.

Parents Claim Damages for Injury to Son

Amount Unspecified; Maintain Youngster Was Hurt at School

The parents of a six-year-old boy who reportedly suffered a brain concussion in a classroom at Woodlawn School in March intend to file a claim against the Appleton Board of Education.

Notice of the claim was served at the city hall and board of education offices Monday by a Kaukauna attorney representing Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rupiper, 2321 Evergreen Drive.

It was alleged their son, Daniel, 6, received the head injury during a kindergarten class March 3.

Daniel's parents, through their attorney, claim their son was injured "due to the failure upon the part of the teacher of the class to keep order and prevent injury. . ."

Hit By Student Claim

The claim was made that Daniel was struck by another student, causing him to suffer a brain concussion and incur medical expenses.

The city was advised the claim, the amount of which has not been determined, will be made "against all interested parties."

Mrs. Rupiper said today she kept her son home from school for about a week because he complained of headaches and appeared drowsy. When the injury was diagnosed by a doctor, the boy spent four days in the hospital, she said.

Daniel reportedly told his parents he was struck by another classmate. However, school authorities said they could not recall such an incident.

Dr. D. W. McKinnon, left, president of the dental staff at Appleton Memorial Hospital, and Dr. John Kloehn, center, president-elect of the staff, present a $500 check from the staff's treasury to Henry G. Starck, chairman of the executive committee for the hospital's $2 million expansion fund drive. With the fund campaign within a few days of completion, Starck said today that about 70 per cent of the goal has been reached. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Outagamie to Close Port, Force Airline to Move

County Threatens to File Suit If North Central Refuses to Shift Operations to New Field

Outagamie County will close its old Town of Grand Chute airport at 6 p.m. Monday and is ordering North Central Airlines to move its facilities to the new Town of Greenville airport.

If North Central fails to act on the order, it will be cited by the county in the 7th District United States Court of Appeals in Chicago for contempt of court.

The decision, to positively close the Grand Chute airport, was made Tuesday afternoon at a special meeting of the county-board airport committee.

The act of closing the airport permanently to any airplane, commercial or private, involves painting a huge "X" on the runway. Appleton attorney and 7th Ward Supv. Mark Catlin, airport committee chairman, has repeatedly said that he intends personally to paint the "X" on the runway.

North Central was notified of the committee's action late Tuesday afternoon when a telegram was sent to Bernard Sweet, North Central vice president, by Albert W. Ponath, county corporation counsel.

"You are directed to furnish passenger service," Ponath's telegram said, "and other service out of the new airport in the same manner as has been done at the old airport."

"We intend to use every legal means to compel compliance by North Central with the order of the United States Court of Appeals ruling of April 26, 1965, and confirmed by the court on June 3, 1965," the telegram said.

If the federal court upholds the contempt citation, North Central could be fined for every day it fails to comply with the order.

The April 26 order referred to in the telegram was a court ruling which overturned Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) authorization to North Central for suspension of service to Appleton and transfer of its flights to the Winnebago County Airport at Oshkosh as soon as the old airport is closed.

Upheld Verdict

The CAB appealed to the court to reverse the decision and to reconsider. But a decision announced Friday by the court upheld its earlier verdict and, in effect, compelled the airline to transfer its Appleton operation from the old to the new county airport.

The transfer of service, if and when it comes, still is not a permanent order. It remains in effect until 10 days after the court rules on Outagamie County's original appeal of the CAB's regional airport order. The CAB ruled the Oshkosh airport is the regional airport to serve that area and the Fox Cities for North Central service.

A court decision on Outagamie's appeal on the original CAB ruling is not expected until late this year.

Last Flight

Monday's airport closing would make North Central Flight No. 252, which departs for Milwaukee and Chicago at 5 p.m., the last flight out of the old airport.

If North Central transfers its facilities to the new airport, a process which is expected to take two or three days at a minimum, the first scheduled flight into the new airport would be northbound Flight 231 (to Clintonville) at 10:40 a.m., Tuesday. The first southbound flight would be Flight 232 (to Chicago) at 11:30 a.m.

Memorial Hospital Drive Nears Close

Collections Total 70 Per Cent Of $2 Million Goal for Fund

With the official closing of the Appleton Memorial Hospital expansion fund-raising drive only a few days away, about 70 per cent of the drive's announced goal of $2 million has been collected, according to Henry G. Starck, chairman of the campaign executive committee.

Starck said today that $150,000 in gifts and pledges have been tallied since the last fund drive report meeting.

He said that a survey of outstanding pledge cards and potential contributions from in-plant solicitations indicates that the drive will be a total success.

$500 Check

Among the special and general division gifts received this week was a $500 check presented from the treasury of the hospital's dental staff.

Memorial Hospital presently does have general dental surgery and treatment facilities, but the dental unit will be transferred to the new hospital wing which will be built to the south of the existing structure.

As they presented the $500 check, Drs. D. W. McKinnon and John Kloehn praised the existing dental surgery facilities in the hospital and said they hoped more extensive use will be made of them when the public becomes aware of their existence.

A general report meeting is scheduled for 4 p.m., Thursday at Alex's Manor House, Starck said today in a memo to all campaign workers.

Airline Counsel Studying Order

Bernard Sweet, North Central Airlines vice president, told the Post-Crescent today that he received the telegram from Outagamie County Corporation Counsel Albert W. Ponath about next Monday's closing of the old county airport and has turned the matter over to the airline's legal counsel in Washington, D.C.

"They are studying Outagamie County's order now and will make a recommendation on what course we should follow," Sweet said. He added, "We will make a decision, based upon our attorneys' advice, possibly sometime late this afternoon or early tomorrow (Thursday) morning."

Ways to Assure Fair Trial Cited

Editor Says Press, Lawyers Should Talk Over Problems

Newspapers and bar associations groups should work closely to protect the rights of individuals to a fair trial, Post-Crescent Editor John Torinus told members of the Outagamie County Bar Association Tuesday.

Torinus, chairman of a statewide press group committee studying the matter of pre-trial publicity, said a committee of press and bar members could meet regularly to discuss mutual problems and arrive at satisfactory solutions.

He said a current problem which both groups could discuss would be the proper presentation of confessions which are admitted as evidence in preliminary hearings before the court.

Supreme Court Ruling

A recent Supreme Court decision has held that courts should schedule preliminary hearings to rule whether or not a confession obtained from a defendant by police should be admitted as evidence in the case.

Such hearings, Torinus said, are covered by the press and the information in the confession is thus generally printed prior to the trial. He said this may have a tendency to influence prospective jurors.

Torinus cited five "danger" areas in which the press could be accused of pre-trial influence. He cited publication of previous records of the defendants, details of other evidence which may not be admissible in the trial, arguments out of court by the trial attorneys, use of the term "confession," and statements included in the confessions, and use of prejudicial phrases in connection with court reporting.

Leary of Conduct Codes

Torinus said newspaper officials are naturally leary of "codes of conduct" which would restrict liberties and hinder responsibilities of a free press. He said such codes that have been considered "are generally watered down so as to be meaningless."

Torinus said a law being considered before the State Legislature which would bring criminal charges against a police official or district attorney who releases other than specified information, is "dangerous" in that it would have a tendency to make officials leary of giving any information to the public.

Press reports of police activities are a responsible part of society, Torinus said, in that they spotlight crime activity in a community. He said news reports of police and courts in the followup action is a necessary safeguard of public security.

Ordinance Sets Tax to Pay Loan

Kimberly Board Okays Financing For Water Project

KIMBERLY—The village board Monday night adopted an ordinance establishing an unrepealable tax with which to repay a $225,000 bank loan for financing improvements to the No. 1 water system well.

Work on the project will include increasing capacity of the well and additional water softening facilities. The work has been approved by the Public Service Commission and State Board of Health.

Board members approved the planning commission's recommendation to annex 7½ acres of land from the Town of Buchanan located west of Sunset Point Road and north of Kimberly Avenue. No objections were raised at a public hearing on the annexation.

The board referred a proposal to have the property rezoned from temporary to permanent business to the planning commission. A public hearing on the zoning change was set for 8 p.m. July 6 as was a proposal to abandon Wilbur Street between Second and Third Streets. The property has been purchased by the school district as a site for an elementary school.

The administrative committee was authorized to draw specifications for a new police car and the fire chief was authorized to attend the annual convention at Kenosha from July 18-21.

Foundrymen Cross Union Picket Lines

KAUKAUNA — Some 110 foundry workers at Giddings and Lewis Machine Tool Co. here crossed picket lines today as striking machinists continued a walkout now eight days old.

There were no incidents. Company officials said production by foundry workers would resume. The foundry union has honored the lines since the second day of the walkout.

On strike are 190 members of Local 474 of the International Association of Machinists.

Contract negotiations broke down in a dispute over hourly and incentive increases. The local's contract with the firm expired May 10.

Redistricting Of Neenah to Be Discussed

County Committee to Meet With City, Taxpayers Friday

NEENAH—The council and city residents will be informed Friday evening of effects county redistricting will have on the city and what must be done to conform to statutes.

The county redistricting committee will meet with the council at 7 p.m. The meeting will be opened to the public at 8 p.m. to answer any questions that may arise, according to Mayor Carl E. Loehning.

County board representation will be cut from 52 to 47 in 1966. At the present time the city has 10 county supervisors representing each of the 10 wards. Under the redistricting plan, the city will be entitled to eight supervisors based on the 1960 census.

Reset Lines

The city will be faced with the task of resetting lines for supervisor representation at not more than 10 per cent over or under 2,300 population.

City officials are religning the districts from the census as compiled in the city directory.

Herbert Ilk, chairman of the county redistricting committee, said this morning the option of having four districts in Neenah with two supervisors representing each or eight districts with one supervisor in each was entirely up to the city.

Four Districts

The question arose at an informal meeting May 26. The council, at the time, thought four districts would simplify the matter as new lines would have to be drawn which would not correspond to present ward lines.

Ald. Peter Fara, third ward, told members he felt the fewer lines or four districts would make it simpler to register for elections. In many cases the county ballot will not correspond with the city ballot and it would be necessary to present two ballots to elect city and county officials.

Police Promotions Given to Pair of Appleton Detectives

Two Appleton police detectives have been promoted to the ranks of sergeant providing the city council gives its approval on June 19.

Named to the positions are Robert Frailing, 39, a policeman since 1948, and Carl Thiel, 35, a policeman since 1953.

Frailing has worked in the detective bureau since May, 1959 and Thiel was appointed a detective Oct. 1, 1962.

Police Chief E. O. Wolff announced the appointments today. The two positions have been vacant since the death of Sgt. Irv Lietz, two years ago, and the promotion of Donald Paulie to shift captain in 1963.

OSHKOSH — A driver attempting a left turn from State 47 near Gardners Row in the Town of Menasha, was involved in an accident at 10:50 a.m. Tuesday.

Lindy J. Euclide, 17, 1520 E. Coolidge St., Appleton, had stopped to make the turn while driving west on 47 when his car was struck from behind by an auto driven by Beverly M. Wilfuel, 22, Casaloma Drive, Appleton.

The Euclide car received $150 damage to the right rear and the Wilfuer auto $175 to the left front. There were no injuries.

Special Meeting Scheduled by Board Tuesday to Set Contracts

KAUKAUNA — The Kaukauna Board of Education will hold a special meeting following the opening of bids on the proposed new junior high-elementary school Tuesday in an effort to award contracts and permit start of construction as soon as possible.

Bids on the building are to be opened at 2 p.m. in city hall after which the board will meet with the architect to decide which can be accepted without additional study. Five bids, ranging from a low of $4,642 to a high of $6,758, for language laboratory equipment for the proposed school were received Tuesday. Board members authorized the superintendent to review all bids and make recommendations at the next meeting.

Two names were suggested for the new school, Ducharme, after the first white settler in Kaukauna, and Tanner after Dr. Herbert Battles Tanner, one of the outstanding citizens of the city of past years. The board held naming of the school for further study, hoping some additional suggestions may come from the public.

Outside Educable

Julian Bichler, superintendent of schools, reported enrollment in the educable class for the 1965-66 school year appeared to be more than the district could handle as several were moving up from grade ranks and few were lost from school this year. Five students are from outside the district and Bichler was advised to notify parents of these youngsters their children would not be eligible to attend classes in Kaukauna for the coming year.

Board members approved opening the high school library three nights per week when school resumes in the fall as requested by the student council for a 3-month probationary period. Should library usage drop, the program would be discontinued.

Approval was given to the hiring of additional clerical help to assist the librarian, guidance directors and team teaching instructors at the starting clerical rate. The new employe will begin work in fall.

Advisor for U. S. Agency

Former Appleton Educator Ends 5-Year Tour in Ethiopia Ministry

It's "mission accomplished" for former Appleton educator Martha Sorensen, who has completed five years of service in Ethiopia as well as circled the world in her travels to and from the north African country.

Miss Sorensen, officially the elementary education adviser to the Ethiopian Ministry of Education, works for the United States Agency for International Development (AID).

Miss Sorensen

Formerly director of elementary education in Appleton for 25 years, Miss Sorensen resigned from this post in 1960 to go into the governmental foreign field. She also has served as principal of Columbus School in Appleton and taught before that at Edison School.

Recognition came to the educator during her Appleton years as a leader in the school systems continuous progress program and other innovations such as the introduction of foreign language studies at the elementary level. She was responsible for the non-graded primary experiment which has gained worldwide attention.

Miss Sorensen left Addis Ababa, Ethiopia's capital city and her headquarters and home abroad, Sunday, May 23. After a flying trip of 14 days by way of India, Thailand, Japan, Hawaii and California, the trawler arrived in Washington, D. C., last Sunday. Her travels included stops in India, Bangkok, Tokyo and Honolulu.

During her first two and one-half years in Ethiopia, the educator made extensive trips around Africa and one of the highlights of that period for her was a visit with Dr. Albert Schweitzer at his famous project in Lambarene in the Congo. She also visited the Holy Land and the Bethlehem hills during a Christmas season.

According to a telephone interview, Miss Sorensen's Washington days are taken up now with the usual end-of-tour physical check-ups and the important discussions with AID officials on her work in Ethiopia.

Will she be taking a new assignment?

That's an unanswered question for the educator, who says just now she is delighted to be home and for her that means her Bluffdale Farm on the Pine River in Waushara County.

She hopes to be there on or about July 1.

Peonies Reported in Bloom at Rosendale

ROSENDALE—Flowers in peony gardens here will be in full bloom this weekend and will continue at their height for the following week, according to Village Clerk Robert J. Miller.

Miller said visitors have been touring these gardens since 1923. They boast hundreds of varieties of peonies, including double, single and Japanese blooms.

The village has a park available for picnics, Miller said.

Conference Fails To Solve Question Of Rail Crossing

A conference earlier in the week between officials of the city and Chicago and North Western Railway Co. failed to change the Perkins Street crossing picture, it was learned today.

The railroad has asked the city's permission for two more tracks at the Perkins Street crossing, and intends to create a switching and car storage area.

Seventh Ward residents objected to the railroad's proposal, and the city has held up action on the request.

While railroad officials said the project has not yet received final approval from higher-ups, it was expected soon. They reportedly said the car storage yard west of the city may be temporary.

Agreement reportedly could not be reached on a compromise location for the freight car area.

Station Attendant Puts Out Fire in Automobile

KAUKAUNA—Firemen were called at 7 p.m. Tuesday to extinguish a fire in a car, but an attendent at a nearby filling station had put it out by the time they arrived.

The car, owned by R. W. Fleck, was in the 600 block of Lawe Street when the fire broke out.

Appleton National Guardsmen load trucks Tuesday night in preparation for their annual field training at Camp McCoy Wisconsin. They are Patrick Hart, in front, and Ralph Sternhagen. The local unit leaves Saturday for the two weeks of training. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Inspections May Slow Up Bar Licenses

Appleton Committee Warns City Checks Of Places Required

Appleton may be minus a few taverns after July 1, the deadline for issuing 1965-66 licenses, Ald. R. P. Groh (8th), chairman of the city council welfare-ordinance committee, hinted Tuesday night.

During a meeting in city hall, Groh said he hoped the committee would adopt a firm policy of not approving license requests until taverns have been checked by health and other inspectors.

The committee handles license matters and makes recommendations to the council, which has the final word.

Ald. Norman Beyer (20th) asked if the committee or council could legally take such a position.

"What if the inspectors are to blame for not having the premises of an establishment checked before the July 1 date?" Beyer asked.

Committee Duty

"It's not this committee's fault if inspections are not made in time," Groh replied. "This committee merely has to determine whether the applications are in order and if inspections have been passed."

The question as to whether it would be fair to a tavern owner to hold up his license because the inspection report was not in was posed by Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th).

"I think we should let the council decide whether such a situation is the city's fault or not," Groh replied.

City Atty. Frederick E. Froehlich was asked for his opinion and said the issuance of licenses was up to the discretion of the council.

"If it abuses its discretion, then that's another story," Froehlich said.

Beyer told the committee he knew of one establishment which he felt should not be given a license renewal.

The deadline for applying for tavern licenses was April 15. There have been some stragglers, City Clerk Elden Broehm said today. Broehm said there are now 70 licensed taverns in Appleton.

Groh said he would call a special committee meeting, possibly for Thursday night, to review license applications.

Kaukauna Nipped by Frank-Pat's

NEENAH — Frank & Pat's Pizza edged Eagles Club of Kaukauna, 4-3, in a non-league game Tuesday night at Washington Park.

Len Adams went the route for the Twin Citians and allowed four hits. The winners collected seven off McGoey.

Frank and Pat's scored a run in the first on Adams' single and a double by Dave Heller. A walk and Carl Springer's two base hit accounted for another marker in the second.

The two runs tied the score since the visitors had posted one in the first on a walk and VanderVelden's triple and another in the second on a walk and an error.

Frank & Pat's broke the deadlock with a pair in the third on Jim Meyer's triple. Tom Malchow's sacrifice fly and singles by Heller, Don Jensen and Howard Ellis.

The winners were blanked without a run or hit the rest of the way. Ron Weigman homered in the fourth to account for the final Kaukauna tally.

Heller's two hits led the victors while VanderVelden posted a pair for the visitors.

The box score:

Eagles Club (110 100 0-3) Joe DeBruin 4 0 1, Jer DeBruin 3 1 0, VanHandel 4 0 0, Vander Velden 3 0 2, Pahl 3 0 0, McGoey 1 1 0, Weigman 3 1 1, Borchard 2 0 0, Lappen 1 0 0, Keberlein 2 0 0 Totals — 26 3 4.

Frank Pat's (112 000 x-4) Springer 3 0 1, Adams 3 1 1, Meyer 1 1 1, Malchow 2 0 0, Heller 3 1 2, Thomsen 3 0 0, Jensen 3 0 1, Ellis 2 1 1, Angell 3 0 0 Totals - 23 3 7.

Campers Name Adams President; Chapter Plans Two Outings

NEENAH — Larry Adams was elected president of the Tri-Cities chapter of the Wisconsin Campers Association Tuesday night.

Other officers are Edward Brehm, treasurer, and Danice Juedes, secretary.

Appleton Health Department Says Venereal Disease Reported in City

Commissioner Reveals Four Recent Cases End Years of No Incidence of Infection

Cases of venereal disease have been reported in Appleton recently — the first in several years — Health Commissioner Dr. James Laird told the board of health today.

He, and Deputy Health Officer Donald Day, said the health department has encountered problems trying to find those who may have come in contact with a carrier.

The health department does not have a public health nurse on its staff and is in the process of entering into an agreement with the Visiting Nurses Association (VNA) to have its staff handle the city's health calls and followups on disease.

Dr. Laird noted that veneral disease has shown a sudden upturn nationally.

Four Cases

"We went along for many years without having a case reported here," Dr. Laird said, "but in less than one month we were notified of four cases."

Cases of VD are supposed to be reportable to the State Board of Health under the law, he said.

"People consider this a social problem and don't want the physician to refer the case record to the state," Day said.

Day said he did not know if the diseases did not exist in Appleton or if they were not being reported.

"Physicians would be in the best position to know whether there is any problem," Day said.

Day said the national increase in venereal disease was noted most in the 12-to 17-year-old group. He said an educational film was available for students but thought the school nurses here would be reluctant to go along with such a program.

"I feel there should be an educational program conducted for our young people in the 12 to 17 age group," Day said.

Dr. Laird said it was difficult without the services of a full-time city nurse to keep track of the cases and make followups and investigations.

More Successful

"There is no doubt that a nurse would be more successful in locating the people who came in contact with a VD carrier," Dr. Laird said. He said many times the health department investigation is stalled because of persons giving fictious names and addresses.

"This is a health problem and whether it's embarrassing or not, we have to do something about tracking it down," Dr. Laird said.

He referred to one recent incident in which the health department made 10 calls trying to track down on suspicious contact.

The board said the VNA could be contracted to handle all public health calls and suggested the city pay a rate of $3.50 per hour for such services until Sept. 1.

See No Need for Posting Bond

Request Appleton To Drop Electric Code Requirement

Electrical contractors in Appleton should not be required to post bond, unless working on municipal projects, the city's welfare-ordinance committee decided Tuesday night.

It recommended the Appleton Council delete the $3,000 bond requirement presently included in the recodified ordinances.

Contractors have not been required to post surety bonds in the past.

The committee action came on the heels of a strong recommendation from the board of electrical examiners that the bond portion of the code be eliminated.

Cite Reason

Board members pinpointed the reasons for their action, explaining that:

—Bondsmen questioned whether a bond as defined in the ordinance was available.

—Such an arrangement might make the city vulnerable to becoming involved in legal problems between a citizen and contractor.

—Past experience indicated there was no need for such a bond.

However, Electrical Inspector Joseph Schoenhaar said the city intends to require a bond from electrical contractors for all municipal projects.

Knocking the bonding requirement from the ordinance does not preclude a citizen from working out an arrangement with a contractor performing private work, the committee indicated.

The Rev. W. H. Gamelin, pastor of Zion Church, will give the benediction and invocation. The school choir, directed by Mrs. John Tornow, and the graduates will sing special selections. Accompanist will be Christine Troge. A social hour will follow the program.

Navy Having Problems Holding Its Manpower

OSHKOSH — Beside the problem of keeping freedom of the seas and aiding in combatting brush fire wars around the world, the Navy also has the problem of keeping its trained manpower, Rear Admiral Howard A. Jaeger told a combined Oshkosh service clubs meeting Tuesday noon in Hotel Raulf.

Admiral Jaeger, who is commandant of the Ninth Naval District, the largest in the world, said it costs the taxpayers about $25,000 to train each enlisted man from boot camp through chief electronics mate in addition to his salary.

After he completes his enlistment, he views the salary he can receive with this training as a civilian and what the navy can offer and leaves the service with a discharge in one pocket and a contract paying him five or six times the navy pay in the other pocket, the admiral said.

$1,500 Loss Reported in Menasha Fire

MENASHA — More than $1,500 damage resulted from a fire in baled waste paper at the Menasha Mill Supply Co., Appleton Street, Wednesday, fire department officials reported.

Firemen were called to the warehouse at 4:02 p.m. and fought the blaze for two hours. Efforts were hampered by dense smoke.

The fire was reported to have started by a spark from a switch box on a nearby compressor.

There was minor damage to the building, officials reported.

U. S. to Sell Arms To Saudi Arabia

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The United States has agreed to sell Saudi Arabia a large quantity of arms, including "several air squadrons," within 30 months, the Beirut Daily Star reported today.

The paper said a high official of the Saudi Arabian Foreign Ministry told it the first planes would be delivered late this year or early in 1966. The shipment will include jet fighters, pursuit planes and heavy bombers, the Star said.

It said according to unconfirmed reports a total of 150 planes would be delivered.

Dow Jones Off 4.05 at 885

Trading Declines Sharply, on Rise Early in Afternoon

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined sharply again as trading picked up early this afternoon.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.05 at 885.00.

Stocks made a futile effort to recover in early dealings. Many market wheelhorses originally held unchanged. Some posted gains of fractions to a point while others declined in about the same range.

From this early irregularity the list slipped into another downtrend since stocks had gathered no momentum on their effort to advance.

"The course of least resistance was on the downside," said one broker.

Key Losses

Losses of key stocks went from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .8 at 322.9 with industrials down 1.4, rails off .3 and utilities off .2.

The action followed Tuesday's setback, the worst since the assassination of President Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963.

Wall Street chartists said that a support area lay around the 880 line in the Dow Jones industrial average. While some analysts said the market was "oversold" and fundamentally "cheap" on the basis of historical ratios of prices to earnings, there was no general conviction that the time was ripe for a rally.

Among more serious losses were New York Central and Boeing, down 2 points each.

Prices were mixed in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged in light dealings.

The lowest overnight reading was 45 degrees at Lone Rock.

A trace of precipitation was reported in Milwaukee, Lone Rock and Wausau as the cool front passed.

Most of the state had clear skies this morning but there was an overcast in the extreme northwestern corner.

The nation's high Tuesday was 106 at Presidio, Tex., The overnight low was 39 at Missoula and Lewistown, Mont.

Sparks Still Flying Over City Employe Pay Plan

Appleton Unit Learns 6 Policemen Unhappy With Classification Under New System

Sparks are still flying over the city's new municipal employe pay plan, the Appleton City council's public safety committee learned Tuesday night.

A letter from Police Chief Earl O. Wolff indicated six members of the police department were unhappy with their pay classification under the plan prepared by the State Bureau of Personnel.

The policemen claimed after three years on the force, their salaries were almost equal to those of first year men. They asked that the inequity be corrected.

It was disclosed a copy of the letter had been sent to the personnel committee.

"I understand the personnel committee has this ironed out," commented Ald. Arthur Mueller (19th), public safety chairman. Salary and pay plan adjustments come under the jurisdiction of the personnel group.

There were also rumblings at city hall Tuesday that some members of the fire department are dissatisfied with the city's clarified holiday pay policy and are considering a request to have it liberalized.

Receive Double Pay

When firemen and policemen work on a holiday they receive what amounts to triple pay. Those who do not work receive double pay.

In other action, the committee:

— Announced plans to meet with representatives of the local trucking industry to further discuss downtown parking problems.

— Made it clear that Charles Magnette, the new director of inspections, has full authority over all municipal inspectors working out of city hall.

— Voted to put a 90-minute parking restriction on the north side of Packard Street from Clark to Division streets.

Calumet Jail Office Annex Bids Approved

$37,555 Total; St. Cloud Firm Gets General Contract

CHILTON — Bids totaling $37,555 for construction of an office annex to the Calumet County jail were approved by the Calumet County Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

Contracts were awarded to Feldner Construction Co., St. Cloud, $29,419, general construction with a 90-day completion date; Karls Corp., Stockbridge, $2,678, heating and ventilating; Karl-Kent, Chilton, $1,971, plumbing; and Walker Electric, Chilton, $3,487 for electrical work.

Supv. Herman Greve, Hilbert, of the sheriff's committee, estimated the total project might run nearly $40,000 with interior completion, including an information and operations desk, additional cable for the transmitter and office furniture.

32 by 40 Foot Annex

The 32 by 40 foot annex will extend as a wing off the northwest corner of the jail building and will include a sheriff's office and conference room, a county traffic patrol office, radio room and public rest rooms.

Architect Oliver Herrick of Green Bay specified a precut 10-inch prestressed concrete floor plank giving a smooth ceiling in the basement. Exterior construction will be concrete block with brick veneer. The floors will be terrazzo.

The annex is part of a four-point improvement program recommended last October by Vernon Verhulst, State Board of Corrections official. He said that existing conditions made suspect interrogation difficult as the radio equipment now is located in the room used for questioning.

The county traffic patrol, with Victor Juno as patrol captain, was separated from the sheriff's department by the board in January. The annex will provide office space for the patrol.

FVL High Will Enlarge Curriculum for Music

New Suite Provides Space for Piano Studies, Other Small Ensemble Groups

Plans to enlarge the music curriculum of Fox Valley Lutheran High School have been announced by school officials.

The FVL Board of Regents has authorized three newly completed piano practice rooms for use of students who wish to take lessons.

Twenty students have shown an interest in taking lessons. No instructor has been obtained, Gerhard Rolloff, music department director, said, but the school is looking for candidates.

Rolloff also plans to use rooms in the new music suite for smaller ensemble groups drawn from the Lutheran High band and chorus. Triple trios, brass choirs and clarinet choirs have previously been formed by the music department, performing for concerts and various congregational groups.

The use of the new music suite, including much needed storage space and a tiered practice room accommodating 80 to 90 choristers or 60 to 65 band members, is expected to give a lift to the music program at FVL.

Rolloff looks for 15 to 20 new members in the band next year, enlarging it to about 50. The organization has suffered in the past from the necessity of having some beginning members play with the group immediately, but, with the formation of bands by local Lutheran grade schools providing more experienced freshmen and the new equipment, the outlook is bright for next year, Rolloff said.

The chorus' year was highlighted by the formation of a concert choir, drawn from members of the student chorus. Members of the select group received commendation for their two performances this year on local television.

The chorus and band are not the only musical groups in the FVL class schedule. Conscious of its heritage as an institution of the Lutheran Church, known as the "singing church" and famous for masters such as Johann Sebastian Bach, the school requires all freshmen to take one period of music instruction per week, Rolloff said.

Music appreciation classes for the next three years are also offered. Students skilled on the organ have the opportunity to accompany hymns during the daily chapel services.

Bid Opening Set At Kaukauna

of the auditorium was accepted. Three bids were received to replace a side door on the boiler room. The superintendent was authorized to accept the low bid after he checked with all bidders to ascertain whether their bid was for a metal door. The board favored use of a metal door.

The building committee was instructed to continue study of possible sites for a northside school as board members felt the need was far enough in the future to permit study rather than accept either of the two proposals received at the last meeting.

The superintendent of schools was authorized to apply for federal aid for the vocational program since it conforms to standards set up by the federal aid program. It was estimated about $5,000 in aids might be realized.

Board members voted not to enter into agreement for an annual service charge for maintenance of a bookkeeping machine and accepted the resignation of a fifth grade teacher. A request to provide noon hour lunch supervision at Nicolet School, relieving teachers from this duty was denied.

Beer Depots Are 'Victims', Sheriff Warns

Beer and liquor deliveries, left at unattended homes, may be falling into very young hands, Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice warned today.

Spice, in letters sent to 34 beer and liquor distributors in the county, said the depots may be victims of "schemes" by young persons who request a delivery at a home which is vacant or the reisdent is on vacation.

Spice said the "callers" request the delivery and report that if no one is at home, the delivery is to be left near the door and the delivery charged to the account.

In some cases, Spice said, the caller indicates that payment for the delivery may be found near the spot where the delivery is to be made.

Spice said it would be good practice not to make deliveries to unattended homes or in places where there is no adult to accept the delivery.

Calumet Supervisors Okay 16-Man Board

Redistricting Plan Calls for Each To Represent 1,000 Constituents

CHILTON — A reapportionment plan which would reduce the Calumet County Board from 24 to 16 supervisors won favor at Tuesday's county board session.

According to terms of a recently approved state law, counties—Calumet's size are entitled to a maximum of 21 supervisors.

The plan, one of three formulated by a special committee, would have each supervisor representing, as nearly as possible, 1,000 persons. This complies with the one-man-one-vote aspect of the reapportionment law.

Outlined by Committee Chairman G. J. Hipke, New Holstein, it was pointed out that the other two plans, reducing board size to 21 and 20 respectively, do not adhere as well to districts with equal populations. It was felt they might invite state criticism for this reason.

According to the plan, Town of Harrison, with a population of 2,873 would be alloted two representatives. It now has only one vote, that of its town chairman.

Reductions include City of Brillion, wards 1, 2 and 3, population 1,783 one supervisor insead of the present three; City of Chilton, one supervisor from wards 1 and 2, 1,250 population; and one from wards 3 and 4, 1,328 persons. At present, Chilton has four representatives. New Holstein also would lose two supervisors with wards 1 and 4 combined for 1,200 persons and wards 2 and 3 giving a population district of 1,201.

Combined districts created by this plan would be Town and Village of Stockbridge, 1,790 persons; Town of Woodville and Village of Hilbert, 1,751 persons; and Town of New Holstein and City of Kiel, 1,500 persons. Each of these districts would have one board representative.

Unchanged Districts

Districts whose representation would remain unchanged by this plan are Town of Brillion, 1,278; Brothertown, 1,360; Charlestown, 1,022; Chilton, 1,114; Town of Rantoul, 1,165 and City of Appleton, with a population of 1,653. Their figures are based on the 1960 census.

Utilities Officials in Menasha For 36th Annual Conference

MENASHA — Representatives of Wisconsin's municipally-owned electric utilities began gathering at Menasha Hotel this morning for the 36th annual Conference of the Municipal Electric Utilities of Wisconsin Association.

More than 200 representatives and their wives were expected for the three-day conference which formally was to open at 2 p.m. today with an address by Donald E. Burroughs, executive engineer, R. W. Beck and Associates, Columbus, Neb., on "Power Pooling."

Also planned for today was a tour of the Menasha Electric Utility steam plant and a display and demonstration of electrical equipment.

Joseph Swidler, chairman, Federal Power Commission, will speak at the luncheon Thursday on aspects of federal regulation in regard to wholesale rates for municipal utilities.

The annual banquet is slated for Thursday evening at the Menasha Elks Club with the conference closing Friday morning with the annual business meeting.

A program of events also is slated for the women.

Adolph Sime, Boscobel, is president of the Municipal Utilities Association.

Race Aids Dutch Immigrant Woman Facing Deportation

Post Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Sixth District Rep. John Race (D-Fond du Lac) doesn't wait for someone to ask him to introduce an immigration oill He goes out of his way to find persons needing help.

Race saw a story in a Wisconsin newspaper Tuesday telling of the plight of Gerardus W. Van Dijk, 35-year-old widower who is fighting the June 30 deportation of the nursemaid for his six children ranging in age from one to eight years old.

Van Dijk works all day maintaining a 300-acre farm for a Neenah physician. The nursemaid, Joanne Van Den Berg, 27, a Dutch immigrant to Canada, took the job as an act of mercy at the request of a Catholic priest in the Netherlands, according to Race. She has been taking care of the children since January. She entered the U.S. on a Dutch passport which expires June 30.

When Race learned of the case, he made several long distance phone calls, met with the House legislative counsel, and introduced legislation to permit Miss Van Den Berg to remain in the United States.

The legislation in the form of a private bill automatically halts the plan of the immigration service to deport Miss Van Den Berg on June 30.

Referring to the proposed deportation of the Dutch woman, the congressman said "that is ridiculous. We permit convicted racketeers such as Frank Costello to remain in the country for years before the immigration service moves to deport them. Yet, authorities want this dedicated woman to leave this country by June 30.

"There are many things which can spur the giant wheels of government to overcome such an injustice In this case I can think of about six," he said, referring to the six Van Dijk children.

Neenah Youth Appointed to U. S. Military Academy

NEENAH — William Richey Jr., son of Neenah Police Sgt and Mrs. William Richey, has been selected by the Department of the Army for appointment to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, according to an announcement today by Sixth District Rep. John A. Race.

A member of the graduating class of 1965, Richey was active in school activities. He participated in the Biology Club, Conservation Club, newspaper and yearbook staffs, and Pep Club. His sports activities included intramurals, tennis and cross country. He was a member of the Thespian Group in his junior and senior years.

Other activities included serving on the student council during his junior year and class vice president in his freshman year.

Richey's father is a "Bataan death march" survivor who spent long years in Japanese prisoner of war camps during World War II.

Search Underway for Injured Doe Which Crashed Through Glass

Winnebago County sheriff and conservation authorities are searching for a doe deer today which Tuesday night crashed through a plate glass window at the Valley Fair Shopping Center.

Authorities said the doe was apparently cut by the glass, before escaping through an open door and scampering into the woods behind the shopping center.

Witnesses said the doe ran around one of the stores but did no damage. The deer was bleeding inside the store, witnesses said.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Top Prize Today Is Four Construction Vehicles

BY CAPPY DICK

Boys and girls! I offer you a new national grand prize today!

It's a four-vehicle scale model construction set manufactured by Tonka Toys, including a cement mixer that has a mixer drum which rotates when the truck moves (the drum also tilts to pour "cement" down an adjustable chute), a trencher that has an operating scoop and a movable back hoe, a fast-two-position tail gate for dumping and spreading, and a sand loader that has a hand crank to operate a hopper and an endless belt.

All of these steel-bodied vehicles come packed in a box almost 20 inches square and eight inches high and weighing 16 pounds.

Five sets will be given away, one to each boy or girl whose entry in today's contest proves to be one of the five neatest and most original received from all the cities where this column is publishd.

Two Qualify For Prizes

To qualify for a national prize consideration, a contestant's entry must first win a local preliminary prize which in today's contest is a packet of materials and instructions to make an Indian-style bead ring. Included are a supply of colored beads and fine wire. Five such packets will be awarded, one to each boy or girl whose entry is judged to be one of the 5 neatest and most original from contestants in the Fox Valley area.

Entries winning local preliminary prizes will be entered automatically in the national judging for the Tonka scale model construction outfits.

The contest is easy to enter. The first thing to do is cut out the four parts in the picture above and glue them together on paper or a postal card to form a fish. Next, color the fish with paints or crayons. Print your name, age and address beneath it. Then decorate your entry in any neat, original way, using paints, crayons, cutouts or other means.

Cut and assemble each part.

Address the entry to Cappy Dick's Midweek Contest at the Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow. Names of the prize winners will be published here and their awards will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

Hortonville Road Work to Start in 1966

Board Told Repairs On County Trunk M Included in Budget

HORTONVILLE—The village board has learned that improvements on County Trunk M, Oik Street, will not begin until 1966.

Roger Coenen, village clerk, told the board that Clarence Brownson, Outagamie County Highway Commissioner, said funds for the improvements had been scheduled in the 1966 budget.

The Hortonville Commercial Club has requested that city utilities be connected to the park located along the street, but village officials said they would wait for street improvement work because of added expense and plans to lower the roadway.

Gas Lines

The board said gas lines must be installed in S. Nash Street to coincide with current work so the street will not have to be torn up again.

Construction of a 3,000 foot ditch from County Trunk M to the railroad ditch above Black Otter Lake will begin as soon as the land is dry enough to support heavy equipment according to Len Buchman, chairman of the conservation committee.

The ditch is expected to alleviate the winter-kill at the lake caused by lack of oxygen this year.

17 Families Attend Timm-Bigalke Reunion

HORTONVILLE — Seventeen families attended the Timm-Bigalke family reunion at Hatten Park, New London, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Douvikas, Chicago, traveled the longest distance. Officers elected for the coming year are Louis Spiegelberg, Manawa, president; John Spiegelberg, Weyauwega, vice president; John Timm, Manawa, treasurer; Mrs. Arnold Opper, Neenah, secretary, and Mrs. Herman Koehler, Hortonville, historian.

Fifteen young people from First English Lutheran Church of Appleton will have a joint retreat with youths from an Oshkosh congregation at Long Lake Bible Camp near Clintonville Friday through Sunday.

Student Pastor David Kaplan of Appleton will assist in the Bible studies and Sunday worship.

Musical Program

Miss Barbara Bauer, Appleton, and Mrs. Ione Rapp, Oshkosh, parish workers, will direct the musical program. Martin Gilbertson of Appleton will speak about church related vocations in Lutheran Welfare.

In addition to several Bible studies and worship, the retreat will include motion pictures on evangelism, recreational activities and a special Galilean service.

WAUPACA — Gerald E. Staerkel, 22, Oshkosh, forfeited a bond of $33.25 Tuesday to Municipal Justice George Whalen, when he failed to appear in court on a charge of drinking in a moving vehicle.

Staerkel was arrested May 6 in Town of Dayton.

WRIGHTSTOWN — Urban Klister Post 436, American Legion, will hold its annual picnic Saturday and Sunday at the Village Park, the affair scheduled to open at noon Saturday.

Refreshments will be available.

Military Convoys To Carry Guard To Camp McCoy

Next Saturday would be a good day to stay at home. The Wisconsin Motor Vehicle Department suggests that unnecessary travel be avoided during the 32nd Division's annual trek to Camp McCoy located between Sparta and Tomah.

Although the 2nd Brigade arrived last Saturday, about 1,000 vehicles will be used to transport the rest of the division Saturday, according to Capt. R. G. Gromey of the Wisconsin State Patrol.

"Since this is a similar movement to those used in past years," Capt. Gromey said, "no trouble is anticipated. County and city enforcement agencies enroute will be notified by radio and State Patrol officers will maintain traffic control posts and furnish escort service."

The military units will use I System highways wherever possible. Capt. Gromey advised those motorists finding it necessary to be on highways other than I-90 and I-94 during the convoy movement to exercise patience. He said, "These convoys will travel no faster than 45 miles per hour; furthermore, in congested areas speed will be reduced to 20 m.p.h. or less."

Annual Dairy Supper

ROYALTON — The annual dairy supper of the Ladies Aid of the Congregational Church will be held June 24. Serving will begin at 5 p.m.

Youth Fined $50, Loses Driving Privilege; Had Beer Off Premises

WAUPACA—David Seidel, 18, 1493 Walter Ave., Appleton, pleaded guilty of possessing beer off a licensed premise and was fined $50 and costs when he appeared Tuesday in Municipal Justice Court.

Seidel was arrested by Waupaca County police at 2:20 a.m. Sunday in the Casino parking lot in the Town of Farmington. There also was a 17-year-old youth in the car. Police testified four cans of malt liquor were found under the front seat of the car and there were four six-packs of beer in the trunk.

Municipal Justice George Whalen also suspended Seidel's driving privileges for 30 days.

Mississippi GOP Wins for First Time In State's History

Major Municipal Victories Give Republicans Confidence in Future

BY JAMES SAGGUS

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Jubilant Republican leaders looked confidently to the future today after GOP victories in mayor's races at Columbus and Hattiesburg — the first major municipal triumphs in Mississippi party history.

Former Democrats Paul E. Grady of Hattiesburg and R. D. Harmond of Columbus were the causes of the big Republican cheers.

Grady unseated Democratic Mayor Claude Pittman Jr., 2,438 votes to 1,836, while Harmond whipped Democratic Mayor William Propst 1,394 to 1,191 in Tuesday's municipal elections.

The GOP also won two alderman posts at Drew, two at D'Lo and one at Magee, and one council seat at Columbus. A Republican also captured a nonpartisan aldermanic race at Hollandale.

Republican State Chairman Wirt Yerger Jr. called the triumphs "a history-making breakthrough — particularly significant because they were at the grassroots level, the greatest source of any party's strength."

Awed By Progress

Only four years ago, he said, there was not a single Republican municipal candidate in Mississippi and "I am awed by the progress we have made. The victories will have a tremendous impact on the progress of our state. They have paved the way for many future victories."

The Republican surge in this Deep South state first came with widespread dissatisfaction over trends in the national Democratic party, particularly under President John F. Kennedy.

L. L. McAllister, a personally popular young Meridian businessman, won a special election for state representative in February 1963, to give the GOP morale a boost and its first legislative post.

Then anti-Democratic sentiment brought former Democratic Public Service Commissioner Rubel Phillips into the 1963 governor's race against Democratic nominee Paul Johnson. After a rough campaign, Johnson won 225,456 to 138,515.

Last fall, Barry Goldwater won the state for the Republicans for the first time since Gen. U.S. Grant and Reconstruction.

GOP to Honor Chairman at Dinner Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A million-dollar program with a moderate look tonight salutes the organization man chosen to unify the Republican party for victory after the 1964 presidential defeat.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower leads GOP notables who will salute National Chairman Ray C. Bliss in an hour-long television program designed to raise $1 million for the party treasury.

Neither Barry Goldwater, the party's leading conservative spokesman and 1964 presidential candidate, nor New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, darling of the party's liberal ranks, is among the speakers.

The speakers will be former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Govs. George Romney of Michigan and William Scranton of Pennsylvania, Sens. Thruston Morton of Kentucky and George Murphy of California, House Minority Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan, Chicago industrialist Charles Percy and actor Ronald Reagan of California.

The GOP won't hit its goal of 12,000 over-all attendance at eight dinners in major Ohio metropolitan areas. But at $100 a plate, the total should approach $1 million.

Nazis to be Executed in Russia for War Crimes

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet war crimes court has sentenced six persons in the northern Caucasus to death for taking part in Nazi murders of Poles and Russians during World War II. They are to be shot.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the six took part in killings of prisoners at the death camps of Sobibor and Belzec in Poland and Yanovsky, near Lvov, in the Ukraine.

The week-long trial was held in Krasnodar, Tass said.

Wandered Into Enemy Zone

Three Americans Captured Tuesday To be Freed by Dominican Rebels

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican rebels said they would release three captive American soldiers today to the Organization of American States.

The three Americans, captured when they drove into rebel territory Tuesday by mistake, were Lt. Henry Cephus Leforce, 24, of Nash, Okla.; Spec. 4 Alton P. Blakely, 21, of Richmond, Calif.; and Pfc. Nelson Belengeri, 21, a Peruvian citizen whose uncle lives in Belleville, Ill.

Leforce told newsmen they were on their way to investigate a claim that an American truck had been damaged when they wandered into rebel territory.

No Sign

"I assumed there would be a sign telling us when the international zone ended," Leforce said. "But when we had gone two blocks, a Jeep with a .50-caliber machine gun mounted on it pulled out of a side street and stopped us. There was not much we could do."

"President Johnson should teach his troops some geography," said Col. Manuel Ramon Montes, the rebel army commander. "We caught them five blocks inside our territory."

The rebels customarily release American troops who wander into the rebel sector of downtown Santo Domingo.

Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, the rebel leader, rejected proposals for an interim government which he said had been brought to Santo Domingo by an OAS mediating team that arrived June 4.

Arms for Rebels Stolen in Sudan

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Sudanese authorities claim plotters trying to stage a coup here intercepted a secret shipment of arms from Syria intended for a rebel group in Eritrea.

The outgoing government of Premier Sir El Khatim El Khalifa said the arms were discovered in the suburbs of Khartoum. Four former army officers, Justice Minister Rashid El Taher and Minister of State Mohamed Gubara El Award were arrested on suspicion of plotting a coup.

Syria recalled its ambassador from Khartoum.

Editors on Racial Tour In Mobile

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Visiting newsmen neared the end of their racial fact-finding tour of Alabama today in the wake of a lively exchange between two of the writers and Gov. George C. Wallace.

Swapping their buses for a plane, the 47 out-of-state editors and reporters from across the nation turned southward toward Mobile after witnessing a spectacular moon rocket test in Huntsville and watching Negro pickets stage another anti-Wallace demonstration.

Nine young Negroes, carrying signs, paraded in front of the motel where the out-of-state writers were staying at Huntsville.

It was the second racial demonstration of the tour. A larger group of demonstrators paraded in Selma while the newsmen were there Monday.

Plan to Separate Provisions

Assembly to Consider Budget Bill Thursday

MADISON (AP) — Democrats in the Assembly poised to tear apart a Senate Republican budget - tax bill — have announced they will take up the combined proposal Thursday.

The Senate package plan, approved last week by a 17 - 16 margin, calls for spending $809.3 million in the 1965-67 biennium and raising $76.3 million in new taxes.

Assembly Democrats, who held a narrow 52-48 majority, already have announced their strategy when the bill comes up for debate. They first intend to separate the tax provisions for the budget. Then they plan to substitute the $825 million spending level recommended by the Democratic - controlled Joint Finance Committee.

The Assembly's expected action will lead to a conference committee after the Senate refuses to concur in the Democratic version.

Republicans in the Assembly tried Tuesday to have the package bill considered immediately, but Democrats overrode the motion.

Lottery Definition

The Senate, settling down to the routine business that accumulated during the two-week period it debated the budget-tax proposal, approved and sent to the governor a bill changing Wisconsin's constitutional definition of an illegal lottery.

The vote on the measure was 30-1, with only Sen. Fred Risser, D-Madison, opposing it.

The proposal was to implement a decision by the voters in a spring referendum to change the Constitution to allow state residents to participate in those sweepstakes contests that do not require a purchase to enter.

The Assembly received a proposal that would allow the state to exceed the present $100,000 debt limit for the construction of state buildings. Under terms of the measure, the constitution would be amended to permit a direct borrowing procedure.

The constitutional maximum now is circumvented by borrowing through building corporations.

The new proposal would establish a maximum debt of 2½ per cent of the equalized general property valuation, placing the limit at $788 million.

The Senate also approved a resolution that would establish April 15 as Free Enterprise Day in Wisconsin.

Morse, Dr. Spock Lead Viet Nam Protest March

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Dr. Benjamin Spock, the child care specialist, led some 2,000 persons on a 10-block march to the United Nations building Tuesday night after a Madison Square Garden rally held to protest United States policy in Viet Nam.

At times, the marchers stretched eight blocks along 42nd Street as police followed them.

The marchers chanted "No more war," and "Stop the war in Viet Nam."

They stopped at the United Nations' 47th Street plaza for a program which included prayers and brief speeches.

Moon Shot Mystery

Soviets Silent on Luna 6

MOSCOW (AP) — Luna 6 apparently sped on toward the moon today with Soviet officials maintaining silence on both the progress and the goals of the unmanned space satellite.

Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory said its giant radio-telescope picked up strong signals from the Soviet moon probe Tuesday night.

Morning newspapers in Moscow carried only the original announcement of the launch Tuesday. There was no further information on the distance the automatic space station has traveled from the earth or whether it is still close to the planned flight trajectory.

The satellite, believed to be the second Soviet attempt in a month to try a soft landing on the moon, is expected to reach the lunar surface Friday night.

After Landing

Soviet officials may not announce the purpose of the flight until they are sure Luna 6 will hit the moon or until after the landing.

In the previous attempt by Luna 5, the Soviets announced about 20 hours before the satellite was due to hit the moon that it would attempt a soft landing. It was the first time they had called a shot in advance.

The soft landing failed and Luna 5 crashed into the moon on May 12.

Tass said then: "During the flight and the approach of the station to the moon a great deal of information was obtained which is necessary for the further elaboration of a system for soft landing on the moon's surface."

Next Step

Luna 6 is believed to be the next step in that "further elaboration."

In most respects Lunas 5 and 6 appeared similar. Both were called automatic space stations, the Soviet term normally used for unmanned space craft. Both were launched by multistage rockets. The last stage of the rocket was put in orbit. It in turn launched the moon probe.

A soft landing could produce better photographs of the moon's surface than previous moon shots which crashed into it. The satellite's radio system would function even after it had landed and it could also radio back information on the composition of the moon's surface.

Coal Miners Rescued

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Two miners were rescued unhurt Tuesday night after 12 hours in the north Hungarian coal mine of Rudabanya. A cave-in killed five other miners and seriously injured two.

Backlog Piling Up

Johnson Cutting Taxes Too Fast, Byrd Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd said today the Johnson administration is cutting taxes too fast and is piling up a backlog of massive expenditures for the future.

Byrd, Virginia Democrat who heads the Senate Finance Committee, said that while some excise levies undoubtedly ought to be removed, the $4.8-billion tax reduction bill before his committee is too big at a time when he can find no comparable decline in spending.

"The administration claims it is cutting expenditures, but I can find no evidence of it," he told a reporter. "Instead it is adding to the deficit and bringing out many new programs that are going to call for massive spending increases next year."

Market Decline

Noting that the stock market took one of its worst declines of 1965 Tuesday, Byrd said he thinks William M. Martin, Federal Reserve Board chairman, was on solid ground when he said last week that there are some similarities between the present situation and that of 1929 prior to the depression of the 30s.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, recalled for testimony today, told the Finance Committee Tuesday that while he wasn't an expert in this field the dissimilarities were greater than the similarities.

When Byrd pressed for an estimate on when the budget might be balanced, Fowler replied that it might be possible in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1966, but more likely a year later.

Michael Anderson Jr. Young Man With Talent

Britisher in Five Major Movies This Year; Hopes to Become Great Actor

In the last year, five major motion pictures have been released with one thing in common. They all feature a young, talented actor named Michael Anderson Jr.

After playing the role of 'Little James' in the George Stevens production, "The Greatest Story Ever Told," he played the part of a young American beatnik in "Dear Heart" with Glenn Ford and Geraldine Page.

This was followed by three films, shot on location in Durango, Mexico. They are: "Major Dundee" with Charlton Heston, "The Glory Guys" with Tom Tryon, and his most recent film, "The Sons of Katie Elder," with co-stars John Wayne and Dean Martin.

Michael was born in Hillingdon, England, Aug. 6, 1943. His father is a well known motion picture director Michael Anderson. One of young Michael's greatest desires is to be in one of his father's future films. He spent his childhood living in Hillingdon with his parents, two brothers and sister in the family's 800-year-old house.

Started Early

The young actor received most of his dramatic training at the Arts Educational Institute in London. By the time he was 8 he was already appearing on live radio and television shows throughout England.

At 9, Michael became deaf and it was feared that he would remain so for the rest of his life. After months of intensive medical care and surgery, his hearing was restored and Michael's career continued to blossom.

He danced with Londons' Royal Festival Ballet and was one of 10 dancers selected to perform the Nutcracker Suite in Zurich.

Movie Break

His first break in motion pictures was in a film called "Moonraker", in which he had a small part as a stable boy. Then came "Reach For Glory" and "Tiger Bay", which featured Hayley Mills. Michales' first major American film was "The Sundowners," starring Robert Mitchum.

Probably, the film that brought the most attention to his ability as an actor is Walt Disneys' production of "In Search Of The Castaways", where once again, Michael played opposite Hayley Mills.

When director George Stevens signed him for "The Greatest Story Ever Told", he said: "Michael has a wonderful face, it seems to light up with excitement and hero worship. He is perfect for the part." This enthusiasm is shared with every director who Michael comes in contact with. He has never gotten into a fight with anyone on a picture and seems to be liked and respected by the entire crew.

Lives in Hollywood

He lives in a pleasant apartment in Hollywood and keeps busy by occupying his time with a multitude of hobbies and sports. These include golf, fishing, photography, swimming, horseback riding and collecting records.

Michael Anderson, Jr. is a talented young man with a variety of interests, a great ability to understand others and a burning desire to become a great actor.

Young British Actor Michael Anderson Jr. is shown as he appears in his most recent movie, "The Sons of Katie Elder." His co-stars are John Wayne and Dean Martin. Anderson now lives in Hollywood. He is the son of an English movie director and hopes to work under his father some day.

Appleton Serviceman Gets Dollar Reward for Courtesy

WORLD'S FAIR, N.Y.—A parachute gear he was wearing soldier who patiently listened and about the Army's exhibits while an elderly woman reminisced about her son who was on display.

killed during World War II "I told her how the army's received a reward for his exhibit explains its worldwide courtesy.

The soldier, Specialist 4 Tom Cavert, son of Mrs. Lorraine Cavert, 1616 S. Walden Ave., of Appleton, Wis., was handed a crumpled one dollar bill as he shook hands with the thankful New York City woman. He tried to return the gift but she darted into a crowd before he could reach her. He never saw her again.

The scene was the New York World's Fair where Specialist Cavert, 21, of the 101st Airborne Division, is assigned temporarily to the U.S. Army Exhibit Unit. It happened while he was standing in the lobby of the Transportation & Travel Pavilion. He was directing fairgoers to the Army's exhibit which is located in the pavilion when the unidentified woman approached him. She inquired about the programs for stability operations in strengthening the security of the United States and the entire Free World when she started to talk about her son," Specialist Cavert said.

She smiled, he said, and explained how proud she was of U. S. servicemen and how she says a prayer for them every night. Then shaking his hand she handed him the crumpled money and raced for the crowd.

Estes Decision Model For High Court Rulings

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Supreme Court would be better understood, and more easily, if all its opinions were like the one it gave this week in the case of Billie Sol Estes.

The court overturned his conviction at a Texas state trial on a swindling charge because the proceedings were televised against his wishes.

It was a tight decision, 5 to 4, but was one of the clearest, simplest and best organized the court has ever handed down, even though some people reading it, including the dissenting justices, don't agree with the conclusions.

In addition, and this was almost startling, the decision and the basic reason for it were summed up in the first paragraph. Finding the decision in an opinion is often like searching in a labyrinth.

Opened With Decision

The court, having opened with its decision, then sketched in the background and circumstances of the trial and went on from there in progressive and related steps to show how and why it made up its mind.

And, wonder of wonders, the opinion was almost totally free of legal jargon and citations of other cases One reason may have been that this was the first time the court had ruled on the effect of television at a trial.

The court reasoned that televising his trial deprived Estes of a right guaranteed by the 14th Amendment due process of law which, in this case meant a fair trial.

Does this mean there won't be any more televised trials in this country? The answer is probably yes for a long time. Television cameras already are barred from federal courts.

One Case Only

Estes was tried in a state court. The Supreme Court, sticking as usual to the case at hand, didn't explicitly say its verdict here would apply to some future televised trial.

It's possible that in some other case, under other circumstances, the Supreme Court might not rule the same way.

But the explanation it gave for its action in the Estes case covered so much ground — particularly the psychological effect of television cameras — that no state judge is likely to risk a rebuff by permitting television in his courtroom.

Television coverage of the Estes proceedings was handled two ways and the Supreme Court, in the opinion delivered by Justice Tom Clark, condemned both.

First, there was a two-day pretrial hearing in September 1962, before the trial started in October Estes' lawyers asked that telecasting, radio broadcasting and news photography be barred

The trial judge turned down this plea. What followed, judging from the court's opinion, must have been a hubbub

The court said "The courtroom was a mass of wires, television cameras, microphones and photographers. . . cables and wires were snaked across the courtroom floor, three microphones were on the judge's bench, and others were beamed at the jury box and the counsel table."

When the actual trial began Oct. 22 television and newsreel cameramen — because the judge by then had second thoughts — were restricted to a booth in the back of the courtroom. But the Supreme Court found this no better.

In this case the Supreme Court ran into a conflict of two rights the right of a defendant to a fair trial and the right of the public to know what's going on.

The court reasoned the public right is protected because newsmen and television and radio reporters are allowed in court but, the court pointed out, this doesn't mean they can bring printing presses or television cameras along.

But most of Clark's opinion, in justifying the decision, dwelt on the "impact" of television cameras in a courtroom on jurors, witnesses, the judge, and the defendant

Clark said: "A defendant on trial for a specific crime is entitled to his day in court, not in a stadium or a city or a nationwide arena . . .

"It is said that the ever-advancing technique of public communications and the adjustment of the public to its presence may bring about a change in the effect of telecasting upon the fairness of criminal trials

"But we are not dwelling here on future developments in the field of electronics Our judgment cannot be rested on the hypothesis of tomorrow but must take the facts as they are presented today"

If the majority of Supreme Court opinions had the lucidity of this one the high tribunal — particularly the present one, one of the strongest, and most courageous in American history — would be better understood and appreciated

Malfunctions Fail to Dull Gemini Lustre

Balky Computer, Console Fire and Stuck Elevator

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A balky computer on Gemini 4 and a stuck elevator failed to dim the premiere performance of the Houston Mission Control Center.

The multimillion-dollar control point for space flights took over for the first time during Gemini 4's 62-orbit mission. Previous missions were handled from Cape Kennedy

"It has worked better than anybody had reason to expect," Christopher C. Kraft Jr., mission director, told astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H White II. "We're really pleased with the way the center is working"

No Computer

As a result of the spacecraft computer that refused to compute, Gemini 4 was brought back to earth in the same manner as Mercury spacecraft, with no computers

Only a few persons knew about the troubles of James Tumberland, operations and procedures officer, in the new control center

First, Tumberland's modern electronic control console caught fire, and the small flame had to be snuffed out with an old-fashioned fire extinguisher.

Tumberland's bad luck followed him to the elevator, where he notified the control room he could be reached at a certain extension. "Where's that?" he was asked. "In the front elevator," Tumberland replied "It's stuck."

The auditorium-style control room is illuminated by dim light —to prevent fatigue-inducing glare — which adds to the mystery of the rows of gadget-laden consoles manned by the nation's top space experts.

The austere air does not hide the sense of humor of the men.

"Keep out of the reach of children," reads a label pasted on Kraft's console.

Above the label is a large toggle switch which could stop any space launch

Kraft also has a cartoon pasted on the console

The cartoon depicts a hep astronaut with a jazzy appearance saying, "Like where, man, is that pad?"

Knowles Cites Publicity

UW Policies, Freedom Challenged, Grads Told

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin 1965 graduating class was told today that serious challenges face the university's environment of intellectual freedom and the faculty's salary level.

In obvious reference to recent picketing demonstrations on the Madison campus and legislative efforts to reduce proposed pay increases for faculty members, Arthur DeBardeleben of Park Falls, president of the UW regent board, said:

"Because the maintenance of these policies, (freedom and adequate salaries) which are responsible more than any others for giving this university its great strength, are under serious challenge we ask your support."

Gov. Warren P. Knowles also referred to student demonstrations in civil rights and against the administration's Viet Nam policy and said:

Winter Discontent

"You know better than anyone else that the unfavorable publicity which the university received during our past winter of discontent in no way describes the work that the vast majority of you have accomplished."

He urged students not to "be afraid to speak out in defense of this great institution of learning."

The university's 112th commencement was held in Camp Randall stadium before crowd of 18,000. Degrees were awarded to 3,400.

Honorary degrees were granted to six.

William R. Kellett of Menasha, an official and inventor at the Kimberly-Clark Corp. of Neenah for 41 years, received a doctor of science degree.

Honor Degrees

Others honored:

W. Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Labor, doctor of laws award;

Prof. Arthur Clay Cope, head of the department of chemistry, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, doctor of science award;

Stanley Kuhl Horenbeck, U.S ambassador to the Netherlands, the doctor of laws award;

Dr. Karl Menninger, head of the Menninger School of Psychiatry in Topeka, Kan., doctor of science;

Sewal Wright, Madison researcher in genetics, doctor of science.

Writz addressed a study audience Sunday.

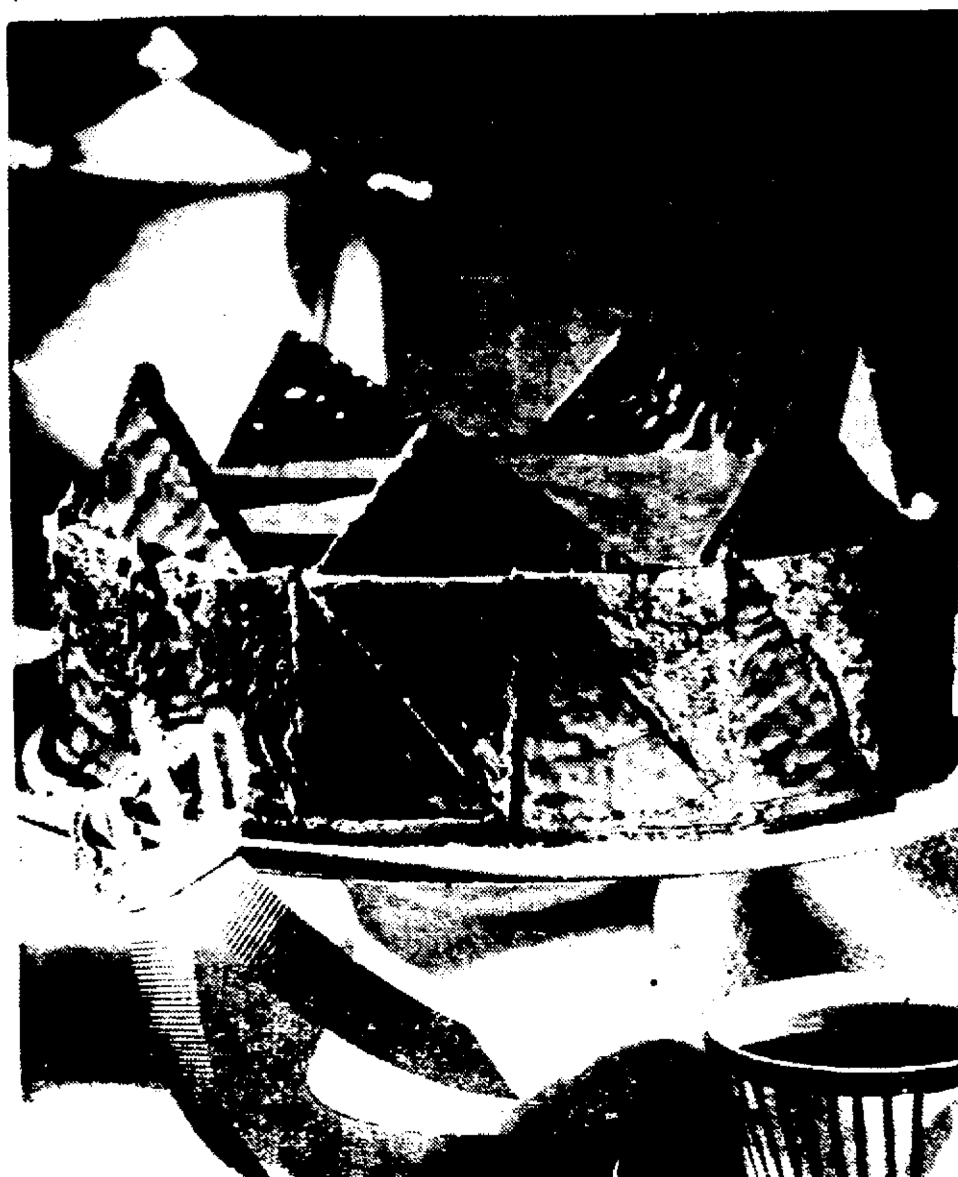
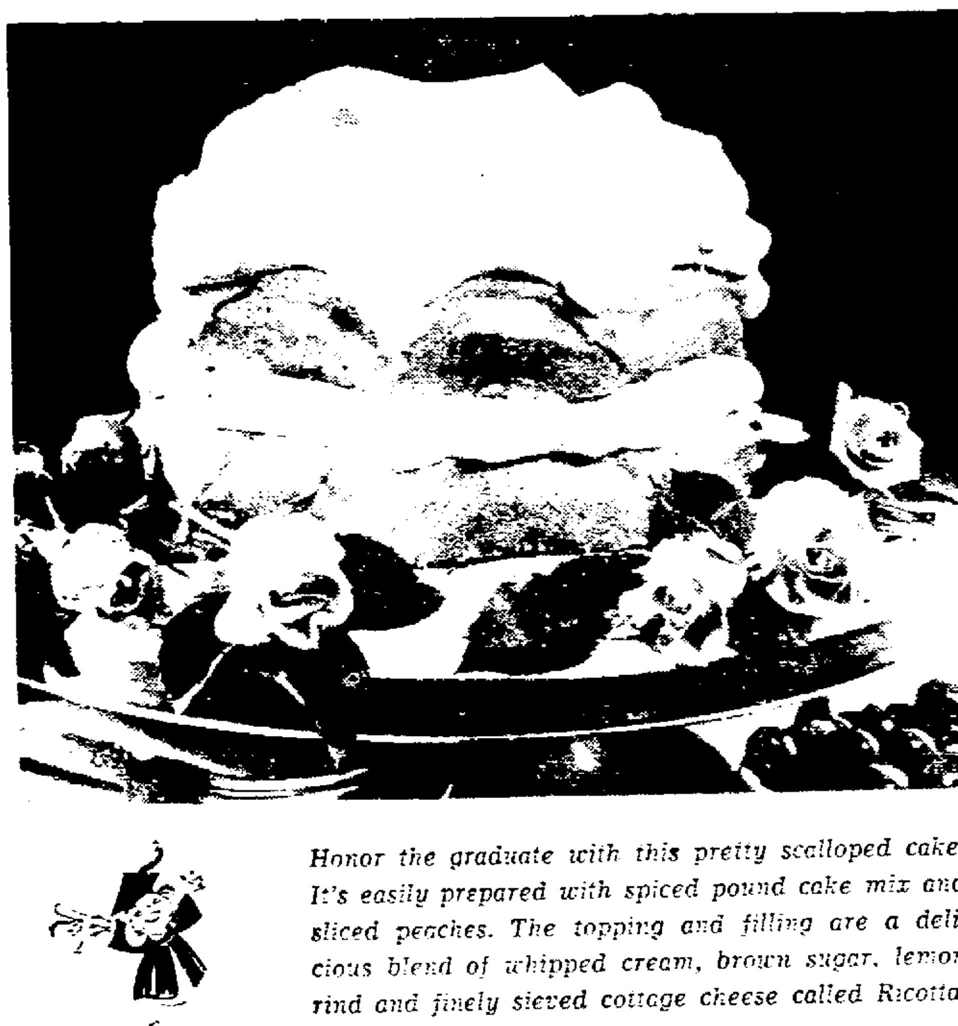
Cakes Big and Small for Red Letter Days

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor



Any father would be pleased with this delightful "crown" cake on his once-a-year day . . . June 20 this year. Complete with its trim of chocolate covered graham crackers, this creamy chocolate dessert is really fit for a king.



Honor the graduate with this pretty scalloped cake. It's easily prepared with spiced pound cake mix and sliced peaches. The topping and filling are a delicious blend of whipped cream, brown sugar, lemon rind and finely sieved cottage cheese called Ricotta.

A red white and blue dessert such as these tender Fruit Fluff Cookie Tarts can give a patriotic touch to dinner on Flag Day. Spiced shortbread tart shells are swirled high with a light fluffy filling studded with juicy red strawberries and plump blueberries.

For the bridal shower . . . or informal wedding reception . . . these luscious puffy-light Coffee Kisses are superb. Actually they are any-occasion fare because they go beautifully with any beverage, such as iced coffee on a hot afternoon.

Most people don't think of June as a month of celebrations . . . but it certainly has its share of red letter days. There's the patriotic one June 14 . . . Flag Day with its area celebration complete with parade on the preceding Saturday, June 12.

There's Father's Day Sunday, June 20, that looms very large as a special event and has been a VIP occasion ever since the custom began in 1910 when Americans decided to pinpoint June's third Sunday as the day to honor the male parent in the family.

Then, of course, June long has been the traditional month for weddings, giving rise to the "June bride" designation. When weddings are on the calendar, so are the bridal showers which precede them.

June also is the month for graduations . . . for the end of school and the beginning of the summer vacation for youngsters. Sunday School groups have their picnics . . . churches begin their summer schedules and usually have some sort of outing. This is the month for trips and parties for homemakers' clubs and the wind-up teas, dinners or buffets for bridge clubs and other women's groups.

Truly, June is a busy social month and to make the various special occasions more memorable, here is a collection of cake recipes suitable for just such events. They're matched to specific days, but the recipes really are the popular "mixmatch" variety.

CHOCOLATE CROWN CAKE

- 15 ounces cottage cheese
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon finely grated orange rind
- 2 tablespoons sliced toasted almonds
- 4 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
- ¼ cup water
- 11 chocolate covered graham crackers
- 6 ounces semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons instant coffee
- ¾ cup evaporated milk
- 5 eggs, separated
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine cottage cheese, tablespoon sugar, orange rind and sliced almonds; refrigerate. Soften gelatin in cold water.

Cut crackers in half diagonally. Using 13 or 14 halves, arrange against side of buttered 9-inch spring form pan, placing the longest uncut edge parallel to base.

In top of double boiler, over hot but not boiling water, melt the chocolate with butter, instant coffee and milk. Remove from heat. Cool briefly, then stir in beaten egg yolks. Return to heat; cook, stirring for one minute. Remove from heat again; add softened gelatin and stir to dissolve. Transfer mixture to large bowl.

Beat egg whites with salt until foamy. Add sugar and beat until stiff, but not dry.

Fold whipped cream into chocolate mixture; then fold in beaten egg whites. Pour half of mixture into cookie-lined pan. Freeze for 10 minutes to give support to bottom layer in order to hold cheese layer.

Lightly spread refrigerated cheese layer over chocolate layer. Pour remaining chocolate on top. Chill overnight.

To serve, remove sides of pan. Arrange eight cracker halves, cut side down, around outer edge of filling to resemble a crown. Make a shallow slit in filling to secure each cracker in position. Recipe makes 10 to 12 servings.

FRUIT FLUFF COOKIE TARTS

- 40 shortbread cookies, finely rolled
- 1 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- ¼ cup butter, melted
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 3 eggs, separated
- ¾ cup water
- ⅓ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 1 cup sliced strawberries
- 1 cup blueberries

Blend shortbread crumbs with allspice, nutmeg, cinnamon and melted butter. Divide this crumb mixture into 12 standard sized paper-lined cupcake cups. Press firmly against sides and bottom with spoon. Place in freezer while preparing filling.

Soften gelatin in lemon juice. Cook egg yolk, water and one-third cup sugar until mixture just comes to a boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in softened gelatin and grated lemon rind. Cool until mixture mounds slightly.

Add salt to egg whites; beat until foamy. Gradually beat in three tablespoons sugar; continue beating until stiff peaks form.

Beat cooled gelatin mixture with rotary beater until smooth. Fold in beaten egg whites and whipped cream. Then, gently fold in strawberries and blueberres. Mound into prepared cupcake cups. Refrigerate until set. Recipe makes 12 servings.

SCALLOPED PEACH CAKE

- 1 can peach halves, drained well (1-lb., 13-oz. can)
- ¼ teaspoon ground mace
- ¼ teaspoon ground cardamon
- 1 pkg. Pound Cake Mix
- ¾ cup milk
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1½ teaspoons finely grated lemon rind
- 3 tablespoons light brown sugar
- 1 cup cottage cheese

Cut peach halves into three slices each. Arrange with tips touching and pit sides against sides of two greased, nine-inch cake pans. Reserve remaining slices for garnish.

Add spices to pound cake mix and prepare according to label directions. Pour batter into prepared cake pans. (Do not spread over peaches.) Bake in a preheated, 325-degree oven 40 to 45 minutes or until cake springs back when lightly touched in center. Cool in pans or on wire racks for 10 minutes. Remove from pans; invert on cake rack and flip back.

When layers are cold, whip cream in a chilled bowl until very stiff. Fold in grated lemon rind, brown sugar and finely sieved cottage cheese. Spread half between layers, put together, and remainder on top of cake. Garnish with reserved peach slices. Recipe makes one 9-inch layer cake.

COFFEE KISSES

- 2 egg whites
- 1⅓ cups sugar
- 2 tablespoons instant coffee powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup finely chopped walnuts
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites stiff. Combine sugar, instant coffee and salt. Add slowly to beaten egg whites, beating well after each addition. Fold in walnuts and vanilla. Drop by teaspoons on greased baking sheet. Bake in preheated, 325-degree oven for 15 minutes or until golden brown. Recipe makes about 54 kissses..

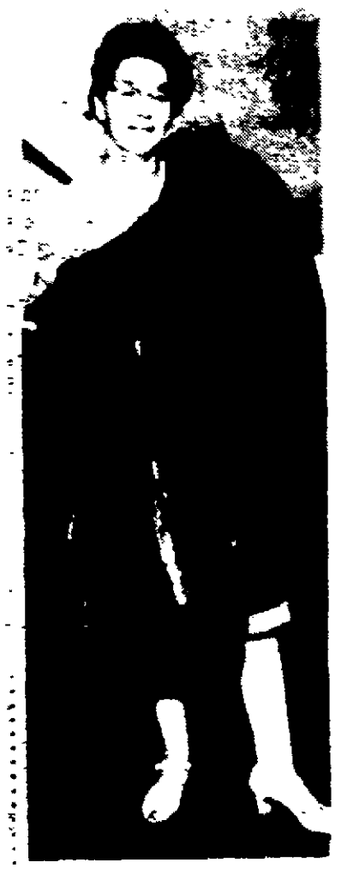
Downer Costume Collection Given to Wisconsin State Historical Society

BY MARGUERITE SCHUMANN
Of Lawrence University

Historic Fashions Were Part of School's Home Economics Department

A moving van from the State Historical Society of Wisconsin rolled out of Appleton one day last week, and with it went a century-long tradition of home economics at Milwaukee-Downer College.

In the van was the collection of historic costumes that has long been the pride of the Downer home economics department—136 dresses dating from 1830 to 1960; 241 accessories (hats, gloves, laces, scarves, shoes, jewelry, handkerchiefs and umbrellas); 36 pieces of lingerie dating from 1850 to 1930; 36 children's garments; 30 articles of Indian, Mexican and South American workmanship; several coverlets circa 1830; and the most treasured of the group—a full-length tipped mink cape originally shown at the Chicago World's Fair in the gay '90s.



Mrs. Helen Trader holds the tipped mink cape that was originally shown at the Chicago World's Fair in the 1890s. It is the most treasured of the items that have been sent to the Historical Society.

The costumes will fill in some gaps in the state collection; duplicates will be distributed to Wisconsin's various historical houses for display there.

"Every bit of the collection will be saved for posterity, so people can enjoy them for another hundred years," states Mrs. Helen Trader, assistant professor of home economics.

Basic To Plan

Instruction in home economics was one of the fundamentals of Catharine Beecher's plan for the education of women, when the brilliant, eccentric member of a famous family of 19th century reformers took over the philosophic direction of Milwaukee Female College in the early 1850s. It continued in the curriculum when that institution merged with Downer College of Fox Lake in 1895 to form Milwaukee-Downer College.

Home economics fell victim to the 1964 merger, however, when Downer and Lawrence Colleges combined to form Lawrence University. Part of the consolidation agreement was that home economics and elementary education, both of which fell outside the classic liberal arts curriculum, would be transferred to Appleton on a terminal basis only. This week the termination took place.

Two Finishes

Mrs. Trader, who gallantly came to Appleton to close out the program, smiles: "It's a little like dying twice. But I had my professional responsibility to my girls."

By doubling her course offerings this year, Mrs. Trader has completed the graduation requirements not only for her two transferring seniors, but for the one junior as well.

In addition, she has attracted Lawrence girls on an elective basis. Clothing 1, for instance, was given solely for eleven Lawrence women from such diverse academic backgrounds as French, mathematics, history, anthropology and theater, who bought or rented their own machines when the institutional supply gave out. Mrs. Trader has high praise for their enthusiasm, and reports that their machines hummed steadily from 8 a.m. "until the secretary threw them out at 4:30."

Had Style Shows

The costume collection, now departed, was one of the most attractive methods of presenting the department's work to the public. Historic style shows, in which the script spoke of social and college history in each successive period, were highlights of the Milwaukee-Downer year. Mrs. Trader notes that she had no trouble fitting modern girls into the tiny waistlines that marked the elaborate, heavy gowns of yesteryear, but the shoulders were another matter. Too many vitamins have been fed to recent generations.

One of Mrs. Trader's favorite pieces of writing is from the pen of Anatole France.

Tells Story

"If I were allowed to choose from the file of books which will be published 100 years after my death, do you know what I would take? I would simply take a fashion magazine so that I could see how women dress one century after my departure, and this would tell me more about humanity of the future than all the philosophers, novelists, prophets and scholars."

In line with France's statement, Mrs. Trader delights in reading social history from the clothing of a period. The bustle and hoop of the 19th centruy, for instance, were "an unconscious expression of the opinion that large hips produced large families; it emphasized woman's role as a child-bearer."

In 1920, when emancipation inclothing followed emancipation in politics, the womanly hip was de-emphasized. During World War II, when women donned pants for work in factories, they began "a cultural confusion between men's and women's roles. Today as many women work in the yard as men work in the laundry and kitchen," she feels.

Age Of Rebellion

In the skin-tight clothing favored by many adolescents today Mrs. Trader reads, "the age of explosion—their rebellion against conformity and traditional sexual standards."

After a life in Wisconsin, Mrs. Trader will pack her files this summer and move to the State University College of Education at Oneonta, N. Y., where she will be one of a staff of eleven home economists teaching 300 students. She will handle textiles and clothing on the upperclass levels, and teach master's candidates in summer school.

Hats, Scarves, Shoes, Jewelry and umbrellas all had to be carefully packed before leaving Lawrence University last week. Mrs. Helen Trader, assistant professor of home economics while Lawrence terminated the former Downer program, will teach at the State University College of Education, Oneonta, N. Y., next year.

Washtub Surface Is Porous

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: After years of use, the glaze has now worn off the inside of my concrete stationary wash tubs. How can I renew this surface? At present it's very rough on laundry.

A: Most difficult part of this job is getting every scrap of soap film off. No matter what coating you apply, it won't stick unless the concrete is absolutely clean. In other words, don't spare the hot water, the cleaning powder and the elbow grease. One or two coats of an epoxy-type paint or so-called liquid tile will give an excelent surface. Your paint dealer can obtain these for you if he doesn't already stock at least one of them.

Q: While the cover of an upholstered chair I was given is still perfectly good, it doesn't go with the rest of the room. Is there any way to change the shade?

A: At any supermarket or housewares store you can get products for coloring upholstery. Some are sprays, some are liquids which you brush on. While they are very good, one thing they can't do: they can't make a dark shade lighter. They're fine for brightening up a color which has faded, or make it darker, however. Also, it's highly recommended that you experiment on scrap material, so you know what the final result will be when one color is applied over another. For example, blue over yellow is apt to come out with a slight greenish tint.

Cold Soup Garnish

Cold-soup time is around the corner. If you use the canned variety of jellied madrilene, give it an interesting garnish. Add finely chopped cucumber folded into salted whipped cream, paprika-sprinkled sour cream.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

GLUTTON FOR PUNISHMENT

Dear Louise: Friends of mine have a daughter who was married in April. They had a large reception with all kinds of food which was served buffet style. Instead of having it catered, the mother made out a menu and asked friends to prepare the dishes at their homes. I agreed to make 300 stuffed cabbage leaves but little did I realize what I was in for. I have come to the conclusion that such requests are impositions. After I got home from work the day before the wedding, I began preparations and didn't finish until 4 o'clock in the morning, then had to get up at 7 to be on time for work. Imagine how I felt and looked when I turned up at the reception that evening. I wasn't too happy about agreeing in the beginning but how could I have said no without offending the mother?

Louise Davis Answers:

If the bride's mother had been thoughtful of you, knowing that you are employed, she wouldn't have asked you to do the job. You were at fault by consenting to take on such a task for anyone, even for your sister or your closest friend. You could have asked the mother if she couldn't think of someone else because you would have to stay up so late and had to get to work in the morning at the usual time. Naturally you would have told her that you would have been delighted to help if you could have managed the time.

Don't Take Finesse in Wrong Suit

The classic reason for climbing a mountain is "Because it's there." Don't adopt the same attitude toward finesses, think of your partner's blood pressure.

South won the first trick in dummy with the ace of spades and lost the heart finesse to the king. West returned a club through dummy's king, trying a finesse of his own and giving his partner two club tricks at once. East eventually got a diamond trick as well, defeating the contract.

South had to try the diamond finesse sooner or later, but the heart finesse was quite unnecessary. If West had the king of hearts, it would be fatal to let him win an early trick with it.

'and if East had the king of hearts South could make his contract without taking the finesse.

Lead Ace

South should win the first trick with the king of spades and lead the ace of hearts, not even making a gesture in the direction of a trump finesse. If the king of hearts should drop, well and good: when it does not drop, South leads the ten of diamonds for a finesse.

East wins with the king of diamonds but cannot take enough tricks to defeat the contract since he cannot get two club tricks from his side of the table. If East returns a spade to dummy's ace (as good a defense as any), declarer runs the diamonds.

South discards a club on the third diamond while West follows suit. South discards another club on the fourth diamond, while West ruffs with the king of trumps. The defenders can then get only one club trick, and South is safe.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold ♠ A 9, ♡ 9 8 5 4, ◇ A Q J 9 5, ♣ K 7. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. You can bid game in notrump next, even though the hearts are not really stopped. Bid the diamonds first, giving partner time to supply more information. If he bids hearts you can go to game in hearts instead of in notrump.

Foam Pillows Can Be Washed, Dried

Polyurethane foam pillows are best washed by hand in warm soap or detergent suds.

Just compress each pillow with your palms in an up and down motion to create an ebb-and-flow of suds. Or force suds through the pillow with a plumber's plunger. If the cover is extra soiled, scrub it with thick suds on a soft brush. Then rinse thoroughly.

These pillows can be safely tumble-dried at any dryer setting, or may be air-dried after pressing out excess moisture between towels. Allow plenty of time, as plastic foam dries slowly.

Veal in Salad

There will probably be some meat leftover if you have served a veal shoulder roast. To use it, you may heat slices in gravy or dice the meat and add it to diced celery and apple for a hearty salad. If you prepare the salad, add French dressing (instead of mayonnaise) and serve on crisp greens.

Marriage Vows Saturday

Miss Eileen Mary Giovanni, Brookline, Mass., and Terry Anthony Dorschner, Boston, Mass., repeated wedding promises at Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Pomfret, Conn. The double ring ceremony at 11:30 a.m. today was performed by the Rev. Harry Dooley, chaplain at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Giovanni, Pomfret. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Hayden Owen, Green Bay, and Garold J. Dorschner, Menasha.

Attending the bride were Mrs. William Plummer, Arlington, Mass., as matron of honor, and Miss Patricia M. Carey and Miss Kathleen M. Giovanni, bridesmaids.

The bridegroom chose Edmund L. Burke, Boston, as best man. Kenneth Morash was

The newlyweds were honored at a reception at The Stables, Putnam, Conn.

Mrs. Dorschner, a graduate of Simmons College, Boston, has been an analytical chemist in the Harvard Medical School Research Laboratory. Mr. Dorschner, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will attend the University of Wisconsin, Madison, graduate school in the fall. This summer he will work for the U. S. Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

Top Students Guests of Honor At White House

BY G. K. HODENFIELD

WASHINGTON (AP) — A handshake, a smile and a medal from President Johnson in the historic East Room of the White House. A buffet dinner on the South Lawn with Luci Baines Johnson as hostess. Heroes galore and entertainment under the soft light of the moon.

It added up to the biggest night ever in the lives of 120 of the nation's brightest youngsters.

There was Nantelle Smith of Enterprise, Ala., first of the presidential scholars to cross the small stage to where the President stood.

"I was so nervous I didn't even know where I was going," she said later.

But she knew what she was going for — she clutched the box holding the medal for dear life.

No Sleep Time

Jane Grayson was perhaps the most tired of the scholars. Jane was valedictorian of her graduating class at Miami Beach, Fla., senior High Monday night. She caught a midnight flight to Washington, and found no time nor desire to sleep.

"This is all so wonderful," she said. "Just wonderful. I'll sleep some other time."

The boy from the big city looked southward across the South Lawn to where the Jefferson Memorial was bathed in a soft glow of light, whistled under his breath and said, "Boy, this is the prettiest back yard I've ever seen."

The youngsters were front and center in the East Room, where President Johnson told them, "The life of your land is in good hands as its destiny passes, as it will, into your hands."

Their parents — all of whom have today a new definition of the word proud — sat behind them. Jammed around the walls stood distinguished guests from all walks of life.

When the party moved outdoors, the youngsters brought to Washington for honor and praise paid homage themselves to heroes of their own.

Heroes Galore

They clustered around Col. John H. Glenn Jr., America's first orbiting astronaut. They sought the autograph of former baseball star Stan Musial, Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the polio vaccine, stage and screen star Jason Robards Jr., and authors John O'Hara and Barbara Tuchman.

With the wonderful unawareness of youth, one lad approached O'Hara, shook hands, and said, "Mr. O'Hara, I'd just like to say you write very well."

The special heroes of the presidential scholars were two young men close to their own age, All-America basketball star Bill Bradley of Princeton, and Don Schollander, four-time gold medalist on the 1964 U.S. Olympic swimming team.

Bradley and Schollander, along with the President's daughter, Luci, appeared to have never a free moment.

WINNECONNE — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Metzig will observe their golden wedding anniversary at an Open House from 2 to 9 p.m. Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Nelson, their daughter and son-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Metzig were married June 15, 1915, at the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Town of Clayton. Mrs. Nelson is their only child. They also have three grandchildren.

University Tells College Week Plans

The 600 women back in college at the University of Wisconsin from Tuesday through Thursday have a chance for a cultural lift, a view of international affairs or a look at their job potential.

In 24 seminars that meet for three sessions and 12 classes that meet for a single session women from all over the state are choosing a direction for their interests.

If they have selected the cultural area they may plan a lifetime reading program, learn appreciation of the arts, learn a creative approach to crafts, study music appreciation or do creative writing.

Topics of international scope spotlight Africa, Pakistan and the research work being done in the Antarctic by the Geophysical and Polar research Center at the University.

Opportunity to look at job availability, and training and retraining needs are offered. How to finance education beyond high school is another consideration.

A look at state historical sites, names and places, an air tour of interesting views, Wisconsin bird life, the land form and water features of the state all help give a roundup of state potential for tourism and enjoyment.

Women attending the second annual College Week for Women program are staying in Chadbourne Hall dormitory with most of the meetings held in the Wisconsin Center and Memorial Union.

Luci's Masquerade Method a Secret

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Luci Baines Johnson, a cinderella in reverse, resumed her glass slipper life Tuesday after winning a weekend wish "to be for just one time like everyone else."

She danced in disguise at the Marquette University graduation prom, went for a picnic in the Wisconsin countryside, and rode on the floors of cars as she played hide-and-seek with a pursuing public.

"It was a mad game," said the President's 17 - year - old daughter as she reappeared at the White House functions Tuesday.

The elusive Luci was confronted by newsmen at the Friday night prom but was not recognized, the Milwaukee Sentinel said in a story from Washington by staff reporter Marian McBride.

Didn't Tell

"I was there all evening and I talked to several reporters. They all kept asking me where Luci Johnson was, but I didn't lie — I just evaded answering directly," Luci was quoted as saying.

Luci kept many details of her Wisconsin weekend a secret and told the Sentinel, "If a girl goes to all that trouble and possibly, once in her life, wants to be on her own and have a good time, why ruin it by telling how I did it?

"Let's just say I used a lot of disguises," she said.

The mystery girl at the dance wore a silver - blonde wig. Father Leonard Piotrowski, S. J., said she was introduced to him under the "nom de plum" of Miss Amy Nunn from "just outside Austin, Texas."

Waukegan Boy

The black - haired Luci confirmed her date had been Patrick J. Nugent, a Marquette senior from Waukegan, Ill. Nugent was the escort of the wigged will-o'-the wisp at the dance. He could not be reached for comment Tuesday night.

Milwaukee newspapers quoted a Marquette official Saturday as saying he recognized Luci in an elevator and the President's younger daughter told the Sentinel Tuesday:

"I almost quit Saturday morning.... I was born into this kind of life, but it's not fair to my friends. I was just in tears Saturday morning when I read I'd been seen at the prom....

"But I called my date and he said, 'No, honey, you can't give up now.'"

Luci said she attended Roman Catholic mass Sunday morning, went in disguise to Marquette commencement ceremonies as Nugent was graduated, and later partook of a country picnic.

"I rode on the floors of cars to avoid getting caught, kept my head out of sight as much as possible," she said.

Avoided Friends

She said she avoided "the friends you expected me to be with." Beth Jenkins, Luci's close friend and daughter of former presidential assistant Walter Jenkins, is a Marquette coed. She left Monday for Indianapolis for her own vacation.

Luci had flown with her father to Chicago Thursday night and returned Monday night to the White House. She was hostess for meetings with presidential scholars and 4 - H club leaders Tuesday.

"I'm never alone. I'm always with adults and although they're great, it's kind of difficult to do it forever," she said.

"I don't want to run, play games, outsmart people, or give people a hard time," she told the Sentinel.

"I did it because I wanted to be for just one time like everyone else and have a good time."

ALL ABOUT FOOD

Buying Raw Shrimp

Raw shrimp come fresh and frozen and although they range in color from green-gray to brownish-red, they are often called "green shrimp." When cooked they differ little in flavor or appearance.

Shrimp come in many sizes, from jumbo with 15 or less to a lb. to small with as many as 100 to a lb.

A lb. of raw shrimp makes 1/2 lb. of cleaned, cooked shrimp or enough for 3 to 4 servings.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

A beautiful tan is nature's own cosmetic. But ironically it cannot be acquired without several manmade aids.

First among them of course is a reliable suntan lotion. Use in the initial stages of tanning prevents the pain, skin damage and boiled lobster effect of a burn.

Thereafter, lotion applications before sunning help to keep your skin soft, lustrous and golden. Thus you skirt the danger of ending up with the look of a weather-beaten lifeguard. That's for boys, not for lovelies!

Besides screening out burning sun rays, good suntan lotions offer all sorts of bonuses. Most are moisturized, some are tinted in sun-bronze shade, others promote a fast tan. New among foams, packaged in slender aerosols. The foaming action makes for smooth application and quick absorption.

Protection for the skin, however, is not the end-all of a tanning program. To ward off searing dryness, the lips need a cover. Usually a moisturized lipstick, topped with a coating of lip glace or lip highlight, makes an effective sun screen. A very pretty one, too!

For extra-sensitive lips, a hypo-allergenic sunstick, colored or clear, comes highly recommended. An eye oil stick, filmed onto lids and circles, is a threat to squint lines and a boost to shimmer.

And shimmer is the key to ideal tanned beauty.

Over-Meticulous Wife Worse Than Sloppy One, Man Says

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife is Pennsylvania Dutch. They are supposed to be the cleanest people on the face of the earth and my wife is determined to prove it. In the meantime the kids and I are like in jail. Our carpets have never been walked on. She has knitted booties in all sizes for everybody. Every person who comes into our home has to park his shoes by the door.

Nobody has ever seen our lovely furniture because my wife has draped sheets over everything. If you offered me $10 right now to tell you the color of our sofa I couldn't do it.

I don't expect an answer because this is one person for which there is no solution. I just want to print my letter so the guys with sloppy wives will realize that maybe they haven't got it so bad after all.—Germ Free

Dear Germ: Your wife is more than neat. She has strudel in the noodle. My condolences to you and the kids.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the mother of a 17-year-old boy. Last night he came home dead drunk. I don't know where he got the stuff but I am to find out. When I do, somebody is going to be slapped with an arrest for selling liquir to a minor.

My husband and I have tried to raise this boy to be a fine citizen. We go to church together every Sunday and set a good example. What are parents to do, Ann, when their children go off the track?

What makes kids want to drink? Surely they don't need a lift. Most teen-agers have so much energy they don't know what to do with it. Must someone get killed in an automobile accident before they learn that alcohol can be deadly?

To our knowledge this is the first time our son has ever touched liquor. How can we be sure it will be the last? — Heartsick Mother

Dear Mother: You can never be sure, no matter what you do or say. There are no easy answers or sure-fire solutions to this one.

If you lined up six teen-agers who drink and asked them, "Why do you drink?" you could get six different answers.

Screaming, threatening and harsh punishment are not, in my opinion, effective methods of dealing with the problem.

Landers

This closes the arteries of communication. Parents should let their children know they love them, trust them and have faith in them. Children who are brought up to think well of themselves usually turn out to be the kind of people others will think well of, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was stopped cold by the letter from "Just Dora" whose boy friend spent the magnificent sum of $1.10 on her in the 10 months they went together. I must be dating the same man. There can't be two.

I have spent whole days with Ed and he never so much as asked if I was hungry. Once I became faint and wanted to stop for a cup of coffee. He said, "We're almost at your place. The coffee you fix is much better than the mud you get in the cafes."

Last winter I sprained my ankle on the way home from a free art show. I wanted to take a bus but Ed, "We're only six blocks from your place. Walking is the best thing for a sprain. It strengthens the muscles."

The letter in your column made me see my own situation clearly and I am dropping this creep as of now. What burns me up is that I was so dumb for so long. Thanks, Ann. — Blind as a Bat

Dear Bat: Congratulations on good riddance. As a farewell gesture why not give Ed a piggy bank?

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teen-age drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-Age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Parents' World

Mother Who Slaps Child In Need of Counselling

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: Can't it hurt a baby to be slapped in the face for every little thing he does? The woman next door is having troubles with her husband, so I guess she's taking it out on her baby. She hauls off and slaps him hard for reaching for something or if he doesn't sit still. When I said it would hurt him, she said he's too young to understand and remember, and that she just can't help herself right now.

Dr. Jones

DEAR K. A.: Tell her to go to the agency whose address is being sent to you. The professional staff people there can help her learn to handle her tension about her marriage in a better way than by batting a baby around.

You're right — this can be dangerous. Her baby can be killed or can be crippled physically and emotionally by this kind of brutal treatment. She needs to stop this immediately — if not, ask the agency to help remove the baby from this home.

DEAR DR. JONES: Please help my daughter-in-law. She's unable to train my granddaughter who is almost 2½ years old and who can talk very clearly. When she stayed with me for three weeks, she would tell me she had to use the toilet two or three times in the morning. But she'd lose interest in telling me later in the day. She doesn't tell her mother at all. And it would be such a help if she would tell her as there is another baby girl in the house, just a few months old. Thank you.

DEAR MRS. J. T.: Your granddaughter is at the age when most children want to use the toilet independently. She's probably holding back because she resents your efforts to make her ask permission to use it or pretend she needs your help. (She may even be angry because she senses that you're trying to use her to prove to her mother that you're the boss over their household!)

No child should be cheated of her right to be her age because she has a younger sister. Once your granddaughter is certain that her mother is protecting her right to grow and develop at her own speed, she'll probably relax enough to develop her natural independence, not only about toileting, but about many other activities that can otherwise become the focus of a power struggle. Let them work this out on their own.

Test Tube Babies Possible By 1984, Claims Geneticist

Professor Does Not, However, Predict Growing Babies in Bottles

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The beginnings of test tube babies? Sperm and egg banks for delayed procreation? A license to have children? All by 1984?

Possibly, says a geneticist—Dr. Bentley Glass, Johns Hopkins University professor of biology who recently was named academic vice president of the State University of New York at Stony Brook, N Y

An AP Special Report

Glass emphasized in a recent interview he was not forecasting that "you can grow babies in bottles" in the next 20 years.

But he envisions growing test-tube human embryos for a reproduction process he calls "prenatal adoption."

A female egg would be fertilized by sperm in a laboratory culture The resulting human embryo would be nurtured in the laboratory up to 10 days and then implanted in a woman's uterus to mature and be born—in the conventional manner.

Not Genetic Child

"The offspring would not be the genetic child of the couple," Glass said, since both the egg and the sperm would be taken from donors.

Glass considers "prenatal adoption" superior to regular adoption and to artificial insemination for couples who could not normally have children.

In artificial insemination, the fertile wife is made pregnant by a donor sperm.

In prenatal adoption, both husband and wife are equally not responsible genetically and yet the pregnancy and birth resemble the natural process so much that it would "produce the same kind of parental reaction," Glass thinks.

He believes this is possible within 20 years.

"Within two decades it will be possible to take material from selected individuals and grow supplies" of donor male sperm and female eggs and mate them, he said.

"I believe the creation of life in this matter is ethical," said Glass, who is the son of Baptist missionaries.

Reproductive Cells

"The real problems come in the choice of reproductive cells. How do you know a good strain from a bad one?

"Should you place emphasis on intelligence? But how does one measure another very important human quality—drive?" he asked.

"Some of the greatest scientists may have been of average intelligence, but they have had something else.

"Another matter is integrity, which doesn't seem to have anything to do with genetics."

The prospect presents moral questions. For example, would it be murder to destroy a human embryo grown in a laboratory?

Some theologians have sidestepped the question by saying that "Life does not begin with conception but with implantation," Glass said, and that before an embryo is human life it "must become implanted in the uterus of a mother."

Glass also thinks the storing of sperms and eggs for future artificial mating will be possible within the next two decades, and perhaps desirable as a general practice.

The radiation one normally absorbs through the years causes mutations in the genes, which can result in deformed children, he said.

Gene Mutation

Birth control enables some couples to wait until they can afford children. While their bank account grows, so do the gene mutations.

"To avoid this, sperm and egg banks could be established for every individual," Glass said.

Glass suggested that before the century is out, couples in some overpopulated countries may be issued licenses to have a limited number of babies, along with their marriage licenses

Penalties would be invoked if a couple exceeded its legal limit

"The penalties might be graduated in severity the final one, perhaps, compulsory sterilization," Glass said.

"I expect my colleagues would not think this would be a wise measure. I'm not sure it would be wise, either. But some countries may be pressed by hard circumstances to do this

"We must begin thinking We must come to grips with all these things before the problems come on us in full severity and before measures are adopted without consideration of all alternatives," he said.

Seaway Use Up, but Fees Still Short

Revenues Disallow Catching Up on Debt, Corporate Head Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tonnage on the St. Lawrence Seaway is up but income from tolls still isn't enough to catch up with all payments due the Treasury, a House Appropriations subcommittee was told in testimony made public today.

The testimony came from Joseph H. McCann, head of the St Lawrence Seaway Corp., which operates the Atlantic Ocean Great Lakes waterway.

McCann told the subcommittee in a closed hearing that shipments on the seaway rose to 39.3 million tons in 1964, a 27 per cent increase over the 1963 total of 30.9 million tons, which in turn was 5 million tons above the 1962 figure.

In 1964, McCann said, the corporation earned $5 6 million, a 25 per cent increase over 1963. A total of $4 million was repaid to the Treasury, he said, bringing total payments to date to $15 1 million.

Short of Anticipation

But, he said, the corporation was short last year of the anticipated return to the Treasury by $800,000. The seaway debt is currently $140.4 million, of which $17.1 million is unpaid interest and $123 3 million is outstanding in bonds.

"I do not know whether current tolls and traffic levels will allow us to catch up with our debt," McCann said. "That is still being considered by our tolls committee."

The seaway, completed in 1959, was constructed jointly by the United States and Canada under an arrangement calling for payment of its cost and operating expenses from tolls on shipping.

McCann said he expects shipments on the seaway to top 50 million tons a year by the early 1970s and eventually go to 60 million tons a year.

He said he wants to keep the tolls as low as possible, consistent with good business practice.

Brown Enshrined, Parker Feted by 1,000-Yard Club

Club Gives $2,500 to Youth Units

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Several hundred Fox Cities sports fans Tuesday night got a small idea of how Astronaut Ed White felt last week. . they walked among the stars.

Unlike White's space odyssey, more than 100 miles up, the sports devotees did their star-viewing on terra firma—at Sabre Lanes—on the occasion of the 1,000 Yard Club Foundation's second annual banquet.

The most celebrated superstar in the great-firmament was Cleveland's Jim Brown, a notable absentee during the foundation's first big show a year ago. Brown, the most prolific yard-gainer in the National Football League history (10,868 yards in eight seasons) and holder of numerous records, was feted in colorful enshrinement pageantry.

Nine of the previously-enshrined 1,000-Yard Club members were introduced during a spotlight roll call. They are Beattie Feathers, Tony Canadeo, Joe Perry, Rick Casares, J. D. Smith, Jim Taylor, John David Crow, John Henry Johnson and Dick Bass.

These players, together with Brown and Steve Van Buren (who was unable to attend) are the only onces in the long history of the NFL ever to gain 1,000 or more yards rushing in a single season.

Introduces Parker

Green Bay defensive end Willie Davis, proved the showmanship surprise of the evening in introducing Baltimore's Jim Parker, winner of the foundation's first award for the "outstanding blocker."

For a while, said Davis, he thought he was at the wrong banquet. Instead of asking him, "How many yards did you gain?" they asked, "how many yards did you give up?"

Davis reported that someone asked him if Fran Tarkenton would be at the banquet. "He ran 1,000 yards," said Willie. "But I don't know if he netted that much."

Willie said, that as a defen-

Lemm Terms Mental Attitude Important Asset for Gridders

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — The stars of 30 years ago in professional football would be stars today, and the players of today would have been stars 30 years ago. Wally Lemm, coach of the St. Louis football Cardinals, declared at the National 1,000 Yard Club Foundation dinner Tuesday night at the Sabre Lanes.

Lemm explained that Don Hutson was the greatest threat ever to play pro football, and he would have been just as good today as he was then—adding that Jim Brown would have been just as good then as he is today.

"Professional football is a tremendous game played by tremendous players," the Milwaukee native stated. He added that it is becoming more popular and a better game every year and that the players are getting bigger and better all the time." The 190-pound guard of years ago wouldn't have a chance today," he remarked. It is the greatest game in the United States and perhaps in the world."

Mental Attitude

In reflecting on the reason why the 1,000 Yard Club members were great, he pointed out that mental attitude is the most important asset a player can have, that it is the difference between winning and losing. Referring to Jim Parker, who received the first annual blocking award, Lemm said "he has the great attitude or he wouldn't be here tonight."

Dwelling on his statement, Lemm declared that mental attitude has to be built up all week. He recalled that the St. Louis Cardinals of several years ago had tremendous personnel but the mental attitude or the togetherness was missing. Players must have this attitude toward their team and their profession, he explained.

A former coach in the American Football League, Lemm said he couldn't compare the two leagues because he hasn't seen an AFL game in three years.

Braves Belt 4 Homers in 10th, Beat Cubs, 8-2

Sadowski Gains Fourth Victory In Relief Role

CHICAGO (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves cracked four home runs in the top of the tenth Tuesday night to subdue Chicago 8-2.

Joe Torre stroked a two - run home run to left center, Felipe Alou followed with a blast to center, Hank Aaron hammered a two-run shot to left center again, and Gene Oliver parked the next pitch out of sight for the fourth homer.

The outburst gave the Braves' their 11th win in their last 15 games (10 of them on the road. It kept them 3½ games behind Los Angeles in the National League pennant chase.

Pitch Homer

The four homers matched the total hits the Braves were able to amass before the tenth.

Frank Bolling led off with a a single to stretch his hitting streak to seven games. A sacrifice moved him to second before Torre appeared as a pinchhitter for pitcher Bob Sadowski, who gained win in relief.

A walk to Eddie Mathews was sandwiched between Alou's and Aaron's belts. Oliver's homer was followed by a single by Rico Carty, who quickly got thrown out trying to swipe second. Woody Woodward singled for the seventh hit of the inning before the rally was quelled.

Sadowski Now 4-2

Sadowski raised his record to 4-2. He pitched three innings of hitless ball after starter Ken Johnson departed for a pinch hitter in the top of the seventh.

Carty, who doubled in the second, scored the Braves' first run on Johnson's bad hop single. Sandy Alomar, who preceded Johnson with an infield hit, came across on a wild pitch. But Johnson yielded a two-run

Hyndman Gains Third Round

14 Other U. S. Entries Left in British Tourney

PORTHCAWL, Wales (AP) — Bill Hyndman rustled up his 49-year-old bones today and, given a little more lousy British weather, he can be a golf champion in these parts.

The Philadelphia insurance broker went into the third round of the British Amateur Championship. Leading the American contingent of 15 among the remaining 64 entries, he was never more competent in his game, nor confident in his outlook.

At almost a half century, Hyndman would be defying history to win this weeklong marathon. But he hasn't been convinced he can't do it — not after Tuesday's 7 and 6 triumph in which he was one under par for the short distance of his battle and hitting the ball straight down the middle. He beat England's Mike Bills.

"I was third amateur in the Masters at Augusta this year," said Hyndman, "and that was after taking 75 putts in the last two rounds."

Quincy Scores 9-4 Triumph Over Fox Cities

5-Run Inning Snaps Tie; Foxes Collect 11 Hits

QUINCY, Ill. — Fox Cities fell victim to a pair of big innings Tuesday night as the Quincy Cubs swept to a 9-4 triumph. The teams meet in the finale of the two-game series tonight.

The Foxes scored first, counting four runs in the second off Cub starter Ron Paarlberg. With one out, John Sepich singled and stole second. After a walk to Ray Woitkowski, Elmore Hill's single scored Sepich. A passed ball, a walk and consecutive singles by Steve Herman and Ron Perez scored

Woodeshick's Balk Gives Pirates Win

Pittsburgh Downs Houston, 7-6; Dodgers, Reds, Giants Also Win

BY DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Houston's Hal Woodeshick, who used to be National League's safest late inning risk this side of Al McBean, has become accident prone.

The Astros' southpaw relief specialist, who led NL pitchers with 22 saves last year and was a close second to Pittsburgh's McBean for Fireman of the Year laurels, handed the streaking Pirates a 7-6 victory Tuesday night by committing a two-out, bases-loaded balk in the 11th inning.

It was Pittsburgh's fourth straight victory and 16th in the last 18 starts, vaulting the Pirates back into the first division for the first time since April 25.

In the cellar two weeks ago, they share fifth place with St. Louis, one game under .500, today.

12th One-Run Game

The Astros, meanwhile, dropped their ninth extra-inning decision and 12th one-run game of the season. Woodeshick has been the villain in the last three one-run losses.

The 33-year-old veteran, who allowed only three home runs in 61 appearances last season, relieved against Milwaukee a week ago and blew a 1-0 lead by serving successive eighth-inning home run balls to Hank Aaron and Mack Jones.

Four days later Woodeshick got the call in a 1-1 game against the Cardinals and gave up a two-run homer to Phil Gagliano. He escaped the loss when the Astros tied the score before bowing 4-3 in 12 innings.

Checks Rally

Woodeshick checked a Pittsburgh rally in the ninth Tuesday night and pitched out of a jam in the 10th before failing in the 11th.

Singles by Manny Mota and Bill Virdon and a walk to Roberto Clemente loaded the bases with one out. Andre Rodgers bounced to the mound but Woodeshick slipped fielding the ball and had to settle for a force at the plate. Then, with Donn Clendenon at bat, Woodeshick balked and Virdon trotted home with the winning run.

AFL's Choice of Atlanta Ignites War With NFL

Franchise Awarded By Newer League For $7.5 Million

BY MIKE RATHET

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP)—The American Football League's decision to tap Atlanta for a 1966 franchise, combined with the late-night ride of Pete Rozelle, has pushed the two professional leagues off the brink and over the precipice into a no-holds-barred expansion war.

While the AFL, in Oceanport, N.J., was awarding a franchise to Atlanta Tuesday, National League Commissioner Rozelle was in the Southern city, waving the NFL flag while stating, "Atlanta is a prime prospect for NFL expansion. We could expand with no trouble in 1966. We have discussed this."

Largest Price Ever

Then, suddenly, the emphasis shifted to the Cox Broadcasting Co., which had been awarded the AFL's Atlanta franchise for $7.5 million—the largest price ever paid for a pro football team. The awarding of the franchise, however, rests with the broadcasting company getting a suitable playing field.

That threw the ball to the Atlanta Stadium Authority, which has a new $25-million stadium for the use of the incoming Milwaukee Braves and apparently only one pro football team.

The authority, which met with both the Cox group and Rozelle, said it would wait until July 1 before making any announcement but that the stadium would be rented "effective for the 1966 season, in either football league."

The key word appeared to be either—which seemed to preclude both.

Back to the Cox group, which issued a statement saying that their offer "also contained a time limit which would expire well in advance of the July 1 deadline. Therefore, they have taken the entire matter up for

White Sox Clip Boston, On Horlen's 4-Hitter

Twins Down Tribe

Kansas City Stops Yank Win Streak On 3-Hitter, 3-2

BY MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Staging a revolution from the right, Joe Horlen has begun phase two in his attempt to overthrow lefty Gary Peters as strong man of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff.

Horlen pushed Peters closer to the brink Tuesday night, continuing his masterful pitching while adding a potent offensive weapon in Chicago's 7-2 victory over Boston.

The 27-year-old right-hander ignited his operation last season in taking the team lead in earned run average away from Peters. He hasn't let up at all this year and now is threatening to surpass Peters as the team's best hitting hurler.

Horlen collected three singles, the second driving in a sixth-inning run that snapped a 2-2 deadlock and put the White Sox ahead to stay. The performance shot Horlen's batting average to .250 compared with .138 for Peters, who often has been used as a pinch hitter.

His four-hit pitching, meanwhile, brought Horlen his sixth triumph, most on the team, against three defeats. His earned run average of 1.93 is Chicago's best as well as being among the best in the American League.

Peters, now 4-4 with a 3.81 ERA, won 20 games to 13 for Horlen last season, but the right-hander's ERA of 1.88 was the lowest for the White Sox in 35 years and second only to Dean Chance's 1.65 in the AL. Peters' ERA last year was 2.50.

Retired 19 in Row

Against the Red Sox, Horlen allowed two hits in the second inning, one of them Lee Thomas' 11th homer, and two more in the third, then retired the final 19 batters he faced. He didn't walk anyone and now is averaging less than one walk per game.

In other AL contests, Minnesota stopped Cleveland's five-game winning streak 6-2, Kansas City ended New York's four-game string 3-2, Los Angeles trimmed Detroit 3-1 and Washington blanked Baltimore 2-0.

The White Sox snapped the 2-2 tie after Ron Hansen reached second base on shortstop Rico Petrocelli's double error. Hansen eventually reached third and scored as Horlen ripped a single to center field.

Unbeaten Camilo Pascual won his eighth game after surviving Cleveland home runs by Rocky Colavito and Max Alvis. The Twins socked a pair of their own homers, Harmon Killebrew with two on in the first inning and Earl Battey with one aboard in the fourth.

Three-hitters

John O'Donoghue brought his record to 3-7 with a three-hitter against the Yankees. He held New York hitless until the fifth inning when Clete Boyer tripled home two runs. The Athletics won it in the sixth on a bases-loaded single by Ed Charles.

Fred Newman turned in another outstanding pitching performance, holding Detroit to four hits and increasing his record to 7-3. The Angels broke a 1-1 deadlock with two sixth-inning runs as Willie Smith tripled in one and scored the other on Joe Adcock's single.

Washington handed Baltimore its second straight shutout as Pete Richert and Ron Kline combined for a four-hitter. Frank Howard drove in a run with a triple in the fifth inning, then scored on Doug Camilli's single.

Seven Wisconsin Athletes Selected in Baseball Draft

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven Wisconsin athletes were tapped by baseball clubs Tuesday in the major leagues' revolutionary free agent draft.

The New York Yankees made 17-year-old William Burbach, a Dubuque, Iowa, high school pitcher from Dickeyville, Wis., their first round choice.

Braves' Choice

The Milwaukee Braves picked William Grant, a 6-foot - 4 first baseman in high school at Swampscott, Mass. Their Atlanta farm club, named catcher Don Johnson of the University of Southern California and high school outfielder Douglas King of Manchester, Pa.

Other picks from Wisconsin included:

Rick Hense, University of Wisconsin outfielder from Eau Claire, by Geneva of the New York - Pennsylvania League (Washington Senators).

Dick Zank, southpaw pitcher from Neillsville, by York, Eastern League (Washington Senators).

Gary Finsch, pitcher from Eau Claire, Wisconsin Rapids, Midwest League (Minnesota Twins).

Dave Halford, shortstop from Hancock, Stockton, California League Baltimore Orioles).

Lou Keller, catcher from Oconomowoc, Knoxville, Southern League Cincinnati Reds).

Dave Robinson, Crutcher Sign

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers announced today the signing of linebackers Dave Robinson and Tommy Crutcher to 1965 National Football League contracts.

Robinson, a former All-America end at Penn State, reported that he has recovered from surgery for a knee injury suffered midway through the 1964 season. A two-year veteran, he is expected to move to left linebacker to fill the spot vacated by the trade of Dan Currie to the Los Angeles Rams.

Crutcher, a third round draft choice last year after he starred at Texas Christian, played on special units and gained experience as linebacker and at fullback as a pro rookie.

Baseball Executives Expect to Sign Most No. 1 Draft Picks

Clubs May Have to Pay High Price For Some of 320 Free Agents

BY JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball executives may have some persuasion problems ahead of them but they expressed confidence today that virtually all of the 20 high school and college players picked in the first round of the free agent draft will be signed long before the six months deadline.

It won't be smooth sailing all the way for the baseball clubs who selected 320 youngsters Tuesday and may pick at least that many more today in the unprecedented draft.

The baseball owners may have to pay out more money than they figured in some cases. They may yield thousands of dollars here and there because there are some people in baseball and in Congress who doubt the legality of the draft

At Least $20,000

Minnesota's Twins may have to up their bid to Eddie Leon, an 18-year-old shortstop from the University of Arizona. The youngster was quoted in Tucson as saying he would remain in school unless he was offered more than $20,000.

Calvin Griffith, president of the Twins, acknowledged Leon had been contacted but he declined comment on whether a definite offer had been made to the talented sophomore

Other first round picks appeared set to sign for bonuses ranging up to $100,000.

Catcher Ken Plesha, who just completed his sophomore year at Notre Dame, already has been signed by the Chicago White Sox. The figure was believed to be around $25,000.

Highly Publicized

Another, highly publicized selection, Rick Monday, was expected to sign a Kansas City contract just as soon as the College Baseball World Series at Omaha, Neb., comes to an end.

Various Resistance

Not all of the draftees will be signed, of course As general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers Buzzie Bavasi put it: "Certainly we'll get refusals. There will be financial, resistance as well as parental, political and geographical resistance."

The Dodgers, picking eighth, made John Scott Wyatt, 17-year-old shortstop, from Bakersfield, Calif., High School their first pick.

Cleveland Indians' President Gabe Paul, who chose Raymond Fosse, 18-year-old catcher, from Marion, Ill., High School in the first round, was perhaps the most jubilant baseball figure at the meeting

"It's working out even better than I expected," he said "The opponents of the rule will become proponents before long. It will provide more competitiveness among the clubs and increase the number of minor league clubs. The clubs with the most minor league affiliations will get the most choices.

"There's a mistaken conception that the rule will eliminate payment of large bonusees. What it will do is eliminate pseudo competition for players. Bonuses now will be paid on ability and not because of a preventative feeling toward other clubs"

Other first round draftees included Joe Coleman, Jr., and Bill Conigliaro Coleman, son of the former Philadelphia A's pitcher, was drafted by the Washington Senators. Young Joe is a right-handed pitcher out of Natick, Mass., High School. Conigliaro, 17-year-old brother of the Boston Red Sox outfielder, was picked by Boston from Swampscott, Mass., High. He, too, is an outfielder.

two more before Ron Law came in to shut out the Foxes.

The Cubs scored four in their half of the second on four straight walks by Herman, a single, an error and a sacrifice fly. After Herman walked the bases full in the second, Derrel Wilkerson came in and retired the side.

In the fourth, Quincy jumped on Wilkerson, the loser, for five runs on a walk, an error, three singles and a double by Larry Shoemaker.

The Foxes put together 11 hits off Paarlberg and Law but stranded 10 runners.

1 on Maury Wills' run-scoring single in the ninth; Cincinnati edged St. Louis 5-4 on successive sixth inning homers by Leo Cardenas and pinch hitter Art Shamsky and a two-run double by slump-ridden Willie Mays carried San Francisco past the New York Mets 2-1 in other NL night games.

Four Homers

Milwaukee exploded four homers in the 10th inning for an 8-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs in an afternoon game

Lou Johnson opened the Dodgers' ninth with a single, moved around on a sacrifice and ground out and scored on Wills' hit, capping an LA comeback against Jim Bunning. The Philadelphia right-hander had a 1-0 lead until the eighth, when Wally Moon's run-scoring single tied it

Cardenas, with one on, and Shamsky connected off St. Louis ace Bob Gibson, who has lost four in a row after winning his first eight decisions. The homers wiped out a 4-2 deficit and reliever Joe Nuxhall held the Cardinals hitless the rest of the way.

Mays, hitless in 16 previous trips to the plate, doubled off Galen Cisco in the first inning at New York, scoring Dick Schofield and Jesus Alou Bob Shaw and reliever Frank Linzy made the runs stand up, Linzy pitching out of a bases-loaded bind in the ninth. Mets rookie Ron Swoboda homered off Shaw in the fifth.

Bengtson Salutes Star Blocker

Parker Says He Hasn't Reached Peak

BY DAVE O'HARA

MENASHA, Wis (AP) — Jim Parker, the Baltimore Colts' perennial All-National Football League guard since he turned pro in 1957, had some bad news today for opposing linemen

"I don't think I've reached my peak," the former Ohio State All-America said Tuesday night "I don't think that a player like me hits it until he's 33 or 34 and that gives me at least a couple of years"

Parker, whose normal playing weight is 275 pounds, visited this east central Wisconsin community to accept the first Outstanding Blocker Award, based on balloting of 47 sports writers and sportscasters in the 14 NFL cities.

He was honored as another 1956 All-America player, fullback Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns, was enshrined in the National 1,000-Yard Club. The other 10 players who have gained 1,000 or more yards in a single season were installed last year, but Brown was unable to attend

Parker said that players such as himself and Gino Marchetti, Baltimore defensive end who announced his retirement after the 1964 season, reach their peak later.

"You don't depend on brute strength as much as in your early years," he said "You have more know-how and do things by instinct. I think I had my best season last year and I'm looking forward to several more"

Parker admitted that he prefers offensive tackle, where he started out before being moved around to meet Baltimore personnel needs

"I don't mind running, but a guard has to do much more than a tackle," he said. "And with a fellow like Lenny Moore behind me, believe me, I've got to do plenty of running at guard

"Also, a defensive tackle is over the guard. A smaller player usually plays against the offensive tackle"

Dinner Planned to Aid Hutchinson Cancer Center

ST PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A $50-a-plate fund-raising dinner for the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Center in Seattle, Wash., will be held here July 12, the day before the major league All-Star baseball game

Joseph E Prumeau, administrator of the center to be a part of the Northwest Research Foundation in Seattle, said Tuesday major league players here for the All-Star game will attend the dinner.

Hutchinson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, died earlier this year of cancer.

Former NBA Player Presumed Drowned In Washington

TACOMA, Wash (AP)—Phil Jordan, 31, former pro basketball player, was missing and presumed drowned Tuesday after a homemade raft carrying four men broke up in the Puyallup River near here

Police at Puyallup said the four had floated about three quarters of a mile down the river, swollen from the spring run-off, when the raft disintegrated. They were practicing after dark Monday for a community raft race.

The 6-10 Jordan disappeared in the swift current. The three others, Cliff Webster, Don Perry and Jerry Williams, all of Puyallup, swam to shore

He was with the New York Knickerbockers, Cincinnati Royals St Louis Hawks and Detroit Pistons of the NBA.

Brito Loses His Battle Against Paralysis, Dies

Rams' Star Made Five All-Pro Teams, Was Pro Bowl MVP

DUARTE, Calif (AP) — A former professional football star's four-year fight against paralysis ended Tuesday with the death of Gene Brito, 39.

Brito, who starred with the Washington Redskins and Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, died of a respiratory failure while a patient here at the City of Hope Medical Center.

The 10-year NFL veteran was stricken during the Rams' 1961 pre-season exhibition schedule, and was hospitalized several times during his illness.

Spirit Determination

Yet his spirit and determination to overcome his illness impressed his friends and fans.

Former Vice President Richard Nixon, a friend who once spoke at a dinner for Brito, said

"His example of courage, determination and spirit in the face of overwhelming odds, both on the football field and in his last great battle for life, will be a lasting memorial to one of America's truly great athletes"

The 6-foot-2, 235-pound defensive end starred at Loyola of Los Angeles before entering the NFL with the Redskins He played seven seasons in Washington and was traded to the Rams in 1958.

'Great Champion'

Former Ram co-captain Les Richter said, "This is a sad thing The sports world has lost a great champion"

Ram owner Dan Reeves concurred "The example of the courage he set for us will live long after his football feats are forgotten."

Brito's feats were sufficiently outstanding to get him named to five All-Pro teams, and he was voted the top player in the 1965 Pro Bowl contest

His widow, June, and two daughters, Michelle, 7, and Sharon, 4, survive

Casares Happy to Join Redskins

2 Traded Ball-Carriers At 1,000-Yard Dinner

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Two of the star backs present for the 1,000-Yard Club ceremonies at the Sabre Lanes Tuesday night are about to continue their illustrious careers with new teams.

Rick Casares, who had played his entire pro career with the Bears, has been traded to Washington. John David Crow, a Cardinal throughout his pro career, will go into training with San Francisco next month.

By coincidence, Wally Lemm, the coach who traded Crow to the 49ers, was the main banquet speaker. He made no mention of the trade during his formal talk, but before the program started, Lemm said it was a case of an over-supply of running backs (Bill Triplett is expected back after a bout with tuberculosis) and the Cards needed the defensive help that the newly-acquired Abe Woodson represents.

Casares, during the banquet, took good-natured ribbing about moving to Washington. After Dick McCann, Pro Football Hall of Fame director, got through telling how bad the Redskins — his former employers — were for years, the Packers' Willie Davis quipped, "I have compassion for you, Rick — you'd better go out and start training right away."

Insists He's Happy

Casares, however, insists he's happy with the chance to join an up-and-coming team like the Redskins. Rick said he'll finaly get a chance to play as much as he feels he ought to. For his last three years with the Bears, Casares said he alternated a great deal with Joe Marconi and Charley Bivins and didn't play as much as he thought he should.

In a brief interview Lemm had opinions on such subjects as: (1) high-priced quarterbacks — Joe Namath, the Cards' No. 1 draft choice, isn't worth the kind of money ($400,000) he got from the New York Jets. (2) Neenah's Jack Ankerson — who is in service — the Cards still consider him a fine young prospect, and he's never seen a quarterback come out of a small college (Ripon) with as much know-how as Ankerson. (3) The 1965 Eastern division race — the Browns and the Cards should be the top contenders again, but look out for improved Washington and Dallas.

Lemm had no opinion on the relative strength of AFL and NFL — "I haven't seen the AFL the last three years except for a few minutes now and then on TV."

sive man, it's "a privilege to sweeten up the ball carries a little bit."

Turning more serious, Davis characterized it as "one of the high points of my life" to make the award. "I've respected Parker ever since I saw him play his first game—and after our initial contact, my respect increased."

The Colts' Parker expressed his appreciation for the award and said "It's the first time I've ever been honored this way, as an offensive lineman."

Parker lauded the Packers' Jerry Kramer, who had received a standing ovation earlier, and said he is sure Jerry "will be back to fight for the award" after his recuperation from surgery.

Grants totaling $2,500 were presented to six Fox Cities baseball organizations as part of the Foundation's "Yards for Youth" program. Boys Sports Inc., of Menasha, encompassing the most teams, received $600. Neenah Baseball, Inc., and the Appleton Babe Ruth League received $500 each. The Neenah, Appleton and Menasha Legion teams were awarded $300 apiece.

The American Legion, through its state baseball commissioner, Bob Beltrone, presented the foundation a citation "for Meritorious service" in honor of the youth benefits program.

The unique venture — encompassing the youth program and assembling pro football's all-time great rushers under one roof — prompted Lloyd Larson to call it "one of the finest ideas I've seen in sports." Larson, veteran Milwaukee Sentinel sports editor, was master of ceremonies.

When Dick McCann, director of the National Pro Football Hall of Fame, was presented with a plaque representing the eleven 1,000-yarders, he called it "a dramatic moment in the history of pro football." McCann said the plaque has its "rightful position in the museum of the Hall of Fame."

Among the Jimmy Brown records cited by Bob Lloyd, presiding official of the enshrinement proceedings were these: most yards gained rushing in a season (1,863); most yards gained rushing in career (18,768); most yards gained all ways in career (13,578); best career average per carry (5.2 yards); most years leading the league in rushing (seven); most touchdowns rushing (89); and most TDs all ways (tied at 105 with Don Hutson).

Perry, Taylor and Johnson rank second, third and fourth, respectively, in career rushing. During Taylor's introduction, he was cited as the only NFL back ever to gain 1,000 or more yards in five straight seasons.

Among other guests introduced were Packer players Bart Starr, Ray Nitschke and Jesse Whittenton and former Packer Dan Currie. Also introduced were Packer President Dominic Olejniczak and these members of the Packer coaching and administrative staff: Phil Bengtson, "Red" Cochran, Ray Wietecha, Pap Peppler, Norb Hecker, Tom Miller and Vern Lewellen.

Lew Phenner, president of the foundation, gave the welcome. Charles Schueppert presided over the "Yards for Youth" awards.

reconsideration. We are studying this matter. There has been no withdrawal."

A lateral to Foss, who said the matter of the stadium was an issue to be resolved between the stadium authority and the Cox group. But the commissioner did admit that the AFL franchise had been awarded contingent upon the Cox group having a suitable stadium

That, at present, they do not have.

Expected Selection

Last week Rozelle recommended that the NFL expand from 14 teams to 16 teams for the 1967 season. But Monday night, possibly apprehensive about the AFL moving into the television-rich Atlanta territory, Rozelle hopped a plane to Atlanta to plant the NFL flag.

The announcement of Atlanta's selection was not unexpected, but there was considerable surprise expressed at the AFL's inability to reach a decision on a 10th team for 1966.

Foss said he was "not disappointed. There were several applicants still involved from other cities to be considered for the 10th city and we decided to move on it systematically and orderly."

Jerry Kramer Insists That He'll be Ready for '65 Season

MENASHA, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay's Jerry Kramer, who has undergone surgery seven times since last fall and faces one more operation, insists he'll be ready for the 1965 National Football League campaign.

"I'm going to play — it's as simple as that," Kramer said on a surprise visit to the second annual National 1,000-Yard Club Foundation dinner Tuesday night.

Kramer, discharged from the hospital 24 hours earlier after his seventh abdominal operation, said that he felt "real good" except for natural weakness and loss of weight.

"It's seven down and one to go," said Kramer, who was an All-NFL guard on offense before he was stricken early last season. "However, the worst is over. My doctor thinks he found the trouble when he found the slivers of wood that I picked up when I was a kid.

"I'll return to the hospital next week for surgery to correct a hernia condition. Then I'll start on the way back. I m going to play next season."

homer to Don Landrum in the sixth to tie the score.

Let's Not Become Blase

It was difficult not to become blase about the record-breaking four-day journey of the Gemini 4 spacecraft.

The nation thrilled to Ed White's walk into space last week, and the dramatic pictures brought back by Jim McDivitt re-created that thrill. But the balance of the flight was so routine that we all were content to merely check several times a day to make sure everything was still going well.

There was a brief flurry of excitement again Sunday when it was announced there was trouble with the computer by which the astronauts planned to control their own reentry, but we were immediately assured that phase would be handled from the ground and there was absolutely no danger.

The United States has obviously learned a great deal from this latest venture into space. Scientists have already announced the time it will take to land men on the moon has been considerably shortened.

But we must remember there is still great danger in these adventures, even though a trip in space now seems no more difficult than a stroll to the drugstore. And our admiration for all the people involved continues to mount.

The 1390th Object in Space

There seems to be some confusion over exactly what the space object was that Major James McDivitt sighted and photographed on one of the earlier orbits of Gemini 4. And no wonder. Gemini 4 was the 1,390th object to be sent into space by man and there are more than 600 still known to be in orbit.

Space agency officials have suggested that the sighted object may be Pegasus B, one of the United States satellites sent up to sample the micrometeorite population. There is also speculation that not a great deal is being said because the satellite may instead be an unpublicized craft really on an espionage mission in the skies. Certainly if the United States is sending up unannounced objects, the Russians are doing the same. But it is also true that detection devices probably record any such objects although not exactly their nature or what they are doing.

United States officials say that there are 136 American satellites of various kinds still in orbit and 22 of the Russians. There are also more than 400 satellite pieces and rockets. And while space seems vast and perhaps is endless, one of these days a great deal of care will have to be taken to avoid collisions.

Republican Fact-Finding Abroad

It turns out that the idea for a group of House Republicans to take a trip to Europe to study the current ills of NATO was that of Rep. Melvin Laird, who is chairman of the House Republican Conference. And apparently Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen now thinks it isn't such a bad idea after all.

The planned trip received a lot of publicity last week when Dirksen scoffed about it with the remark that he thought we had a President and a Secretary of State to handle our foreign policy. But after some of the House members explained their reasoning to Dirksen, he gave the idea his tactical blessing.

One of the items the Republicans want to check out is why French President de Gaulle doesn't like the United States and is trying to torpedo NATO. But they say they don't want to control foreign policy; they just want to get the facts about a vital problem and report them to the American people.

This ties in with what Rep. Laird has been saying about the so-called bipartisan foreign policy for some time. He has been saying that the people of this country aren't getting the facts. He has also declared that when he and other Republican leaders are called to the White House to discuss foreign policy, all they get is their pictures taken with the President. They never have a chance to state their own views.

"We're photographed and televised with the President at these high-level conferences," he says, "but we're never consulted."

And Laird wants it made clear that the Republican Conference is picking up the tab for the trip, not the U.S. government.

Jobs Needed

Last year at this time the "long, hot summer" of racial strife in southern areas loomed ahead. Civil rights workers had announced intentions of making efforts to increase voter registrations among Negroes and the opposition was already threatening reprisals which did come about. But more unexpected were the riots in large northern cities where racial tensions exploded in the atmosphere of boredom and idleness. This summer the emphasis is upon the crowded areas where thousands of teen-agers will be loafing on school vacations and simply looking for trouble. Certainly the racial element will help to trigger explosions but the main reason is too many young people with nothing whatever to do.

The unemployment rate for teen-agers in May—before schools had recessed for the summer—was three times higher than the national average and five times that of men over 25. The national rate of unemployment is at the lowest point in more than seven years but the teen-age rate has dropped only slightly. And the figures do not apply to those who will soon be on vacation

In New York City, some 16,000 young people have already registered at the State Employment Service but there are only about 5,000 jobs available from private employers. City agencies plan to hire some 5,000 more at some jobs such as unskilled hospital work, nurse aides, recreational assistance, day-care play helpers and leaders in the various park, street and recreational playgrounds in the vast city. But officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have called for a far more extensive public works program to hire 17,000 more. They warn of the dangers ahead if idle youth, many of them uncontrolled at home, are wandering the streets.

President Johnson has requested federal agencies actively to recruit summer vacation replacements and so far the Post Office Department has asked Congressmen to seek out 6,000 qualified youth on a non-political patronage basis. But the trouble-makers are generally those too unskilled or unaspiring to be picked for this type of work. And if one application for a job fails, some of them are unlikely to bother about looking much further.

There are many agencies, local and national, commendably seeking to help young people find work during the summer months. But the real solution for the future probably lies in two directions. First, there must continue to be a gradual change to year round school programs and staggered vacation schedules. And secondly it might be wise to begin consideration of a different kind of "draft," not into actual military service but something resembling the voluntary Youth Corps for young people who have nothing to do.

Proposed Revision of Corrupt Practices Act Not a Simple Matter

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—Several weeks ago it was suggested here that the legislature would probably conclude that the question of revising the corrupt practices laws as they relate to political campaign spending is too hot to handle and would find a way to detour this year.

Wyngaard

Precisely that has now come to pass. Without a note of objection on the record from the authors who sponsored a far-reaching revision bill earlier in the session, the State Assembly under the command of a Democratic majority and with an acquiescent Republican majority, has voted to refer the subject to an interim committee study.

It is a fair guess that the Senate Republican majority will concur, if it acknowledges the Assembly action in any way.

Moreover, the referral to a leisurely between-sessions study is probably a legitimate action under the circumstances, however evasive it may appear to some critics of the patternless present system with its controls that are more apparent than real. The subject is a truly difficult one. It is enormously important. It involves deeply the health and welfare of both political parties as institutions. It is thus perfectly natural that practical politicians approach it with some hesitation and caution.

STAR DASH

THE PROBLEMS

The problems in effective legislation controlling the expenditure of money to influence elections are so many and so complex that the legislature would do well to assign to this investigation its best and most thoughtful men on both sides of the political aisle and give them also enough money and staff to make a serious examination of the facts.

For example: It was the clear intention of the original law that there would be a limit on the amount of money that could be used to win election to public office, as well as a strict enumeration of the permitted purposes of such expenditures, the legitimate sources of the money, and a complete disclosure of the sources and the purposes for such value as it might have to the interested voter in making up his mind about the merits of candidates and parties.

Yet in many past decades there have been found so many loopholes in those nominal controls that they are virtually useless. A party and a candidate now is limited in spending not by the law but by the capacity of the campaign contributors. Some of the prohibitions as to source have been easily evaded. The disclosure requirements are virtually inoperative, not only because of the fearful task of the media in compiling the endless and often ambiguous reports, but because there is not even a pretense of proving their authenticity through public examinations or audits.

Parties have used evasive measures in a kind of tacit agreement, as one critic recently noted in a discussion of the political banquet program books which are fronts for corporate contributions that would otherwide be outlawed.

STAR DASH

THE QUESTION

The basic question that will confront a responsible committee of interim investigators on this subject will be:

Should there be an absolute limit on the right to spend to influence the voter and what should that limit be for principal offices, state-wide and local and district?

Chances are that the professional politicians won't be far apart in their estimates and calculations if they get down to the business of facing up to the question. The parties have pulled closer together in financial capacity in recent years, which is a way of saying that many contributors follow the election returns, willingly or otherwise. The parties have pulled into virtually even position in voting strength also.

But if they report a consensus, the chances are that thousands of voters, necessarily unsophisticated about such matters as they are, will be surprised and shocked. In that likelihood may lie one of the real obstacles to reform.

In Perspective

Negro Problem in North Far More Complex Than in South

BY MAX FREEDMAN

All of us have been taught in recent months by the civil rights movement that the struggle for equal rights, for rights that are more than a pallid promise on parchment, must be waged in our Northern cities as well as in our Southern states. But few of us have begun to realize the magnitude and the complexity of the Northern problem.

Freedman

If you take a map and stick pins in it to represent the concentration of Negro neighborhoods in Northern and Southern cities, you will be surprised by the results. In Boston, for example, the Negro ghettos are far worse than in Atlanta; and that is generally true in any comparison between Northern and Southern cities. There are large areas in Southern cities where Negroes have congregated but this is less common than is usually supposed. The familiar Southern pattern involves the tragic concentration of the Negroes in the worst slums; but apart from that oppressive fact, they are spread pretty variously throughout the city.

It is in fact rather easier to grapple with the Southern racial problem than with the Northern problem. The President and Congress and the Supreme Court have all been able to do something about second-class citizenship. The difficulties were dramatic and easy to define—segregation in the schools, separate and unequal facilities, public accommodation, equal voting rights. We have still a long and difficult journey to complete before all these grievances and injustices are removed but at least we are on our way.

PROBLEMS ARE INVISIBLE

In the North however most of the problems are invisible. White people, unless they are doctors or social welfare workers or policemen or rent collectors rarely see the Northern Negro ghettos. The great mass of citizens try to forget that these slums even exist. If they saw these horrible conditions every day, they would do something to end this festering poverty, this wreckage of human lives, this tragic denial of hope to children caught in a repulsive web of suffering and illiteracy. But we do not see these tragedies and so we forget about them.

All the same, we are paying heavy bills every day for the conditions we have tollerated too long in these slums and ghettos. We are paying for them in the relief rolls, in juvenile delinquency, in spreading crimes of violence, in dope addicts, in the broken various lives spawned by the slums.

The first and most urgent task, in dealing with these Northern slums, is to awaken the generous but indifferent majority to the realization that these tragic and explosive ghettos do in fact exist and are growing worse all the time. The next and almost equally important task is to persuade the young people in the slums that they do not have to possess rare and memorable gifts in order to make their way to a more abundant life. Banishment of apathy in the general community, the awakening of some hope of better things in the slums—these are the twin methods for breaking down the cruel imprisoning walls of the Negro ghettos.

POVERTY PROGRAM HELPS

A major effort to destroy these walls is being made, as we all know, by the poverty program under the direction of Sargeant Shriver. But poverty in our Northern cities is deepened and embittered by racial prejudice and discrimination. In meeting these problems, and in forestalling grievances which might explode in violence and the most serious disorders, an absolutely indispensable contribution is being made by the Community Relations Service under the leadership of former Governor Le Roy Collins of Florida.

Without any self-seeking on his part, the work of Governor Collins and his staff in promoting a spirit of compliance in the South has become widely known and respected. Yet they are giving equal prominence to their work this summer and the following months to the challenge of the Northern ghettos. Once again they are avoiding the mistake of parading the power of the federal government or of posing as experts on human rights. They are trying to enlist the most generous instincts of Northern communities in a co-operative effort to bring the problems of the ghettos before civic leaders so that united action of a remedial kind can be taken. Since these problems have been allowed to accumulate for decades, and the spirit of protest is now rising visibly and ominously, there is a degree of urgency to this whole effort far surpassing anything previously done in this field. We are fortunate indeed in having the leadership in this campaign directed by a man like Governor Collins who has instilled his own sense of instructed idealism and responsibility among the members of his staff. And they will need all the help they can get from the rest of us.

Still Room in Many Of Nation's Colleges

Farsighted high school seniors submitted applications for college admission long before now. But students who were less farsighted or whose initial applications were rejected are still looking for colleges to attend next fall, and for these students the good news is that they still have time to apply, if their hearts are not set on the prestige institutions.

Will of the Populace

Government can't hardly get more by the people, or of the people, than when the people themselves write the laws and amend the Constitution at the polls. It can't hardly get less for the people than when elected officials seek to frustrate the popular will.—Arkansas Gazette

Strictly Personal

Who Says It More Important Than What

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

When we hear a statement, or a summary of acts, or an argument (in the debating, not quarreling, sense of the word), what do we really listen to—who says it, how it sounds, or what is said?

Harris

Most studies made have shown that we listen least to what is said: we pay more attention to how it sounds; and most attention of all to who says it. The symbol influences our reaction much more than the fact.

In one study I read about recently, college students were given a list of 14 statements, all of them made by Samuel Johnson, but attributed to other persons. Seven statements were attributed to "favorable" persons, such as Abraham Lincoln and Winston Churchill; and seven to "unfavorable" persons, such as Hitler and Castro.

The students were asked to indicate whether they agreed or disagreed with each statement. Two weeks later, they were given the same set of statements—but this time, the attributions were turned around, in order to see whether the students would pay more attention to who made the statement than to what was said.

On the second exposure, a total of 324 changes were made, almost one-fourth of the number possible. And 70 per cent of the changes were in the anticipated direction, they agreed with favorable personages and disagreed with unfavorable ones.

Along the same lines, a study by Hovland and Mandell exposed college students to a talk favoring leniency in the treatment of juvenile delinquents. A guest speaker was introduced to three different groups: first as a judge in a juvenile court, second anonymously, and third as an ex-delinquent who was now out on bail after arrest on dope peddling charges.

He gave the same talk each time; but the one by the "judge" was deemed fair by 73 per cent of the audience, while the talk by the ex-delinquent was deemed fair by only 29 per cent. Moreover, the group hearing the talk by the so-called judge favored more lenient treatment than those hearing it from the ex-delinquent.

Another interesting study was a talk on devaluation of the currency. First, the speaker was introduced as the head of a large importing firm; next as an economics professor at a leading university. Although the content and conclusion of the speeches were identical for the two, the audiences tended to "mistrust" the importer and "trust" the professor—because the former's motives were believed to be influenced by self-interest. He was considered to be "less fair and honest" than the other.

Obviously, the expertness and general trustworthiness of a person is an important part of any communication he makes. But the person should not overshadow the statement, and even great men have been grievously wrong. Abraham Lincoln never said it, but it's true.

Politicos Now Attack Sherman

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 17, 1865.

The dynasty at Washington which has been pursuing Sherman with bitter, harsh, false and groundless accusations, owes its existence to the brilliancy of his genius and the success of his arms!

Before victory crowned his unparalleled march to Atlanta, the Republican party lay as listless and powerless as death. President Lincoln was negotiating for peace, with Greeley, Sanders & Co., and the leaders of his party were for setting him aside. He himself considered a withdrawal, conscious that in the untoward state of affairs there was little hope of his election.

But the national cause was saved by Sherman; and the fortunes of the Administration revived. He averted condemnation. He caused their election

We acquit President Johnson of any part of the conspiracy; but the ingrates, who nearly destroyed Lincoln's administration, have determined to break down the reputation of their deliverer.

It is an old story of envy and ingratitude of politicians. Gen Sherman may defy them. He has fought a battle above the clouds. The storms that attack a fame like his but howl about the base.

As a result of the German capture of Dunkerque (with 40,000 prisoners) the entire Belgian and French channel coast up to the mouth of the Somme River was occupied completely. That day the Nazis launched a strong offensive over a 125-mile front in the direction of the lower Seine River region and the capital city of Paris. German bombers were working over the port city of Le Havre.

Stanley Lizon was elected commander of the Kaukauna American Legion Post. Other officers elected were Alphonse J. Berens and David Egan, vice commanders; Eathan Brewster, adjutant; Lawrence Gerend, finance officer; C. E. Volte, sergeant-at-arms.

The North Cicero 4-H Club was the winner of the Outagamie County drama contest with the comedy "In Behalf of a Calf." Mrs. Christ Roepcke directed the cast, which included actors Rose Mary Mory, Victor Zander, Everette Krull, Arlyn Brandenberg, Audrey Butter, Eldon Brandenberg, and Delores Roepcke.

Shortage of Silver Expected To Continue

Reducing Amount in Coins Won't Balance Rising Industrial Use

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cutting down the amount of silver in U.S. coins isn't likely to lick the shortage of metal for some time.

Industrial demand has risen too fast, and world production has lagged too badly, for any quick solution to the shortage problem. Some think it could take five years at least to bring supply and demand into line.

The Johnson administration proposes to eliminate silver in dimes and quarters and to cut use of it by half in 50-cent pieces. The idea is to save Uncle Sam's dwindling supply of the metal — once so huge as to be considered a burden — and to remove him as a competitor with industry for any new supplies.

About $500 million a year of the metal is going into U.S. coins as the mints strive to cope with the demand.

Vending Machines

The rapid rise of vending machine living is only one reason for the growing demand for coins. Affluent Americans buying more things requires more change in more pockets. And the very growth of the population itself creates a demand for more coins.

But the industrial uses of silver have been the big new factor in the demand situation.

The silverware industry is only part of this picture. And it now accounts for only a minor part of the total industrial use. Photography uses considerably more than silverware. The use goes all the way from snapshots to X-ray films, industrial photography, defense photography.

Silver goes into almost all household appliances, autos, radios, television sets, telephones and mirrors. At the manufacturing level, silver is used in motors and generators, aircraft, atomic reactor control rods, farm machinery, switches and controls, electronic data processing equipment.

Medical Uses

The metal is used in dentistry and in surgical and medical appliances.

The defense industry is taking increasing amounts. Rockets and missiles find it essential. Supersonic aircraft and radar, submarine and torpedo batteries demand silver. Electrical equipment uses even more of the metal.

Production hasn't kept pace with rising demand. The Interior Department reports that exploration has been stepped up in recent months in the United States. But it still doubts if American production can supply more than a third of U.S. industrial demand in the next five years.

Increasing demand for the metal overseas has cut into imports and the government fears this source will continue to shrink. Silver often is a by-product of copper and other baser metal mining, and the supply fluctuates with their output.

The administration says that cutting the use of silver in coins will help conserve the dwindling supplies here. But it won't be a cure-all for the larger problem of finding more silver in the world to meet the new uses that the electronic and space scientists keep dreaming up.

2,500 U.S. Engineers Landed in S. Viet Nam

Astronauts James McDivitt, left, and Edward White move along the chow line aboard the USS Wasp Tuesday on their second day back to earth after four days in orbit. The spacemen were taken aboard the carrier for three days of rest and debriefing before heading for Houston and reunion with their families. (AP Wirephoto)

Asian Rains Are Blessing And Menace

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The rains have come again to Southeast Asia, great sweeping sheets of water which give life and take it away.

From the tiny, green kingdom of Laos, across the rich rice lands of Thailand and Cambodia to the scarred fields of Viet Nam, the annual monsoon rains soak man, animal, city and jungle.

The great, meandering Mekong River — a month ago a placid, muddy stream — will swell several times its size to become a menace to villages on its banks.

Life changes when the rains begin. In the countryside of Thailand, farmers spend more time at home.

In Laos, Communist Pathet Lao and neutralist forces bring their warfare to a near standstill.

But in war-weary South Viet Nam, there is no peace, no stopping. On the contrary, the Viet Cong steps up its hit-and-run warfare. The rains give the Viet Cong a protective cover and blot out visibility of government planes.

As the rains advance across fields and cities, the scene can be impressive: black clouds rolling over green jungle still glinting in the sunlight, the white glare of lightning, the sudden rush of wind, then the thunderous, drowning roar of the rain.

Deep in the jungle, a night-like gloom settles. The birds and animals are suddenly silent. The wind gives a final sigh and stops.

White Sees Spacewalk Film

Astronauts Prepare For Land Welcome

ABOARD THE WASP (AP) — James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, now close enough to home to see their own historic space walk film on shipboard television, began their final festive day at sea today and got set for a round of welcomes awaiting them ashore.

Almost all of the intensive medical testing behind them, the astronauts' schedule today called for "technical debriefing" — talking into tape recorders at length about their four-day mission and being questioned in detail by space experts.

Memorable Moments

The Gemini 4 twins said their most memorable moments of the flight were, for White, his 20-minute stroll in space, and, for McDivitt, the capsule's reentry through the earth's atmosphere.

They were among the millions who thrilled at the sight of vivid movies of the space stroll. The films were released Tuesday in Houston, Tex., and the astro-

Advisory Role Abandoned

Another Retreat From Viet Nam Policy Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military officials said today a decision to commit U.S. Marine and Army troops to fight in support of South Vietnamese units, when requested, is a "logical extension of what we've been doing out there."

Over the past three months, operations of U.S. ground units have progressed gradually from a relatively static perimeter defense of the key base at Da Nang to aggressive patrolling variously called "combat kill" and "search and destroy" missions.

Good Defense

"In any good defense, you've got to move out and find the enemy — and that's what we're doing in Viet Nam," one veteran officer said.

Patrols of Marines and Army paratroopers have ranged farther afield in seeking contact with the Communists. So far the action has been on a relatively small scale.

The decision to commit U.S. fighting units as "fire brigades" to help the South Vietnamese raises the possibility that Marines and paratroopers may become involved in major action in battalion strength and perhaps larger.

Acknowledgement by the State Department Tuesday that American fighting units are available for what is called "combat support" is a further retreat from the original U.S. position that American troops are in South Viet Nam not to wage war but to advise the South Vietnamese on how to win their own fight for security.

Unwillingness to Buy Is Keynote

Stock Market in Steady Slide for 4 Weeks

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market has taken a severe beating in the past four weeks.

Its slide has been almost steady with only a few interruptions.

Tuesday the market, as measured by the popular averages, suffered its worst loss since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 13.10 points to 869.05. Since May 14, when it reached an all-time peak, this average has tumbled 50.57 points.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped 4.4 to 323.7.

Brokers said one favorable factor was that the slump came on moderate trading. Volume Tuesday was 4.67 million shares. The daily average for the year to date has been about 5.6 million shares.

In view of the sluggish trading, brokers said the situation appeared to be more of a case of unwillingness to buy than eagerness to sell.

Some said the slide had been accelerated by the statement last week by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who said he saw "disquieting similarities" between present business conditions and the boom that preceded the 1929 crash.

Brokers say disturbing factors include talk about tight money, a lot of secondary issues coming on the market and permission for U.S. troops to engage in combat in South Viet Nam.

"It seems as though buyers have become very wary and sellers are not offering any avalanche of stock," a market analyst commented.

Steep as was Tuesday's decline, it did not compare with that on the day of the assassination, when the Dow Jones average fell 21.16.

Viet Nam Political Crisis

Quat Admits Defeat

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Phan Huy Quat declared today that his government could not solve the current political crisis and that his generals had agreed to mediate.

He said he had asked the army to step in as mediators between the government and opposition groups, including Roman Catholics, now threatening to throw the nation into chaos.

Quat

Quat said he did not know whether the generals would organize a new armed forces council like the one dissolved last month.

He said in any case he was assured the generals all supported a strong civilian government, and that this would not mean a return to military control of the government.

Nevertheless it was clear the Vietnamese military establishment was moving back into the political arena.

Quat said he had asked all the general officers in the country to serve on the new mediation board, and the form of organization the body takes will be up to the officers.

Quat and the chief of state, Phan Khac Suu have been feuding for three weeks over two cabinet changes Quat wants to make. Suu has refused to approve them. The dispute has emboldened Roman Catholic agitators who are staging daily anti-Quat demonstrations, charging the premier is discriminating against the Catholics.

Efforts Obstructed

Quat at a news conference today charged that Suu was obstructing efforts for a political conciliation.

"Up to this point," Quat said, "the good will of the government has been unable to keep the problem from degenerating into a critical situation. This situation has harmed the war against the Communists, which should have top priority.

"The political crisis, which originally was superficial, has harmed the war effort, slowed down the government and harmed the life of the people.

"Even if the national charter is revised, in the existing political climate, the government finds it impossible to carry out its programs or implement plans."

Critical Phase

The situation appeared to be moving toward a critical phase that could result in the collapse soon of the Quat government as well as an end to all chances of forming a coalition. Most observers feel if this happens a military coup will take place and a junta will be installed as the government.

Police Chief Pham Van Lieu said "friendly security agencies" — presumably meaning American intelligence — had indicated large numbers of Viet Cong troops were grouping around the capital and Communist agents were rapidly infiltrating the city.

The Viet Cong itself has no interest as to whether a coup succeeds or fails, he said, but stands to gain no matter what happens, consolidating its power in the confusion and strife.

He said that in the government's raid May 20 on alleged coup plotters, 41 persons were arrested, including 17 military men, but the top plotters still were at large.

Catholics have charged that most of those arrested were Catholic, and that the government is discriminating against Catholics.

Yugoslav Consul Shot at Munich

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — The Yugoslav consul at Munich was shot by two gunmen while sitting in his car Tuesday night at Meersburg on Lake Constance, police reported today.

The consul, Andrija Klaric, 35, was reported in critical condition.

Dara Rogic, 38, a Yugoslav woman who was in the car with Klaric was uninjured.

Police said Klaric went to Meersburg to meet the Yugoslav woman. The consul had parked his car and was talking to her when two men ran up and began shooting.

Klaric collapsed over the wheel, shot through the lung and grazed on the hip.

Surgery was performed at a hospital.

Havana Running Short Of Havana Cigars

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana cigars, no longer within ready reach of Americans, are reported getting scarcer in Havana, too.

A Cuban radio broadcast monitored in Miami set a production goal of 40,241,500 cigars for domestic consumption and 17,575,500 for export by July 26, 1955, anniversary of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's revolution.

A new Cuban economic research report said 548 million cigars were smoked in Cuba in all of 1958, the year before Castro's takeover. Cigars exported in 1958 totaled 79,878,449.

24,000 Rally Against U. S. Asia Policy

TOKYO, (AP) — An estimated 24,000 demonstrators, dominated by Communists and Socialists, held a massive rally today protesting what they claim is U.S. aggression in Viet Nam.

There were some minor scuffles between police and students, resulting in six students being detained by police.

The scuffles broke out when police tried to control Zengakuren students who were bringing up the rear of an orderly march. The students cut loose with an occasional snake dance. Police immediately ordered the students to obey traffic regulations. Those who refused were detained. Some students had bloody noses.

The demonstrators were flying party and union flags and carrying streamers and placards bearing such slogans as "U. S. get out of Viet Nam. Get out of Asia." "Yankee Marines go home to your wives."

The leftwingers tried to march from the park up to the U.S. embassy which was blocked off by police armored cars and several squads of police on foot.

Airport and Key Bridge To be Built

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — About 2,500 U.S. Army combat engineers landed today at Cam Ranh Bay, 190 miles northeast of Saigon, to build an airfield, port and supply center there, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The spokesman hinted that more engineers were on the way. "Don't hold me to the 2,500 figure," he said.

The spokesman said the project, being undertaken jointly by the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments, would include a bridge to link the harbor area to a highway and railroad.

Key Role

The new base is expected to play a key role in the U.S.-Vietnamese war effort in the central and northern parts of South Viet Nam, the spokesman said.

The engineers bring the U. S. military force in South Viet Nam to nearly 54,000 men.

In the air war against North Viet Nam, U.S. planes attacked the big port of Vinh for the fifth straight day and the pilots claimed light to moderate damage to an army barracks area.

A U.S. military spokesman announced that government forces suffered their heaviest casualties of the war — 1,875 South Vietnamese and 51 Americans in the week that ended last Saturday. Viet Cong losses for the week were 1,305, the spokesman said, but these included no wounded.

530 Killed

The spokesman said 530 South Vietnamese troops were killed, 710 wounded and 635 either missing or captured. Ten Americans were killed, 6 were missing and 35 wounded for the same period.

The Viet Cong had 1,221 killed and 84 captured, the spokesman said.

Two more American advisers were killed today and 158 South Vietnamese troops were killed or missing in bloody actions north and south of Saigon.

This brought American combat casualties in Viet Nam to 404 since December 1961.

The Americans were killed

Great Rewards Await First Nation Reaching Moon

BY HOWARD BENEDICT

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are locked in a tight race to reach the moon first. The winner's rewards will be great: national prestige, scientific knowledge, perhaps military domination of space.

The flights this week of Gemini 4 and the Soviet Luna 6 are dramatic evidence that both nations are very much in the race.

Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II advanced the United States a long way on the lunar highway with their four-day flight during which White took a 20-minute walk in space. Manned flights in the Gemini and Apollo programs now are scheduled at two-month intervals in a drive toward a manned lunar landing, which could come as early as 1968.

It is suspected that Luna 6 will attempt the first soft-landing of an instrumented capsule on the moon if it reaches there as scheduled Friday. Success of such a maneuver would provide vital data on the strength of the moon's surface — information needed before men set foot there.

The United States plans to attempt a soft-landing with an unmanned Surveyor craft in October.

Why go to the moon?

This question has been debated in scientific and government circles since President John F. Kennedy committed the United States to the race in 1961.

Most scientists favor sending men to the moon. But from the start the Apollo lunar landing project has had its critics. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called it a "stunt race." Several respected scientists believe the money and brainpower could be better spent to improve the lot of man through medical research, antipoverty programs and the like. Some contend automatic spacecraft could do the job better than man.

The one aspect that seems to bother the American public is the estimated $20 billion pricetag.

"That's a lot of money," says James Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. "But as big as that $20 billion looks, we are spending only one per cent of our gross national product on space — so we can afford it.

"It is not being spent on the moon as some people like to infer. It is being spent right here in the United States. In fact, 90 per cent of it goes directly to private, free-enterprise companies, many of them small local businesses.

"And I cannot for the life of me think of any other kind of endeavor that could benefit our nation in so many ways at once," Webb said. "It advances knowledge and stimulates our education. It creates new jobs and skills. It perfects our technology. It strengthens our national security and it adds to our total national wealth in many ways."

Concerning the prestige factor, President Johnson has said:

"Surely the country which combines the ability, the resources and the courage to go to the moon will sit high at international negotiating tables. If such a country is one which protects freedom, a strong blow is made for a world of peace instead of a world of subjugation."

Dr. Homer Newell, NASA associate administrator for space science and applications, is one of many scientists who believe the moon may hold the key to the origin of our solar system, generally believed to have been created about 4.5 billion years ago.

Says Newell: "On the earth, the atmosphere and the oceans wear away surface features in 10 to 50 million years. Mountain building activity turns over large areas of the surface in about the same time.

"But on the moon there are no oceans and atmosphere to destroy the surface, and there is little if any mountain building.

"For these reasons the moon has retained a record which probably goes back billions of years to the infancy of the solar system. The moon is the Rosetta Stone of the solar system, and to the student of the origin of the earth and planets, this lifeless body is even more important than Mars or Venus, whose properties resemble earth."

Newell and others believe men can conduct lunar exploration much more efficiently than machines. A trained geologist, they say, could obtain more information in a few hours than a series of unmanned probes could over several years.

The moon, with its lack of obscuring atmosphere, also would be an ideal base for a manned observatory to study the stars and planets. Because it has no atmosphere, the moon also could serve as a launching base for planetary journeys.

The moon program also will contribute to the defense and security of the country. The powerful rockets, control and guidance systems, rendezvous techniques, life protective measures and manned flight experience all are applicable to a military man-in-space capability. The result could be a series of orbiting police patrols to maintain the peace.

The anti-moon argument has its precedents in history.

The first time Christopher Columbus sought support for his voyage he was turned down by the King and Queen of Spain. Other Spanish projects at home needed more attention than a questionable trip to the unknown.

But Queen Isabella changed her mind and Columbus set sail with his three tiny ships. While the wisdom of the voyage was still being debated, Columbus was back and Spain entered her greatest period of wealth and prestige.

Some historians said Isabella changed her mind because she heard that Spain's chief rival, Portugal, was about to undertake such a voyage and she couldn't bear the thought of losing such a race.

So it is with the United States and the Soviet Union today.

Calumet Jail Office Annex Bids Approved

$37,555 Total; St. Cloud Firm Gets General Contract

CHILTON — Bids totaling $37,555 for construction of an office annex to the Calumet County jail were approved by the Calumet County Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

Contracts were awarded to Feldner Construction Co., St. Cloud, $29,419, general construction with a 90-day completion date; Karls Corp., Stockbridge, $2,678, heating and ventilating; Karl-Kent, Chilton, $1,971, plumbing; and Walker Electric, Chilton, $3,487 for electrical work.

Supv. Herman Greve, Hilbert, of the sheriff's committee, estimated the total project might run nearly $40,000 with interior completion, including an information and operations desk, additioal cable for the transmitter and office furniture.

32 by 40 Foot Annex

The 32 by 40 foot annex will extend as a wing off the northwest corner of the jail building and will include a sheriff's office and conference room, a county traffic patrol ofice, radio room and public rest rooms.

Architect Oliver Herrick of Green Bay specified a precut 10-inch prestressed concrete floor plank giving a smooth ceiling in the basement. Exterior construction will be concrete block with brick veneer. The floors will be terrazzo.

The annex is part of a four-point improvement program recommended last October by Vernon Verhulst, State Board of Corrections official. He said that existing conditions made suspect interrogation difficult as the radio equipment now is located in the room used for questioning.

The county traffic patrol, with Victor Juno as patrol captain, was separated from the sheriff's department by the board in January. The annex will provide office space for the patrol.

Mari Stenvag, Right, the American Field Service Exchange student from Sweden who attended the Clintonville Senior High school this year, presented the school with a remembrance from Sweden, a carved horse. Accepting is Burr E. Tolles, Principal, while Linda Schertz, secretary and treasurer of the student council, looks on.

16-Member Board Favored for Calumet

Supervisors Support Plan To Remap County Into 1,000 Person Districts

CHILTON — A reapportionment plan which would reduce the Calumet County Board from 24 to 16 supervisors won favor at Tuesday's county board session.

According to terms of a recently approved state law, counties—Calumet's size are entitled to a maximum of 21 supervisors.

The plan, one of three formulated by a special committee, would have each supervisor representing, as nearly as possible, 1,000 persons. This complies with the one-man-one-vote aspect of the reapportionment law.

Outlined by Committee Chairman G. J. Hipke, New Holstein, it was pointed out that the other two plans, reducing board size to 21 and 20 respectively, do not adhere as well to districts with equal populations. It was felt they might invite state criticism for this reason.

Town of Harrison

According to the plan, Town of Harrison, with a population of 2,873 would be alloted two representatives. It now has only one vote, that of its town chairman.

Reductions include City of Brillion, wards 1, 2 and 3, population 1,783 one supervisor insead of the present three; City of Chilton, one supervisor from wards 1 and 2, 1,250 population; and one from wards 3 and 4, 1,328 persons. At present, Chilton has four representatives. New Holstein also would lose two supervisors with wards 1 and 4 combined for 1,200 persons and wards 2 and 3 giving a population district of 1,201.

Combined districts created by this plan would be Town and Village of Stockbridge, 1,790 persons; Town of Woodville and Village of Hilbert, 1,751 persons; and Town of New Holstein and City of Kiel, 1,500 persons. Each of these districts would have one board representative.

Unchanged Districts

Districts whose representation would remain unchanged by this plan are Town of Brillion, 1,278; Brothertown, 1,360; Charlestown, 1,022; Chilton, 1,114; Town of Rantoul, 1,165 and City of Appleton, with a population of 1,653. Their figures are based on the 1960 census.

In floor discussion Supv. Hipke reminded board members that by terms of the law, reapportionment was mandatory, and if the board did not authorize a satisfactory plan, the courts would intervene.

"I for one would like to have a say in the matter," he said.

The committee, appointed by Board Chairman L. H. Huibregtse, Brillion, at the March board session, includes, besides Huibregtse, Oscar Kossman, vice chairman, Town of Chilton; George Schwalbach, Town of Harrison; Assemblyman Wilmer Struebing, former supervisor from Town of Brillion, and Hipke. Also working with the committee are County Clerk Roland E. Miller and Dist. Atty. F. J. Schmieder.

State Committee

The three plans had been submitted under advisement to the state reapportionment study committee which also felt the recommended plan was the one most suited to Calumet County needs.

After the 1970 census, board membership will probably need to be increased because of population growth. Reduction of supervisors to 16 would leave room for this expansion.

Continuity of interest and contiguity of boundary lines were considered when district combinations were made.

The board will take no action until a public hearing is held. It

New London Sets July 1 Hearing on Budget for Schools

Proposed $1,168,306 Costs Call For $3.03 Rate Cut to $16.94

NEW LONDON — Public hearing on the proposed budget and $16.94 tax levy for the 1965-66 school term will be July 1 at Washington High School.

First reaction to the budget has been extremely favorable. With construction on a three year high school underway, district residents were anticipating another tax increase.

Monday the Board of Education approved a budget calling for a $3.03 decrease in taxes per $1,000 equalized valuation. The tax levy rate will drop from $19.97 per $1,000 for the current year to $16.94 for the upcoming school term.

Expenses were cut nearly $27,000 for the next term. Total budget for 1964-65 was $1,180,030 and for the upcoming year, $1,168,306, including a $5,000 contingency fund.

$681,355 Total Levy

Tax levy will be $681,355 compared with $741,294 for the current year, a decrease of just about $60,000.

The board is maintaining its 1.5 mill, $1.50 per $1,000 valuation, sinking fund in the current budget. No designation of the fund has been made.

Anticipated receipts in the preliminary budget from outside the school district total $496,951, about $43,000 above the current year. This in part is responsible for the lower tax rate.

State general aid totaling $306,000 is anticipated along with transportation aids totaling $34,176. The school also expects $18,250 from the utility tax, $17,300 from county teacher aids and $12,250 from milk fund receipts. Only other substantial amounts expected are $8,350 from athletic receipts, $6,275 on interest on funds and $6,000 in handicapped aids.

Salaries Up

Salaries showed the most substantial increase, up $25,871 to $628,632 for the year. Adoption of a three-year pay scale is expected to put the school district on firmer ground in anticipating salary increases.

Operation costs increased $4,431 to $74,940. Salaries and anticipated increases in purchase of electricity increased the operation $3,965. Maintenance increased $3,110 to $31,780 and the fixed charges of $32,734 were up $4,957. Rental of equipment used in curriculum and extra-curricular activites accounted for $4,113 in the fixed charges budget increase. Rental was a new item in the school budget.

Also included for the first time is $4,000 for the city-school nurse.

Departments showed declines in expenses, with only a few exceptions.

Debt Service Drops

Debt service decreased $24,441 to $159,161 for the 1965-66 term. Interest decreases of $22,976 for the high school, $750 for Readfield School and $715 for the Lincoln School accounted for the drop.

Costs for elementary instructional supplies and materials decreased $13,996 to $24,784 and elementary capital outlay was down nearly $14,500. Junior high school supplies also were cut $8,842 to $10,592.

Business education and English departments accounted for big decreases in the high school departmental budgets. Each showed a drop of more than $1,000. Physical education was down $1,424 and industrial arts $785. General instruction dropped $625 and mathematics $669. Other departments noted smaller decreases.

Supt. H. James Ramsdell attributed the tax decrease to drops in capital outlay; the Sugar Bush School was furnished last year and lower debt retirement costs. Increased aids and anticipated revenue increases are also reflected in the budget. There was only a small actual expenditure decrease, he said.

School Advisory Units Give Final Reports at Seymour

Minority Study Of Black Creek Will be Filed

SEYMOUR — Members of a school district advisory committee Tuesday night heard final reports from subcommittees studying expansion of school facilities in the district.

As a result, slight revisions will be made in some of the reports, and they will be presented June 22 for final action by the parent committee.

In addition, members of the advisory committee from Black Creek will prepare a minority report outlining proposals for junior high school facilities there and kindergarten through sixth grade at Nichols.

Site and Structure

Meanwhile, committee members Leo Stephani and Clarence Gregorius will be assisted by members of the site and structures committee and district administrators in outlining their viewpoints. The committee is expected to map its proposals June 22.

Much discussion centered around what some consider duplication of facilities if a junior high program is installed at Black Creek. Home economics, industrial arts, library and physical education facilities would have to be expanded or installed new. It is not known if the elementary school's heating system would be adequate to service the extra facilities.

More Conflicts

High School Principal Lyle Martens said by splitting facilities scheduling conflicts could arise.

Key to the subcommittee reports was the reaffirmation of the senior high plan which would see the present high school converted to a junior high school system at Seymour. The curriculum subcommittee outlined required and elective courses for a district with a system of kindergarten through sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth in a junior high and 10th, 11th and 12th grades in a senior high.

Other Services

Adequate guidance, library, special education and health services would be included in the program of studies, the subcommittee said. They contended that with the coordinated seventh through 12th grade curriculum "students would be better prepared for post high, college, vocational and work experiences."

They continued, "Students would have equal extra-curricular opportunities in athletics, forensics, student government and club activities." Facilities would include facilities for the handicapped elementary pupils. Curriculum enrichments and equal opportunities would be provided, according to the report.

The sites and structures subcommittee recommended kindergarten through sixth grades at Seymour and Black Creek, kindergarten through third at Nichols and Oneida and discon-

Ways to Assure Fair Trial Cited

Editor Says Press, Lawyers Should Talk Over Problems

Newspapers and bar associations groups should work closely to protect the rights of individuals to a fair trial, Post-Crescent Editor John Torinus told members of the Outagamie County Bar Association Tuesday.

Torinus, chairman of a statewide press group committee studying the matter of pre-trial publicity, said a committee of press and bar members could meet regularly to discuss mutual problems and arrive at satisfactory solutions.

He said a current problem which both groups could discuss would be the proper presentation of confessions which are admitted as evidence in preliminary hearings before the court.

Supreme Court Ruling

A recent Supreme Court decision has held that courts should schedule preliminary hearings to rule whether or not a confession obtained from a defendant by police should be admitted as evidence in the case.

Such hearings, Torinus said, are covered by the press and the information in the confession is thus generally printed prior to the trial. He said this may have a tendency to influence prospective jurors.

Torinus cited five "danger" areas in which the press could be accused of pre-trial influence. He cited publication of previous records of the defendants, details of other evidence which may not be admissible in the trial, arguments out of court by the trial attorneys, use of the term "confession," and statements included in the confessions, and use of prejudicial phrases in connection with court reporting.

Leary of Conduct Codes

Torinus said newspaper officials are naturally leary of "codes of conduct" which would restrict liberties and hinder responsibilities of a free press. He said such codes that have been considered "are generally watered down so as to be meaningless."

Torinus said a law being considered before the State Legislature which would bring criminal charges against a police official or district attorney who releases other than specified information, is "dangerous" in that it would have a tendency to make officials leary of giving any information to the public.

Press reports of police activities are a responsible part of society, Torinus said, in that they spotlight crime activity in a community. He said news reports of police and courts in the followup action is a necessary safeguard of public security.

'Violation-Conscious' Man Fined for Using Red Light

WAUPACA — A 21-year-old Weyauwega man, who was arrested after several complaints were received from citizens who said they had been stopped by a person using a red light, was fined Monday in Municipal Justice Court.

Michael L. Mars, 205 Hanover St., paid $100 for disorderly conduct, $25 and costs for the illegal use of a red light and $20 and costs on a speeding arrest which occurred May 22.

Mars pleaded guilty to the red light and speeding charge and was found guilty of disorderly conduct after entering a plea of no contest.

He was arrested June 4 by Undersheriff William Mork after several complaints were received from persons who had been stopped. One of the citizens was able to get Mars' license number. He was also identified by a 17-year-old Waupaca girl who Mars stopped west of Waupaca. At the time of his arrest, police found two red lights in his car. At first, he told police he was a member of the auxiliary fire department but later said he was only planning to join the fire department. Mars stopped the cars for alleged traffic violations.

Force North Central Move

Outagamie to Close Port

Outagamie County will close its old Town of Grand Chute airport at 6 p.m. Monday and is ordering North Central Airlines to move its facilities to the new Town of Greenville airport.

If North Central fails to act on the order, it will be cited by the county in the 7th District United States Court of Appeals in Chicago for contempt of court.

The decision, to positively close the Grand Chute airport, was made Tuesday afternoon at a special meeting of the county-board airport committee.

The act of closing the airport permanently to any airplane, commercial or private, involves painting a huge "X" on the runway. Appleton attorney and 7th Ward Supv. Mark Catlin, airport committee chairman, has repeatedly said that he intends personally to paint the "X" on the runway.

North Central was notified of the committee's action late Tuesday afternoon when a telegram was sent to Bernard Sweet, North Central vice president, by Albert W. Ponath, county corporation counsel.

"You are directed to furnish passenger service," Ponath's telegram said, "and other service out of the new airport in the same manner as has been done at the old airport."

"We intend to use every legal means to compel compliance by North Central with the order of the United States Court of Appeals ruling of April 26, 1965, and confirmed by the court on June 3, 1965," the telegram said.

If the federal court upholds the contempt citation, North Central could be fined for every day it fails to comply with the order.

The April 26 order referred to in the telegram was a court ruling which overturned Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) authorization to North Central for suspension of service to Appleton and transfer of its flights to the Winnebago County Airport at Oshkosh as soon as the old airport is closed.

Upheld Verdict

The CAB appealed to the court to reverse the decision and to reconsider. But a decision announced Friday by the court upheld its earlier verdict and, in effect, compelled the airline to transfer its Appleton operation from the old to the new county airport.

The transfer of service, if and when it comes, still is not a permanent order. It remains in effect until 10 days after the court rules on Outagamie County's original appeal of the CAB's regional airport order.

The CAB ruled the Oshkosh airport is the regional airport to serve that area and the Fox Cities for North Central service.

Last Flight

Monday's airport closing would make North Central Flight No. 252, which departs for Milwaukee and Chicago at 5 p.m., the last flight out of the old airport.

If North Central transfers its facilities to the new airport, a process which is expected to take two or three days at a minimum, the first scheduled flight into the new airport would be northbound Flight 231 (to Clintonville) at 10:40 a.m., Tuesday. The first southbound flight would be Flight 232 (to Chicago) at 11:30 a.m.

Weyauwega Council Names New Fire Chief

Collections Total 70 Per Cent Of $2 Million Goal for Fund

With the official closing of the Appleton Memorial Hospital expansion fund-raising drive only a few days away, about 70 per cent of the drive's announced goal of $2 million has been collected, according to Henry G. Starck, chairman of the campaign executive committee.

Starck said today that $150,000 in gifts and pledges have been tallied since the last fund drive report meeting.

He said that a survey of outstanding pledge cards and potential contributions from in-plant solicitations indicates that the drive will be a total success.

$500 Check

Among the special and general division gifts received this week was a $500 check presented from the treasury of the hospital's dental staff.

Memorial Hospital presently does have general dental surgery and treatment facilities, but the dental unit will be transferred to the new hospital wing which will be built to the south of the existing structure

As they presented the $500 check, Drs D. W. McKinnon and John Kloehn praised the existing dental surgery facilities in the hospital and said they hoped more extensive use will be made of them when the public becomes aware of their existence.

A general report meeting is scheduled for 4 p.m., Thursday at Alex's Manor House, Starck said today in a memo to all campaign workers.

tinuation of the Isaar and Sunny Nook Schools.

The proposed senior high would be contiguous to the present high school and would share certain facilities. A 600-seat auditorium, air conditioning, educational facilities where practical, libraries and physical education facilities including a teaching gym and swimming pool would be provided. The pool proposal would be presented separately from the remainder of the building plan. A new cafeteria to serve both the junior and senior high would be included. The present facilities would be used for other purposes.

Seymour School

Seymour Elementary School would need additional classrooms for a central library and resource center, two rooms for exceptional children, art room, and rooms for added enrollment.

Rather than adding rooms to the present structure, the committee has recommended that the oldest portion of the building be razed and in its place a building compatible with the present structure be constructed. The new structure would have 18 teaching stations and a multi-purpose room.

While the wing is under construction students would be housed in temporary facilities in the community including rural schools, churches or other areas. The sub-committee recommended additional property be purchased as it becomes available for additional playground.

FVL High Will Enlarge Curriculum for Music

New Suite Provides Space for Piano Studies, Other Small Ensemble Groups

Plans to enlarge the music curriculum of Fox Valley Lutheran High School have been announced by school officials.

The FVL Board of Regents has authorized three newly completed piano practice rooms for use of students who wish to take lessons.

Twenty students have shown an interest in taking lessons. No instructor has been obtained. Gerhard Rolloff, music department director, said, but the school is looking for candidates.

Rolloff also plans to use rooms in the new music suite for smaller ensemble groups drawn from the Lutheran High band and chorus. Triple trios, brass choirs and clarinet choirs have previously been formed by the music department, performing for concerts and various congregational groups.

The use of the new music suite, including much needed storage space and a tiered practice room accommodating 80 to 90 choristers or 60 to 65 band members, is expected to give a lift to the music program at FVL.

Rolloff looks for 15 to 20 new members in the band next year, enlarging it to about 50. The organization has suffered in the past from the necessity of having some beginning members play with the group immediately, but, with the formation of bands by local Lutheran grade schools (providing more experienced freshmen) and the new equipment, the outlook is bright for next year, Rolloff said.

The chorus' year was highlighted by the formation of a concert choir, drawn from members of the student chorus. Members of the select group received commendation for their two performances this year on local television.

Music Required

The chorus and band are not the only musical groups in the FVL class schedule. Conscious of its heritage as an institution of the Lutheran Church, known as the "singing church" and famous for masters such as Johann Sebastian Bach, the school requires all freshmen to take one period of music instruction per week, Rolloff said.

Music appreciation classes for the next three years are also offered. Students skilled on the organ have the opportunity to accompany hymns during the daily chapel services.

Calumet County Supervisors Favor 16-Member Board

is likely that two hearings will be held, possibly one in the courthouse here and one in the northwest part of the county. At this time, all interested persons will be able to ask questions of the reapportionment committee and voice their opinions. It is hoped to have a recommendation ready for action at the August session.

State Approval

A plan must be submitted to the state for approval to allow time for prospective candidates to file nomination papers during the filing period.

New supervisors will take office next April. Until then, the present board will remain intact.

By terms of the new law, supervisors are solely county officers. No longer are town chairmen automatically county supervisors. The two will be separate offices, and a man seeking both offices will have to run for each position.

In the event of a vacancy on the county board, the board chairman will appoint a replacement, subject to board approval.

Lawrence Says

Communists Can Control Labor Unions

High Court Reversal Of Office Holding Ban Adds to Intrigue

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court of the United States, by a 5-to-4 vote, has just ruled, in effect, that members of the Communist party cannot be prevented from holding office in labor unions and causing political strikes in national emergencies. The law which Congress passed has been declared invalid.

Lawrence

This means that, although the Communist party in the United States is dedicated to bringing about the overthrow of the American government, its members cannot be prevented from carrying out their purpose by subtle methods of intrigue and control over labor unions.

Many countries are today suffering from Communist control of labor organizations and in the last several years Congress has attempted by statute to prevent such control from being achieved in this country. In fact, a governmental agency, known as the Subversive Activities Control Board, has found that the Communist Party's "principal leaders and a substantial number of its members are subject to and recognize the disciplinary power of the Soviet Union and its representatives," and that there is evidence of the domination and control of the communist party here by the Soviet Union to advance "the objectives of the world Communist movement."

Subversive Control Board

The Supreme Court did uphold the findings of the Subversive Activities Control Board in several cases nearly 10 years ago, but the new ruling of the Supreme Court raises the question of whether even the Subversive Activities Control Act will become taboo by a future Supreme Court ruling. Justice White, who was joined in his dissenting opinion in the case this week by Justices Clark, Harlan and Stewart, said that the reasons given by the court for invalidating the law that prohibits Communists from holding office in labor unions can also be applied throughout the government. He said:

"By the same token, a statute disqualifying Communists, or authorizing the executive branch to do so, from holding sensitive positions in the government would be automatically infirm, as would a requirement that employes of the central intelligence agency or the national security agency disclaim membership in the Communist party, unless in each case it is proved by evidence other than membership in the Communist party, the nature of which has already been adjudicated, that the individual would commit acts of disloyalty or subordinate his official undertakings to the interests of the party."

What this means is that in the future it will have to be demonstrated to the satisfacion of the court in each instance that a Communist has the intention of actually doing something to overthrow the government.

The four dissenting members of the court ask how it is possible to prove that a person intends to become disloyal. Their opinion continues:

"The Communist party's illegal purpose and its domination by foreign power have already been adjudicated, both administratively and judicially. If this does not in itself provide a sufficient probability with respect to the individual who persists in remaining a member of the party, or if a probability is in any event insufficient, what evidence with regard to the individual will be sufficient to disqualify him? If he must be apprehended in the act of calling one political strike or in one act of disloyalty before steps can be taken to exclude him from office, there is little or nothing left of the preventive or prophylactic function. . . .

"Examples of statutes that will now be suspect because of the court's opinion but were, until today, unanimously accepted as legitimate exercises of legislative power could easily be multiplied. Such a catalog in itself would lead one to inquire whether the court's reasoning does not contain some flaw that explains such perverse results."

The Supreme Court rulings have in recent years been making it more and more difficult to get at the Communists. There is a tendency on the part of the justices to regard the Communist party as just another political party, like the Republican or the Democratic. What is not recognized apparently is that a political party ceases to be a normal expression of political viewpoints when it is transformed into an abnormal instrument designed to overthrow the American government itself by subversion or by actual force.

The majority in the latest Supreme Court ruling—consisting of Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Douglas, Brennan and Goldberg—contends that the language of the law inflicts a punishment on individuals in preventing them from holding office in a labor union and that, while an individual can be convicted of disloyalty, he cannot be prevented from holding office in a labor union merely because he belongs to an organization that seeks the overthrow of the United States government. It is judicial technicality carried to extremes.

Campers on South Side Of City Use Power Pole As Kindling Wood

Campers are supposed to forage and live off the land, but some city dwellers have reached the limit.

A spokesman for the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. has complained to police that some young campers on the city's southside have been using a power pole for kindling wood.

A policeman sent to the camp area found a tent, some evidence of camp activity (including some power pole kindling) but no evidence of the campers.

Castro Claims 6-Million-Ton Cuba Sugar Crop

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro ended the 1965 sugar harvest Monday night with the announcement that 6 million tons have been produced.

Cuban sugar production regularly used to reach 6 million tons before 1961, when Castro tried to get away from the one-crop economy by shifting emphasis to other branches of agriculture and to heavy industry. This was reversed in 1963, but the new policy did not show results until this year.

Last year's crop of 3.8 million tons was one of the lowest in recent years.

Commander Has Pride In Hectic Da Nang Base

BY HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — The jet planes raced down the runway with an ear-cracking road. They rose gracefully, then, like angry hornets, darted toward their targets in North Viet Nam.

The sight gave a thrill to Col. William O. Ezell, 44, Chattanooga, Tenn., the base commander. It always does.

He takes a paternal pride in the huge air base here which he believes now is on of the 10 busiest airports in the entire world.

"Less than a year ago this wasn't much more than just a country airstrip," he recalled. "In terms of traffic, we've gone up 10-fold in the last 11 months.

"We average more than 25,000 landings and take offs a month, not counting our helicopter operations. We can hardly keep track of them.

"I doubt there are more than 10 airports anywhere that have our traffic. We've passed Tan Son Nhut, the field at Saigon, and that makes us the No. 1 air center in South Viet Nam."

Full of Contrasts

It is a beehive with mighty stings full of ironic contrasts between the old and the new. The 10,000-foot runway is in the suburbs of South Viet Nam's second largest city.

The base lies in a stretch of sand and dust between high green hills, laced with white mist, and the endless blue waters of the South China Sea. It is bordered by crumbling old French forts, a poverty-stricken, one-street village known as "Dogpatch," and a cemetery studded with forgotten tombs over which lonely winds blow eerily.

On the 3.4-square-mile area of the base ironic dramas of life and death are enacted daily.

In a five-minute period a helicopter may whir down with dead and wounded. A C123 supply plane may bring in an ailing Montegnard soldier from an isolated mountain camp. A civilian Caravelle, staffed by pretty, blue-uniformed Vietnamese hostesses, lands with a group of Saigon businessmen. A squadron of propeller-driven Skyraiders takes off to strafe enemy Viet Cong only a few miles away or flights of jets zoom up on a three-hour mission against bridges in North Viet Nam.

Continue Expanding

"We thought we had reached our capacity six months ago, but now I think we can expand considerably more," said Ezell, who flew 394 combat missions in the Far East as a B29 commander in World War II.

"Our activities pretty well cover the military spectrum. Some 35 to 40 different types of aircraft operate out of here."

The booming base is a bewildering maze of revetments, ammo and fuel dumps, and some 40 buildings in various stages of constrluction. A shortage of building materials and skilled local labor has been the colonel's biggest problem.

About 3,000 of the 6,000 U.S. Air Force men sleep in tents still. The Vietnamese fliers and hundreds of their dependents also are housed on the base. The wives have creatd a florishing industry by doing the American airmen's laundry.

The base has an excellent safety record.

Ezell, knocking three times on wood, said:

"This field never has been hit by the enemy—not as of today, anyway."

U.S. Marines who surround the base intend to keep that record intact.

St. Croix River Dam Study Halted Before Completion

MADISON (AP)—A joint federal - state task force studying the effects of the construction of a 550 million watt power plant on the St. Croix River has quit without being able to make a complete evaluation.

The task force reached the conclusion Tuesday because it said it is "difficult to analyze the situation on the basis of the documents we have available."

Legal Evaluation

William Lord, chairman of the group and an agricultural economist at the University of Wisconsin, said he was "somewhat perplexed" by Gov. Warren P. Knowles' request to evaluate the orders and findings of three Minnesota agencies.

"We are technicians who are asked to comment on the implications of this plant, but the job of evaluations seems to me to be one that is essentially legal and political," Lord said. "Whether the plant is desirable doesn't seem to be answerable on technical grounds."

The location of the plant near Stillwater, Minn., on the St. Croix River which divides Wisconsin and Minnesota at that point prompted former Gov. John W. Reynolds to form the task force to study what effect construction of the plant might have on Wisconsin.

The decision by the task force leaves any course of action that Wisconsin might take up to the state attorney general. John Boeers, deputy attorney general, indicated that his office is considering possible alaterna-tives, but said he had no comment on what they might be.

An aide to the governor also was reluctant to discuss what action might be taken. But he indicated if any steps were made, they would be made within the next two weeks.

Mourning Day Held For 126 Men Killed In Yugoslavian Mine

KAKANJ, Yugoslavia (AP) — A national day of mourning today memorialized 126 men killed in Yugoslavia's worst mine disaster since World War II. A mass funeral was planned this afternoon.

A methane gas explosion in the Orasi coal shaft here killed 124 men Monday and injured 18 others. One of them died Tuesday night and another today at a hospital in Sarajevo, 49 miles from Kakanj.

State Highway Deaths Boosted

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three deaths in separate accidents boosted Wisconsin's year-long count of traffic fatalities to 353 today. The toll on this date last year was 403.

Mrs. Elsie Janisch, 40, of route 5, Merrill, was injured fatally at 3:54 p. m. Tuesday when she was struck by a car while walking across the road in front of her home. Her son was walking with her but was not struck.

Alfred T. Kriplean, 32, West Allis, was injured fatally Tuesday in the collision of his motorcycle and a car in New Berlin.

John Nehrbass, 16, of Berlin in Green Lake County died as a car containing four youths went out of control late Tuesday on a Waushara County road curve west of Berlin.

Viet Cong Increases Attacks

Monsoons Change Life Of All in Southeast Asia

BY T. JEFF WILLIAMS

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)— The rains have come again to Southeast Asia, great sweeping sheets of water which give life and take it away.

From the tiny, green kingdom of Laos, across the rich rice lands of Thailand and Cambodia to the scarred fields of Viet Nam, the annual monsoon rains soak man, animal, city and jungle.

The great, meandering Mekong River — a month ago a placid, muddy stream — will swell several times its size to become a menace to villages on its banks.

Farmers Go Home

Life changes when the rains begin. In the countryside of Thailand, farmers spend more time at home.

In Laos, Communist Pathet Lao and neutralist forces bring their warfare to a near standstill.

But in war-weary South Viet Nam, there is no peace, no stopping. On the contrary, the Viet Cong steps up its hit-and-run warfare. The rains give the Viet Cong a protective cover and blot out visibility of government planes.

As the rains advance across fields and cities, the scene can be impressive: black clouds rolling over green jungle still glinting in the sunlight, the white glare of lightning, the sudden rush of wind, then the thunderous, drowning roar of the rain.

Gloom in Jungle

Deep in the jungle, a night-like gloom settles. The birds and animals are suddenly silent. The wind gives a final sigh and stops.

The water can be heard spattering on leaves far overhead but it takes minutes for the rain to trickle through the cover.

Then, as quickly as they came, the rains stop and a washed-out blue sky brings promise of relief.

Many pictures of life emerge from the torrents of water that will fall over Southeast Asia from now to August:

Bright umbrellas of blue and yellow shelter shapely Thai girls in Bangkok; monks with shaved heads wearing bright orange robes make their way barefoot along the streets in Laos; cycle drivers in Cambodia wear sheets of plastic as they seek out fares; children in Saigon scamper unmindful of the rain.

As the monsoon sweeps over the countryside, something grows, something dies, everything changes.

when Communist guerrillas overran a training center for militiamen at Gia Ray, 50 miles northeast of Saigon near Xuan Loc. Fifty Vietnamese were reported killed and 24 Vietnamese and an American wounded, while 30 government troops were reported missing. Officials said two Viet Cong were believed killed.

Relief Force

After burning much of the camp, the Viet Cong withdrew. A relief force was sent to the area but made no contact with the enemy and the station was abandoned.

In another heavy action, the government suffered 60 killed, 18 missing and 95 wounded in Phong Dinh Province, 95 miles southeast of Saigon. Viet Cong casualties were estimated at more than 50, but this was not confirmed.

Government troops and guerrillas clashed in the area Tuesday. As the fighting grew more intense, Vietnamese ranger units were airlifted into the battle.

Franz Jonas Takes Oath As Austrian President

VIENNA (AP) — Franz Jonas was sworn in today as Austria's fourth postwar president.

Jonas, 65, a Socialist, was mayor of Vienna until he beat Conservative former Chancellor Alfons Gorbach by 1.38 per cent of the vote in elections May 23. He fills the vacancy left by the death of President Adolf Schaerf.

National Spelling Bee Gets Underway for 70 Youngsters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventy youngsters ranging from 11 to 15 match wits with Webster's dictionary today in the opening of the 38th National Spelling Bee.

A practice round with Akimichi Chinen, an eighth grader from Hawaii, as the first speller, kicks off the two days of competition for $5,700 in prizes.

With the exception of the practice round — which doesn't count in the official scoring — a contestant is eliminated if he or she misspells a word. The words get tougher with each round.

The 35 boys and 35 girls — girls usually far outnumber the boys in national competition — are the top spellers of more than 6 million youngsters who competed in local bees.

Repeating Competitors

They represent 32 states, the District of Columbia and Guam.

The champion to be crowned Thursday will succeed William Karek, now 13, of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

A tournament winner is barred from competing again nationally but there are three repeaters from last year's contest — Connie Payton, 14, of Friendship, Ohio, who finished 50th last year; Kay Pechenick, 15, of Lafayette Hill, Pa., who finished 8th, and Alan C. Baird, 14, of Chelmsford, Mass., who finished 69th.

The contest is sponsored by Scripps-Howard newspapers in 16 cities and 53 other daily and Sunday papers. Two contestants represent the New York World-Telegram & Sun.

First prize is $1,000 in cash, a weekend trip to New York City including a visit to the World's Fair, an appearance on the Ed Sullivan television show and $100 spending money for the champion and his or her escort.

A cup will also be given the winner and an engraved plaque will go to the champion's school.

Other prizes: second, $500; third, $250; fourth through eighth, $100 each; ninth through eighteenth, $75 each; the other 52 finalists, $50 each.

nauts saw a televised version late Tuesday night.

Space doctors also continued to be mildly amazed at the astronauts' fine physical condition after their arduous journey.

Medical tests showed little ill effects on the astronauts' hearts from four days of weightlessness, though there was one minor health problem Tuesday: McDivitt had a nosebleed.

Pure Oxygen

Doctors said the nosebleed probably resulted from the drying effect of breathing pure oxygen for nearly 98 hours. They said future astronauts might take along something to lubricate the inner nose.

The astronauts' schedule on their scheduled return to Houston Thursday already was crowded with parades and other honors from their admiring public. Here's what's planned so far:

Thursday — Arrive in Houston at 10:30 a.m. (EST) for a parade, visit with their families, news conference, further debriefing.

Friday or Saturday — a likely visit to President Johnson's ranch in Texas.

Monday — Ticker tape parade in Chicago.

Tuesday — Honors by the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. Both men are graduates of the university.

Wednesday — A homecoming celebration at Jackson, Mich., McDivitt's home town.

No homecoming plans were announced yet for White. He is a native of San Antonio, Tex., but has lived in about 50 cities, the son of an Air Force general. His parents now live in St. Petersburg, Fla., and a space center spokesman said the celebration probably would be there.

Space officials had to decline a number of invitations — including a traditional ticket tape parade in New York, Newark, N.J., and Miami, Fla., also extended parade invitations which were in turn 'declined regretfully," said Julian Scheer, NASA associate public affairs administrator.

"It was a matter of scheduling," Scheer said.

Sharp Edges

Aboard the Wasp Tuesday, Paul Haney, NASA information officer, interviewed the astronauts as to their most exciting moments during the flight.

White said his plainly was the 20-minute venture outside Gemini 4 — during which he said he did a little dance on the capsule, Haney reported.

He said White told him he carefully avoided snagging his space suit on the sharp edges of the blunt end adapter section of the capsule, though he did peek into it.

"There I go again," White exclaimed as he intently watched the film while in the captain's cabin for dinner Tuesday night, lifting himself out of his chair.

"There she goes," he said when his glove floated out of the hatch.

He readily agreed when McDivitt said the pictures turned out well.

McDivitt also said he was happy to see that the small American flag on White's shoulder patch was clearly visible

McDivitt said the spectacular return to earth was the most memorable part of the flight for him

"Watching the land go by, watching it come up closer, and watching the retro-adapter package fall away and burn up . the prettiest part of it all is re-entry," Haney quoted McDivitt as saying

White said his second greatest thrill came at the moment of liftoff "He knew at that point they were on their way," Haney said

Corporations For Counties Bill Signed

MADISON (AP) — A bill to permit Wisconsin counties to create non-profit industrial development corporations was signed by Gov. Warren P. Knowles today.

The legislation will allow private financing for expansion of existing plants and establishment of new industries.

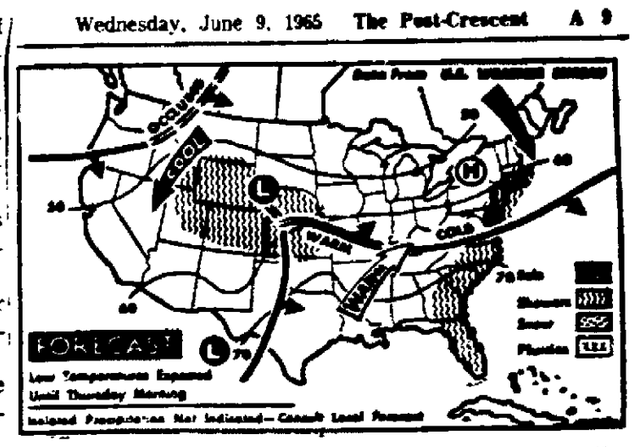
Knowes called the law "another tangible example of Wisconsin's real desire for industry."

The law will enable counties to act jointly in arranging industrial development financing Pledging of state, county or municipal credit will not be involved.

The metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce sponsored the bill

Knowles signed a bill Monday to allow municipalities to employ a labor negotiator in bargaining talks with public employes.

Two others would stiffen penalties for failing to register wild animal kills and permit vocational and adult education school districts to transport students to and from schools.



Scattered Showers Are Expected tonight along the Atlantic seaboard and in the central Plains and Plateau. It will be cooler in the northeast and the Lakes area and over the central Rockies. Warmer temperatures are expected in the Mississippi Valley and in the northern Plains (AP Wirephoto Map)

Chou En-lai Takes Anti-Israeli Stand on Return From Near East

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai headed home today after stops in Cairo and Damascus during which he took a strong anti-Israeli stand

A Syrian government spokesman said Chou, during a 75-minute conference with President Amin Hafez, pledged "firm support" against Israeli attacks on Syrian operations to divert the headwaters of the Jordan River.

An informant in Cairo said Chou said Israel was "a government created by imperialism which cannot be considered a state."

Senate Group Okays Bill for Medical Centers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee has approved a bill which would create regional medical complexes to aid in the fight against heart disease, cancer and stroke

The three diseases accounted for 1.2 million American deaths in 1963, or about 71 per cent of the national total.

The medical complexes would conduct demonstrations, training and research to assist physicians and communities by making the latest advances in care and treatment of the diseases available more readily.

The bill would authorize appropriations of $50 million for the coming fiscal year with sums of $100 million, $200 million and $300 million in the three following years

The same committee also okayed a measure Tuesday which would authorize federal grants to help establish community mental health centers.

Some $19.5 million would be authorized for the next fiscal year, with $24 million and $30 million appropriations authorized for the subsequent two years
